DREAM DOWNTOWN PLANS PROPOSED

STUART R. PADDOCK

Former residents of this area are sending us clippings from daily papers as far away as California and Florida showing the harvest of pumpkins at Palatine.

The picture caption reads, "Bountiful Harvest . . . There should be plenty of punkins for Hallowe'en if this field near Palatine, Illinois, is any indication. It is the heaviest pumpkin crop in years."

The crop hereabouts is so large that there should be no dearth of the Hallowe'en spirit this year!

A new slant on postal rate increase was given last week by the executive director, Senate post office civil service committee, speaking before the National Editorial association.

He told the editors that surveys show that increasing postal rates for parcel post and other departments lower the volume, which in turn increases unemployment among regular postal employees.

If those are the facts, why is the Postmaster General so insistent that rates for letters and newspapers be raised? The director told the editors that the less the public mails, the more money the government loses.

We never applied the term "political hacks" to the men and women who are elected to state and county offices in Illinois. We prefer to call them "professional politicians."

But at the NEA convention last week, the editors were addressed by the governors of West Virginia and Georgia. Both are young men who did not reach their present positions by traditionally climbing up the political ladder.

It was refreshing to meet heads of states who did not come up through the wards!

An ample supply usually means lower prices, but it does not apply to money. This week's published bank statements in the Paddock newspapers place the cash resources of 11 banks at 81 million dollars, an increase of 26 million in one year.

Shall we blame on inflation the additional interest we have to pay or credit inflation for the extra dividends we are receiving on savings accounts?

The close 998 to 699 passage of last Saturday's $375,000 grade school bond issue in Mt. Prospect should serve as fair warning to board members of high school district 214 of the necessity for getting out the vote November 14.

If, as we hope, the high school bond issue is to pass, the board will have to do a zealous campaigning job in the next three weeks.

Tax-conscious residents now need to be sold on the importance of school and municipal bond issues.

Tell $25,000 Pledge for New Hospital

A pledge of $25,000 to the Northwest Community Hospital center was made this week by Herbert F. Bruning, president of the Charles Bruning co., Mount Prospect.

This latest pledge was in addition to a contribution of $75,000 made in the original hospital fund drive two years ago. That initial pledge was the largest single gift to the hospital.

Bruning's additional gift brings his total pledge to $100,000.

"The gratitude of the board of trustees, and the gratitude of the people of this area, is difficult to express," said Nicholas M. Lattof, president of the hospital board, in commenting on the contribution.

LATTOF's statement:

"Mr. Bruning announced his first gift to the new hospital even before his plant in Mt. Prospect was completed, well before he and his organization had become members of this community. His generous support two years ago has generally been credited with providing the impetus needed to help us reach our goal at that time.

"If our new dedication drive is to be successful, we must have the additional support of business and industry in this area who will follow the example of Mr. Bruning and Carl P. Clare, who last week announced a $25,000 gift to the hospital," added Lattof. Clare, a Chicago businessman, had already made a $10,000 pledge in the original fund drive.

"These pledges not only help us toward our $500,000 dedication drive goal, but they give me added assurance that we will meet with whole-hearted cooperation in our current business and industrial drives in the eight communities to be served by the new hospital," concluded Lattof.

Bank Robberies Up

Bank robberies in the U.S. are at an all-time high, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Businessmen Outline Plan

by WILLIAM L. DULANEY

A planner's dream for a shopper's paradise in downtown Arlington Heights was presented to village board members Monday night.

Thinking in realistic terms, however, were numerous downtown property owners and businessmen who crowded the village hall to hear board members told that the plan would:

—solve the downtown area's number one problem of shopper parking spaces by adding 319 such spaces plus 69 commuter spaces and 37 commuter pick-up spaces.

—provide for a commuter street running parallel to and south of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

—revitalize existing downtown retail facilities and add many new shopping facilities.

—prevent the helter-skelter, piecemeal development of the railway parks.

—provide opportunity for acquisition of land for the proposed State rd. underpass at a minimal cost.

—complement the already existing village master plan for the rest of the village.

THE PLAN is the brainchild of the Arlington Downtown Plaza association, a group of 12 downtown businessmen and property owners, primarily with interests along Davis st.

Following voter rejection in April of a bond issue for village purchase of the railway parks, downtown businessmen organized the association and retained the planning firm of Evert Kincaid and associates, author of the village's master plan, to detail a plan for renovation of the downtown business area.

Following an introduction of the plan by Douglas Dodds, an officer of the Arlington Heights National bank and a leader in the Plaza association, Eugene Baughman, a vice-president of Kincaid and associates, outlined at Monday night's board meeting the steps necessary for implementing the plan.

After the necessary purchase and dedication of property a commuter street running parallel to the railroad tracks from Evergreen to Vail would be paved. Commuter parking spaces lost by this move, would be replaced in railway parks on the north side of the tracks.

Davis street would then be vacated from Vail st. to State rd. for free shopper parking. Such action, however, would not interfere with the north-south flow of traffic across Davis st. The three railway parks between State rd. and Vail st. on the south side of the tracks would also be used for shopper parking, with 15-minute commuter pick-up parking provided alongside the commuter street.

THE FINAL stage of the plan would be carried out following the move of village hall facilities to the S. State rd. site. Davis st. would be vacated between Vail and Highland sts., and a parking lot built on the site. The railway park north of the village hall would also be acquired for additional parking facilities.

The present village hall site and adjacent parking areas would be offered for sale for commercial development.

A final step would be the acquisition and paving of a Highland ave. right-of-way between Campbell and Miner sts.

In addition, notes Dodds, plans call for extensive facelifting of existing stores on Davis st., plus drive-in-window facilities for the bank.

Cost of the land and development for parking and a commuter' street would total approximately $515,000, $300,000 on the south side and $225,000 on the north side, notes Dodds.

THE PLAN LISTS as the village's obligation the purchase on the north side of the tracks of the two railway parks at either end, and the leasing of the two parks in the middle. The end parcels would be used for metered commuter parking, and the two middle parcels used for both metered shopper and commuter parking, plus commuter pick-up parking.

The village also would be expected to acquire the westernmost railway park on the south side of the tracks for parking in connection with the sale of the present village hall site for commercial development.

The village, railway, and Plaza association would share in paving of the commuter street.

The Davis st. property owners and Plaza association would be responsible for obtaining the remainder of the land necessary to complete the project.

Cost to the village of the railway parks north of the tracks would be financed by parking revenue bonds.

IN INTRODUCING the plan Dodds noted that the Chicago and North Western railway already has two cash offers pending for sale of two of the parks north of the tracks, but is giving the Plaza association a final opportunity to promote orderly development of the downtown area.

Baughman urged that the plan be adopted to create a "planner's dream rather than a planner's dilemma."

The village board assured the businessmen it was impressed with the Plaza association's initiative, and referred the plan to the village's planning commission for study.

Class Rings

Orders for Arlington and Prospect high school class rings will be taken Thursday, Oct. 29, from 2:30 to 9 p.m. at O'Bert Jewelers in Dunton Court shopping center, Arlington Heights. The rings will be on display at the store.

Freight Cars Pile Up, Tracks Clogged

by TOM McSHANE

The worst train wreck in Mount Prospect's history early Wednesday morning piled 24 freight cars from Main to School sts. along the Chicago and North Western tracks and thoroughly pulverized suburban commuter traffic.

No one was injured in the smash-up, which was caused by a hot bearing box on the truck of a corn-laden center car in the 84-car train.

Railroad gangs were working feverishly Wednesday morning to clear the two northern tracks on the heavily-travelled Wisconsin line.

Twenty-two ton freight cars were strewn down the three-block area at grotesque angles, indicating the force with which the huge carriers plowed the earth after jumping the rails.

LONG STRIPS of track and jagged chunks of ties lay twisted and crushed under the huge goliaths.

Three-and-a-half ton wheel sections were scattered about as if dropped by some careless monster.

The overhanging roof of the decrepit village train station was crushed under a huge car that ended up perpendicular to the track.

Village and state police were busily directing thousands of cars that backed up around the scene. Automobile traffic was brought to a standstill by stalled trains as far northwest as Palatine.

About 15,000 commuters who use the Chicago and North Western were late for work. The railroad was operating its service on the south track by 6 a.m., and was using shuttle trains on the centar track shortly thereafter.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS at the scene estimated that the center track would be back in operation Wednesday night.

The north track, on which the freight was traveling when it entered the village about 3 a.m. Wednesday, will be repaired as soon as possible, officials said.

The transportation difficulty was caused by the fact that the railroad stores most of its equipment in Crystal Lake and Barrington, north of the scene.

Spectators jammed the wreck area Wednesday morning, gawking at the destruction in the gray dawn. Later, Mt. Prospect school teachers paraded their classes down the length of the smashed train while the youngsters gleefully clicked miniature camera shutters.

VILLAGE POLICE Chief George E. Whittenberg said the Main and Emerson rail crossings would be cleared by evening, and that automobile traffic across the tracks would be able to resume its normal flow at that time.

Big Caterpillar tractors from Milburn Bros. construction company were clearing the intersections, hauling and dragging the boxcars to the side.

Fourteen of the 24 cars involved in the derailment were loaded, according to railroad officials.

Their cargoes were not damaged, however, and will be delivered as soon as possible. The other 60 cars in the train were cleared from the area and sent on their way early in the morning.

The railroad could give no estimate of the damage.

One Mt. Prospect policeman told Paddock Publications he ran a race to the finish with the barreling freight as it entered the village.

PATROLMAN Harold Glascock, who was driving east on Northwest hwy. near Central rd. in a squad car, said he saw the "hotbox" as the train passed him.

"I saw flames shooting from the wheel of one of the cars and started racing after the engine to warn the engineer," Glascock said.

"Just as I pulled even with the caboose, the cars started going every which way. It was a real mess.

"I got out and checked the train from the caboose forward to see if anyone was injured. It was just lucky it didn't happen during the day with a lot of people around."

Wednesday's wreck was the worst on the local line since 1951 when 20 freight cars jackknifed in downtown Palatine in another early morning pile-up.

Youth Arrested In Exposure Case

A 19-year-old Wheeling youth presently on a year's probation for statutory rape was arrested by Arlington Heights police Monday night and charged with indecently exposing himself to two 16-year-old girls.

Nicky Kotsonaros, 19, of 134 Laurel ct., has been positively identified by the mother of one of the Arlington Heights girls as the youth that came out of the woods at the corner of State rd. and Oakton st. at 6 p.m. Friday and indecently exposed himself to her daughter and a girl friend who were walking the family dog.

The girls' screams brought the mother to the scene in time to spot the youth running toward his car parked on State rd. She was able to get the car's license number which was turned over to Arlington Heights police.

THEY TRACED the number to a Chicago address. The occupants had moved to Wheeling three months ago.

Police checked with the family in Wheeling and found their car and son, Nicky, both matched descriptions given by the girls and the mother.

The youth was brought to the station where he denied indecently exposing himself. He admitted stopping his car and going into the woods, but said he did so to relieve himself, and then returned to his car.

Subway Rush

An average of 3,614,952 persons use the New York City subway system every day.

Opening Date For New School

Opening date of the proposed Catholic high school for boys in Arlington Heights is set for September, 1961, instead of 1962 as announced earlier by the archdiocese office.

Hope Addition Ready Dec. 15

December 15 is the latest hoped-for completion date of an eight - room addition to Wilson school in north Arlington Heights, according to Superintendent Robert Parsons.

The district 24 school serves Hasbrook and Virginia Terrace subdivisions in the village. Many of its pupils have been on a double-shift since school opened in September because of a classroom shortage.

The contractor hopes to have the roof on the addition in early November, thus avoiding loss of work due to bad weather.

Autumn's Annual Spectacular Attracts Travelers in Droves

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Autumn's annual "spectacular" is being shown again and a widespread "Mmmm, it's great to be alive" feeling has settled like a benevolent smog upon anyone who has recently enjoyed a scenic trip. Many Arlington Heighters have and their reports support the theory that no one is immune to nature's beauty in the fall of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sesterhenn and Terry, 316 W. Hawthorne, spent the weekend at Wabash college in Crawfordsville, Ind., where they visited a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hunter, and toured Shades State park. They report that the park, so named because of the abundance of shade trees, is ablaze with color as is most of the Indiana countryside.

The Charles Baker family, 19 N. Pine, weekended in Northfield, Minn. for parents days at the campus of Carleton college where Karen is in her sophomore year. Their "it was wonderful" comment applies equally to the program planned for the parents, the joy of visiting with Karen for the weekend and the scenic splendor of the route to Northfield. In Northfield itself where two inches of snow fell a week ago Monday, Indian summer is just a fond memory.

Linda was 13 years old on the eve of the family trip to Minnesota and celebrated with a school chum, Elizabeth Steingraber, at a festive birthday dinner in the Baker home.

GEORGE KENDALL, 733 S. Dunton, and several fellow members of the Northwest Town Sportsmen's club are this week viewing the beauty of the South Dakota countryside near Tecla. Since they are pheasant hunting it's safe to assume they are appreciating the scenery in direct proportion to how well it hides the birds. Their return tomorrow will reveal whether there was good hunting and beautiful foliage or elusive pheasants and a lot of blinkety-blank underbrush.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Varney, 850 S. Vail, returned Sunday night from an 8-day eastern trip. They attended a business convention in Washington, D. C., then went on to New Jersey to visit friends for a few days before returning home.

Helmar Adam, 510 N. Evergreen, and Bob Fiene, 29 S. Chestnut, spent their recent coinciding 3-week vacations together touring the western states and following the western coast south from Oregon to California for a long stay in California. Mr. Fiene's vacation recently came to an end and he jetted home, climaxing a leisurely three weeks in a not so leisurely but exciting 4-hour supersonic trip home. Mr. Adam's vacation ended at the same time but a business assignment is keeping him in Santa Monica until next month.

The William Kopplin family, 410 W. Wing, were part of a family celebration last week honoring Mrs. Kopplin's father, John Greer of Dallas, on the occasion of his 80th birthday, observed at the home of his son and family, the E. B. Greers, in Detroit. Five grandchildren and two great grandchildren added to the fun for the man of the hour who extended his stay in the midwest after the celebration and returned here with the Kopplins for a visit with them.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Dicanio, 730 N. Chestnut, enjoyed a bit of Indian summer in Davenport, where they spent three days last week after a short stay at the Wagon Wheel lodge in Rockton.

Mrs. Harold Peter, 415 N. Belmont, recently enjoyed a reunion with a long-time friend, Mrs. Elmo Williams and her family in Verplanck, N. Y. during a 15-day stay in the east and Canada. Mrs. Williams, the former Gertrude Roehler and member of an "oldtimer" Arlington Heights family, sent greetings via Mrs. Peter to her many friends back in the old home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Niemeyer, 116 S. Chestnut, joined Mrs. Peter for a short visit with the Williamses, then went on, accompanied by Mrs. Peter to visit Niagara Falls. They spent some time in London, Ontario with relatives of Mrs. Niemeyer and returned home last week.

The marriage September 26 of the Niemeyer's son, Donald, also resulted in several reunions of former Arlington Heighters when Mrs. Niemeyer's sisters came here from California for the wedding. For one, Mrs. Penrose Mills, the former Catherine Kellogg, it was the first visit in 28 years. Besides visiting with local friends, Mrs. Mills was able to renew an old friendship with Mrs. Clara Crane Goodrich who planned a trip here from southern Illinois to coincide with Mrs. Mills' stay.

For these two former school chums it was the first reunion in over 30 years. Also part of all the "remember-when" joy of getting together again were Mrs. Ralph Merritt, the former Nellie Kellogg now of Fullerton, Cal. and Mrs. Laverne Nelson Kellogg now of Seattle, Wash.

A visitor at the Wilferd Donlea home, 701 N. Vail, for the past week has been Mrs. Donlea's brother and his son-in-law, Nick Schaefer and John Bahno of San Diego.

RECENT WEEKEND visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ericksen, 5 W. Orchard, were Mrs. Eriksen's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hagans, Jimmy and Julie, of Columbus, Ohio. Julie was the delighted and delightful guest of honor at a family birthday celebration for the occasion of her first birthday the week before.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grashorn of Sheboygan, Wis., arrived Sunday to spend a week with their son, William, and family, 817 S. Walnut.

Jim Hughes, Milliken university sophomore, and a fraternity brother John Heink of Deerfield arrived Thursday night for a one-day stay at the home of Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hughes, 6 W. Grove. They returned to Decatur Friday night, accompanied by Miss Gail Wilshire and Miss Fay Tagtmeier, their guests for the weekend homecoming activities at Milliken.

Guests Monday at the Hughes home were Mrs. Hughes' cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harrell of Pueblo, Col. who are spending some time in Wheaton visiting their daughter.

Weekend visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bliss, 1307 E. Eastman were Mr. Bliss' brother, Eugene and his wife, of Baltimore, Md. who stopped over enroute to California.

MR. AND MRS. George Moudry, 207 W. Euclid, had every intention of celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary but any plan they announced was either vetoed or subtly "snafued" by their son, Michael. By 8 o'clock Sunday night when the occasion was past celebrating, Michael took them to the Henry Rosenblatt home, 1007 N. Salem, and there they found a surprise party for them. Michael, whose helpful connivery was part of the plot, was forgiven on the spot.

All guests had a hand in the planning and preparations that included wedding - bells - and - white - streamers decorations and all things appropos to the occasion. Co-conspirators were the Rosenblatts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sielken, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Singleman, the scheming Michael and his sister, Karen. The anniversary couple was presented with a group gift in addition to the most pleasant surprise in years.

MR. AND MRS. Walters and son, Fred, probably helped convince the Moudrys that nobody was doing anything about the anniversary. They left town Thursday night for a weekend in Detroit, although they did return quietly Saturday afternoon in time to aid with last minute party plotting. In Detroit they toured the assembly line of the Ford plant, visited the famed Greenfield Village and the nearby Ford museum.

Mrs. Ruth Ruhnow, daughter of the Elmer Ruhnows, 310 W. Fremont, who will be married Saturday to Wendell Schoenbeck of Arlington Heights was feted last Friday night at a surprise pre-nuptial party given by her bridesmaids-elect. Twenty friends of the bride-to-be were guests of Mrs. Sharon Walter, Mrs. Darlene Dornan and Miss Micky McClaskey at the home of Mrs. Walter's parents, the Orville Sennes, 108 S. Highland, and showered Miss Ruhnow with miscellaneous gifts.

The living room of the William Botts residence, 904 N. Walnut, had wall-to-wall girls a week ago Saturday night when their daughter, Carol, entertained six high school friends at a slumber party. Following in the time-honored slumber party tradition, the well-padded living room floor served as dormitory, the latest possible late, late TV show helped to entertain and snacks were served only once but constantly. It was dreamsville, like nobody slept.

OCTOBER birthdays abound and many little people bounded merrily throughout Arlington Heights at parties to celebrate the aging of their playmates. Sunday afternoon Billy Tarchala became five and hosted 10 neighborhood friends at an afternoon party in the Tarchala home, 1019 N. Ridge. Turning five really needs more than one party so the Sunday before, cake-ice cream- games - prizes soiree he celebrated at a more sedate gathering in his home with 14 family members. Among Billy's well-wishers were his grandparents, the Frank Tarchalas of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. William Camphausen of Arlington Heights.

Marianne Logue, 945 N. Ridge, was five last Wednesday and wished to celebrate over the weekend which involved just right timing as most of her guests were also on Billy Tarchalas list. Marianne entertained Saturday afternoon therefore, for 14 neighborhood friends with Grandmother Logue from Skokie watching the fun and lending a hand. She wasn't able to join the family Sunday at the birthday dinner for Marianne, so Grandmother and Grandfather Kelly of Lincolnwood cheerfully assumed the full grandparental duties and pleasures of the occasion.

A GUY CAN'T properly celebrate getting to be 12 years old when it happens on a school day so Steve Johnson, 1008 W. Miner, upped the occasion by one day and took four pals bowling Sunday afternoon. His guests were Don McMahon, Joe Jeffrey, Ricky Stanfield, John Tuegel and of course good ole Dad. Bowling works up a keen appetite so the keglers returned to the Johnson home to dull the keenness with admirable quantities of cake and ice cream.

Trudy Woss and 10 girl friends were glad Trudy was eight years old a week ago Sunday so they could celebrate the grand state of being eight at an afternoon party in the Woss home, 217 S. Highland.

The 10 girls in Paula Carsten's first grade class came home with her after school Tuesday for a late afternoon birthday celebration in the Carsten's home, 1014 N. Evergreen. Paula was six.

Christopher Bone was three years old Monday and entertained neighbor children at a whee-I'm-three party in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Bone, 550 N. Walnut. His guests were Johnny Walsh, Charles and Vicky Slater, Bobby Boos, Timmy Kelly and li'l brother Jonathan.

JANICE MUENCH, 124 S. Ridge, celebrated her ninth birthday a day late Saturday but she felt that a festive family dinner party in the Inverness country club was worth waiting for.

Mrs. William Schlomann, 215 Fremont, was hostess to six local friends last Thursday afternoon at a dessert luncheon and card party in her home.

Autumn's Annual Spectacular Attracts Travelers in Droves

Autumn's annual "spectacular" is being shown again and a widespread "Mmmm, it's great to be alive" feeling has settled like a benevolent smog upon anyone who has recently enjoyed a scenic trip. Many Arlington Heighters have and their reports support the theory that no one is immune to nature's beauty in the fall of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sesterhenn and Terry, 316 W. Hawthorne, spent the weekend at Wabash college in Crawfordsville, Ind., where they visited a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hunter, and toured Shades State park. They report that the park, so named because of the abundance of shade trees, is ablaze with color as is most of the Indiana countryside.

The Charles Baker family, 19 N. Pine, weekended in Northfield, Minn. for parents days at the campus of Carleton college where Karen is in her sophomore year. Their "it was wonderful" comment applies equally to the program planned for the parents, the joy of visiting with Karen for the weekend and the scenic splendor of the route to Northfield. In Northfield itself where two inches of snow fell a week ago Monday, Indian summer is just a fond memory.

Linda was 13 years old on the eve of the family trip to Minnesota and celebrated with a school chum, Elizabeth Steingraber, at a festive birthday dinner in the Baker home.

GEORGE KENDALL, 733 S. Dunton, and several fellow members of the Northwest Town Sportsmen's club are this week viewing the beauty of the South Dakota countryside near Tecla. Since they are pheasant hunting it's safe to assume they are appreciating the scenery in direct proportion to how well it hides the birds. Their return tomorrow will reveal whether there was good hunting and beautiful foliage or elusive pheasants and a lot of blinkety-blank underbrush.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Varney, 850 S. Vail, returned Sunday night from an 8-day eastern trip. They attended a business convention in Washington, D. C., then went on to New Jersey to visit friends for a few days before returning home.

Helmar Adam, 510 N. Evergreen, and Bob Fiene, 29 S. Chestnut, spent their recent coinciding 3-week vacations together touring the western states and following the western coast south from Oregon to California for a long stay in California. Mr. Fiene's vacation recently came to an end and he jetted home, climaxing a leisurely three weeks in a not so leisurely but exciting 4-hour supersonic trip home. Mr. Adam's vacation ended at the same time but a business assignment is keeping him in Santa Monica until next month.

Five grandchildren and two great grandchildren added to the fun for the man of the hour who extended his stay in the midwest after the celebration and returned here with the Kopplins for a visit with them.

SPITTING ON A STONE?

Ever try spitting on a stone to ease pain? Sounds foolish, nowadays. But a long time ago folks actually used this "remedy." We're lucky to be living in this age of modern medicine. Medical science has given us many wonderful pain relievers and other reliable, effective drugs. However, it's still not wise to use any medication indiscriminately. When you don't feel up to par, ask your physician's advice first. Then, if he prescribes medication, come to us. We'll fill his prescription promptly and carefully.

SPITTING ON A STONE?

Ever try spitting on a stone to ease pain? Sounds foolish, nowadays. But a long time ago folks actually used this "remedy." We're lucky to be living in this age of modern medicine. Medical science has given us many wonderful pain relievers and other reliable, effective drugs. However, it's still not wise to use any medication indiscriminately. When you don't feel up to par, ask your physician's advice first. Then, if he prescribes medication, come to us. We'll fill his prescription promptly and carefully.

Bolting Buck Gets Barbered By Suburban Sharpshooter

by NATALIE MEYER

"Boy, we sure gave him a good headache," exclaimed Jim Shouse, 1228 E. Chicago ave., Palatine, speaking of "the buck that got away."

Unlike the poor fisherman who can only describe with his hands "the fish that got away," Shouse has a large 4-pointed antler to support his story.

The antler, severed from the buck where it joins his head, was shot clean off from 400 yards on the Shouse's recent Wyoming hunting trip.

BESIDES THE antler, the Shouses and their hunting companions, the Richard Herrels of 34 David dr., Winston Park, came back with many souvenirs of their week in the snowy western wilds.

Between them they shot two antelope and nine deer. Antlers get mounted in their respective family rooms. Skins get sent to Berlin, Wis., to be made into jackets, gloves and purses. and the meat gets frozen for winter eating.

And what does antelope meat taste like?

"Just like antelope meat," said Jo Shouse. "I either pan-fry it or cook it with a little water like a pot roast."

Betty Herrel wrinkled her nose, not quite sure whether the deer and antelope delicacies were the greatest treat in the world for her.

THIS WAS her first hunting trip, spoiled somewhat by a bad cold and strep throat.

But Jo Shouse was gleeful. She had shot her first deer, a big-eared beauty which is going to be preserved in a soft white leather jacket.

Aside from the buck that got away, her husband, Jim, proudly told how he shot his first 8-pointed buck with the last bullet in his gun.

Every morning the quartet would get up at 3 a.m. They camped in tents, cooked out, and literally lived in the snow. Their cook tent had three burners, table, and food supplies.

"And we ate well," Herrel said.

AFTER PULLING on thermo-underwear and socks and warm hunting clothes, they would cook breakfast in the snow, tramp to their hunting positions and get settled in before sunrise.

Then they would wait and wait and wait.

Nothing the first day. But their patience was rewarded with two deer the second day and seven the third.

"It would take you months to shoot that many deer in the midwest," Shouse said.

"And we're especially proud, because we were on our own. No guides. We just knocked on a rancher's door and asked if we could camp and hunt on his property. The man had a small cattle and sheep ranch — 40 square miles!

"He was very friendly, giving the four of us a dinner and letting us use his well."

SHOOTING would usually be over by noon and then cleaning would be in order. They would "field dress" each deer, hang them from a tree and stuff the bodies with pine boughs to keep away meat-eating birds.

"Magpies are awful camp robbers," Herrel said. "Finally we had so many deer we had to have them hauled away in a jeep."

The two couples hunted with 30-06 guns south of Douglas, Wyo., near the Medicine Bowl National forest.

"Actually we hunted antelope in Wheatland, Wyo.," Shouse said.

Besides the antelope and deer, the quartet shot a wolverine and saw a wildcat.

NOW THAT the western game season is over, the men are turning their thoughts to the midwest bird season. They hunt locally for pheasant and in Cairo, Ill., for quail and geese.

Herrel said last year he shot 41 pheasant here. Always an avid hunter, he has hunted primarily in the east and midwest.

Shouse has hunted deer in the west for the past 13 years. On past occasions he has shot elk and has cuff-links made out of the elk's only two teeth on the upper plate.

"They're called 'bugling teeth'," he explained, "and Indians used to shoot elk just to get those two teeth."

"There's much more to the hunt though than the excitement of the kill," Shouse continued. "There's the beauty of the scenery and the excitement of seeing the birth of a new day."

"You can be on one mountain," Herrel interjected, "and look off and see it snowing on another mountain while yours is calm and peaceful. Or there can be bright sunlight on your the way can be shrouded in clouds. It's wonderful to be in the open country close to nature." (B8

Dog Owners Earn Recognition For CD Obedience Training

CD plaques were presented to seven Paddock area dog fanciers Saturday when Northwest Obedience Club, Inc. held its sixth annual banquet at Glendale country club. The plaques were given by the club in recognition of companion dog degrees earned by receiving high scores in obedience shows throughout the midwest area during the past year. The plaques will be added to individual collections of trophies earned by the dogs.

Among the requirements for the degree, one of four offered by the American Kennel club, were heeling on and off lead, figure eights, stand for examinations, recalls and long sits and downs. These exercises must be successfully completed in three separate shows under three different judges.

In the group were owners of two German Shepherds, Kathy Casteel of Arlington Heights with "Val" and Art Biringer of Palatine with his high-scoring "Falcon." Another high scoring dog in the group was "Monty," boxer owned by Helen Russum of Palatine. All of "Monty" and "Falcon's" scores were in the 190's, out of a possible 200.

"MIDNIGHT, a Collie owned by Josephine Kowalski of Arlington Heights, "Tattie," a Springer Spaniel owned by Christine Kumbera of Wheeling and "Heidi" a Weimaraner owned by Jerry Andrews of Prospect Heights and two small dogs, "Buttons," a Dachshund owned by Nancy Siewert of Palatine and "Muffin" a Toy Poodle owned by Marianne Scott of Arlington Heights, completed the local group of those receiving plaques.

Others in the group included Irene Kellman of Skokie, Earl Davis of Elgin, Lucien Cypher of Wauconda and June Fuller of Woodstock. All in the group had previously received official certificates from the AKC attesting to the successful completion of the CD degree.

THE CLUB WILL hold its annual election of officers Friday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. in Palatine field house. Present officers are Dee Muster of Bensenville, president; Stanton Petry of Arlington Heights, treasurer. Director of training is David Terrill of Palatine, a licensed obedience and conformation judge. On the board of directors are Dr. Justin Fleischmann and Jim Michaels of Palatine and Richard Walrath of Woodstock.

The club trains each Wednesday evening in the basement under the Jewel Tea building in Palatine. A new class for novice dogs will begin November 4; this class of 20 beginning dogs has long been filled, but reservations are being taken for the class beginning in February. To be eligible, dogs must be purebred and registered with the AKC. They must also be at least six months old and have had rabies inoculations. Dog owners interested may visit training sessions any Wednesday evening or call Mrs. Berry at CLearbrook 5-3809. (A-13

by NATALIE MEYER

"Boy, we sure gave him a good headache," exclaimed Jim Shouse, 1228 E. Chicago ave., Palatine, speaking of "the buck that got away."

Unlike the poor fisherman who can only describe with his hands "the fish that got away," Shouse has a large 4-pointed antler to support his story.

The antler, severed from the buck where it joins his head, was shot clean off from 400 yards on the Shouse's recent Wyoming hunting trip.

BESIDES THE antler, the Shouses and their hunting companions, the Richard Herrels of 34 David dr., Winston Park, came back with many souvenirs of their week in the snowy western wilds.

Between them they shot two antelope and nine deer. Antlers get mounted in their respective family rooms. Skins get sent to Berlin, Wis., to be made into jackets, gloves and purses. and the meat gets frozen for winter eating.

And what does antelope meat taste like?

"Just like antelope meat," said Jo Shouse. "I either pan-fry it or cook it with a little water like a pot roast."

Betty Herrel wrinkled her nose, not quite sure whether the deer and antelope delicacies were the greatest treat in the world for her.

THIS WAS her first hunting trip, spoiled somewhat by a bad cold and strep throat.

But Jo Shouse was gleeful. She had shot her first deer, a big-eared beauty which is going to be preserved in a soft white leather jacket.

Aside from the buck that got away, her husband, Jim, proudly told how he shot his first 8-pointed buck with the last bullet in his gun.

Every morning the quartet would get up at 3 a.m. They camped in tents, cooked out, and literally lived in the snow. Their cook tent had three burners, table, and food supplies.

"And we ate well," Herrel said.

AFTER PULLING on thermo-underwear and socks and warm hunting clothes, they would cook breakfast in the snow, tramp to their hunting positions and get settled in before sunrise.

Then they would wait and wait and wait.

Nothing the first day. But their patience was rewarded with two deer the second day and seven the third.

"It would take you months to shoot that many deer in the midwest," Shouse said.

"And we're especially proud, because we were on our own. No guides. We just knocked on a rancher's door and asked if we could camp and hunt on his property. The man had a small cattle and sheep ranch — 40 square miles!

"He was very friendly, giving the four of us a dinner and letting us use his well."

SHOOTING would usually be over by noon and then cleaning would be in order. They would "field dress" each deer, hang them from a tree and stuff the bodies with pine boughs to keep away meat-eating birds.

"Magpies are awful camp robbers," Herrel said. "Finally we had so many deer we had to have them hauled away in a jeep."

The two couples hunted with 30-06 guns south of Douglas, Wyo., near the Medicine Bowl National forest.

"Actually we hunted antelope in Wheatland, Wyo.," Shouse said.

Besides the antelope and deer, the quartet shot a wolverine and saw a wildcat.

NOW THAT the western game season is over, the men are turning their thoughts to the midwest bird season. They hunt locally for pheasant and in Cairo, Ill., for quail and geese.

Herrel said last year he shot 41 pheasant here. Always an avid hunter, he has hunted primarily in the east and midwest.

Shouse has hunted deer in the west for the past 13 years. On past occasions he has shot elk and has cuff-links made out of the elk's only two teeth on the upper plate.

"They're called 'bugling teeth'," he explained, "and Indians used to shoot elk just to get those two teeth."

"There's much more to the hunt though than the excitement of the kill," Shouse continued. "There's the beauty of the scenery and the excitement of seeing the birth of a new day."

"You can be on one mountain," Herrel interjected, "and look off and see it snowing on another mountain while yours is calm and peaceful. Or there can be bright sunlight on your the way can be shrouded in clouds. It's wonderful to be in the open country close to nature." (B8

Dog Owners Earn Recognition For CD Obedience Training

CD plaques were presented to seven Paddock area dog fanciers Saturday when Northwest Obedience Club, Inc. held its sixth annual banquet at Glendale country club. The plaques were given by the club in recognition of companion dog degrees earned by receiving high scores in obedience shows throughout the midwest area during the past year. The plaques will be added to individual collections of trophies earned by the dogs.

Among the requirements for the degree, one of four offered by the American Kennel club, were heeling on and off lead, figure eights, stand for examinations, recalls and long sits and downs. These exercises must be successfully completed in three separate shows under three different judges.

In the group were owners of two German Shepherds, Kathy Casteel of Arlington Heights with "Val" and Art Biringer of Palatine with his high-scoring "Falcon." Another high scoring dog in the group was "Monty," boxer owned by Helen Russum of Palatine. All of "Monty" and "Falcon's" scores were in the 190's, out of a possible 200.

"MIDNIGHT, a Collie owned by Josephine Kowalski of Arlington Heights, "Tattie," a Springer Spaniel owned by Christine Kumbera of Wheeling and "Heidi" a Weimaraner owned by Jerry Andrews of Prospect Heights and two small dogs, "Buttons," a Dachshund owned by Nancy Siewert of Palatine and "Muffin" a Toy Poodle owned by Marianne Scott of Arlington Heights, completed the local group of those receiving plaques.

Others in the group included Irene Kellman of Skokie, Earl Davis of Elgin, Lucien Cypher of Wauconda and June Fuller of Woodstock. All in the group had previously received official certificates from the AKC attesting to the successful completion of the CD degree.

THE CLUB WILL hold its annual election of officers Friday, Oct. 23, at 8 p.m. in Palatine field house. Present officers are Dee Muster of Bensenville, president; Stanton Petry of Arlington Heights, treasurer. Director of training is David Terrill of Palatine, a licensed obedience and conformation judge. On the board of directors are Dr. Justin Fleischmann and Jim Michaels of Palatine and Richard Walrath of Woodstock.

The club trains each Wednesday evening in the basement under the Jewel Tea building in Palatine. A new class for novice dogs will begin November 4; this class of 20 beginning dogs has long been filled, but reservations are being taken for the class beginning in February. To be eligible, dogs must be purebred and registered with the AKC. They must also be at least six months old and have had rabies inoculations. Dog owners interested may visit training sessions any Wednesday evening or call Mrs. Berry at CLearbrook 5-3809. (A-13

Churchmen Retreat to Wilds For Spiritual Stocktaking

by DICK HOFFMAN

A coffee pot bubbled; frying eggs and bacon added a hissing accompaniment, spicing autumn smells with their special aroma.

Absent were the usual accouterments — fly rods, hunting gear — associated with such camp fire scenes.

Instead, there was a hushed expectancy prevailing, somewhat pantheistic "reverence for life" suggested by the sight.

This was Our Saviour's Evangelical Lutheran Church's answer to criticism of the suburban church as a membership conscious country club removed from the people; it was a retreat which saw the 10 participants separate after breakfast for a morning watch in which no word was uttered until "each man had finished morning suffrages in a part of the camp by himself," the Rev. John P. Petersen, church pastor, reported.

THE SITE was Chapel Hill which climbs to a position of prominence overlooking the Fox River, a silver whisper threading through the valley below. It is located about 70 miles north of Arlington Heights.

The hill was selected by the nine church councilmen and their pastor as a camp site even though they could have enjoyed the more conventional comforts of Camp Alpine's cabins or lodges.

It is a synodical church camp far removed, as Rev. Petersen puts it, "from highways" or other reminders of our technology.

THE COUNCILMEN'S retreat, held in September was the first such outing made by the church, but surely will not be the last.

"We hope to make it an annual affair," Rev. Petersen commented.

He expressed some surprise over the fact that the councilmen could have chosen accommodations at the camp proper rather than pitching their tents on the hillside.

"We all hold sedentary jobs, and I though the prospect of sleeping in tents would scare them off, but they said, 'No, we came here to camp so let's camp.' "

During the 21-hour retreat (a Friday night to Saturday afternoon) ,the group slept for only seven hours and consumed three hours eating.

THE 11 HOURS left were carefully budgeted to allow bible studies of the Pericine appointed scripture lessons, for the second and third Sundays following Easter; in a study of the biblical basic of stewardship; a brainstorming session on stewardship principles, and discussion of a multitude of other questions posed by stewardship.

(Rev. Petersen saw "stewardship" as the management of time, talent and possessions offered in proportionate shares to the church, i.e., the Lord's work.)

Retreat Master Ken Machacek, a vice-president of the council of 12 and stewardship chairman, was credited by Rev. Petersen with planning of the menu, assigning foods to be purchased and their preparation, and the leading of discussions.

"RETREAT SEEMS to be gaining more acceptance among all denominations," Rev. Petersen considered, "although the Catholic church seems to have been doing it longer than the rest of us."

It is a time, he said, to escape the "hustle and bustle" of everyday living to take concern in spiritual matters (as Christ and his disciples sought out mountain retreats for reflection); it is "a sharing of conviction which rests the body and recharges the soul," he thought.

The first councilmen's retreat has already sparked conversation of having similar affairs for the church's men's club, Luther League of young people, and the Women's Guild, the pastor reported.

"PROBABLY THE most interesting aspect of the retreat was the fact that in all the discussions no conclusion was arrived at, no problems were solved in a tangible fashion, and no new ideas were prompted upon the congregation as a result," Petersen noted.

'This is a hard thing for Americans who want to be shown results," he elaborated.

But it could be likened to a wicker basket being dipped into a pool of water. "You pull the basket out and you still don't have any water. It appears that nothing has been accomplished, but the basket is a little cleaner," he illustrated.

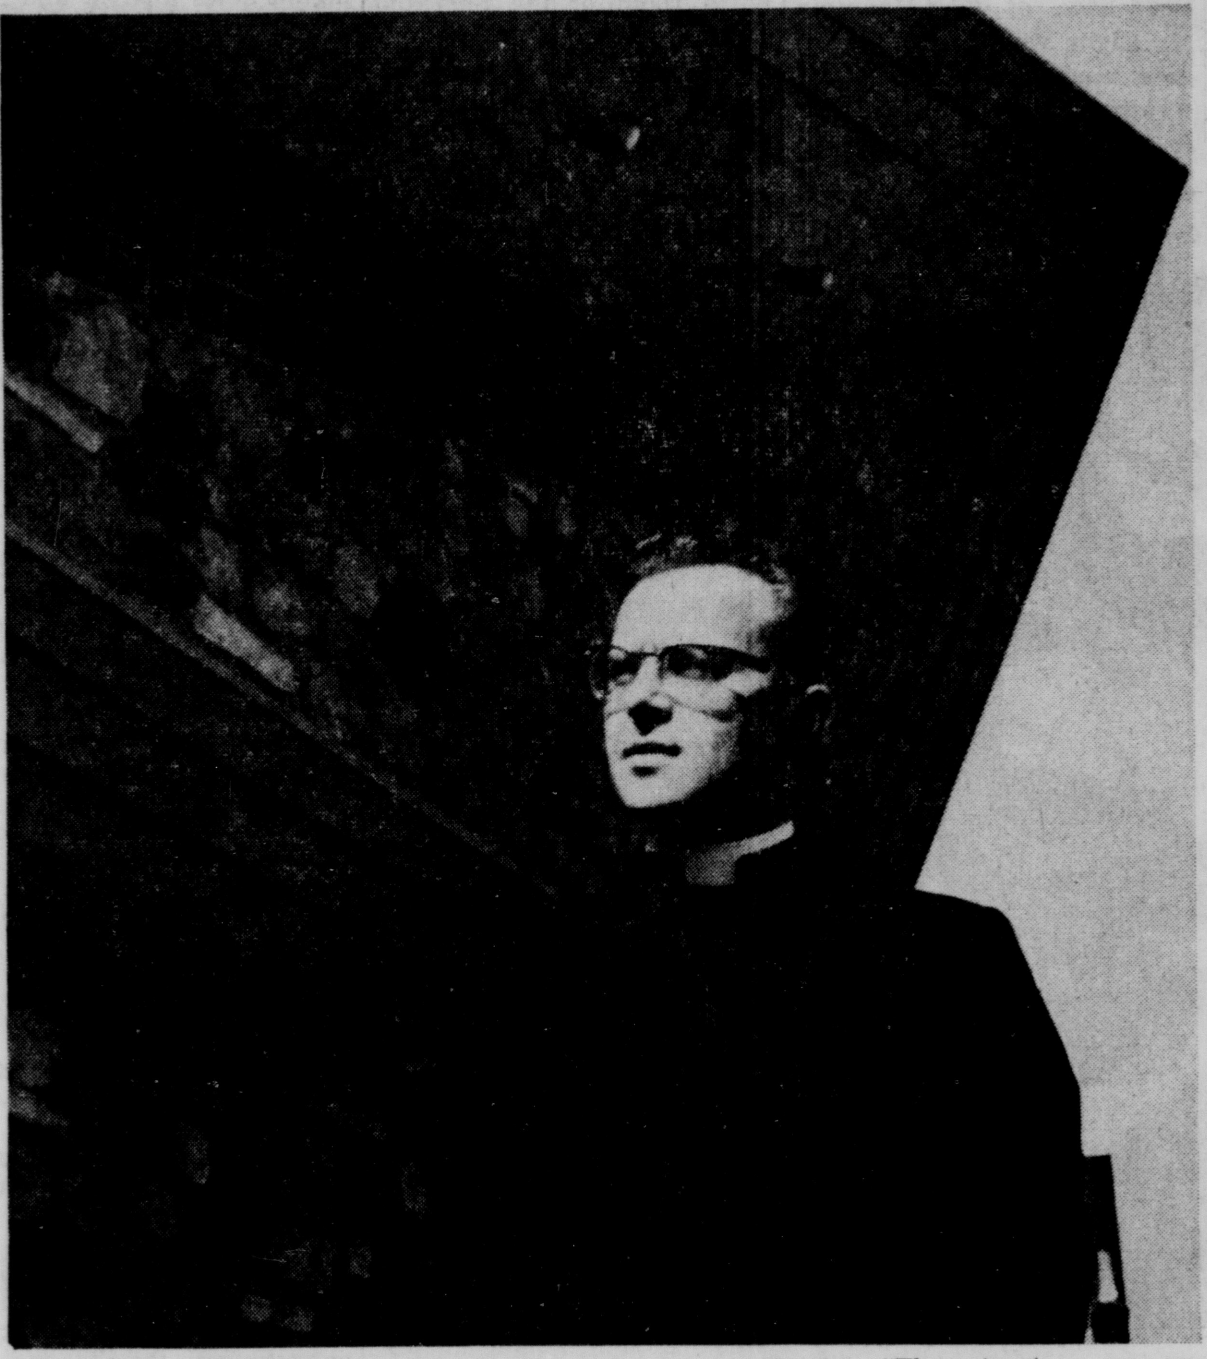
"A RETREAT," he defined, "is to be an opportunity for a number of Christians to draw apart for a period of time and steep themselves in Holy Scripture and the implication of the faith which they confess and live.

"The significant thing about the retreat last month was that 10 men were willing to be led by the Holy Scripture and the Holy Spirit to consider the depth of their Christian commitment."

He said it resulted in the unanimous expression that this had been an experience in "growth in grace."



REV. JOHN PETERSEN, pastor of Our Saviour's Evangelical Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights: "The retreat . . . was an experience in growth in grace."

Key to Finding Happiness Is God

By LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Sometimes I am depressed as I walk down a street looking into people's faces as they go about their daily activities; because on almost every face there are lines of strain, worry, fear, anxiety. So many faces are drawn, and thin, so many eyes troubled and holding a far away look.

Through each day, there should be moments that hold happiness for everyone, enough to keep us cheerful. We can be grateful for the taste of soft-boiled egg and buttered toast, or a cool, refreshing drink of ice cold orange juice; or even just a cool drink of water. A cool breeze coming up on a hot day should make us happy and pleased. The heat of a warm house striking our faces as we walk in out of the cold should cheer us, and make us comfortable.

THE DAUGHTER of little children should lift our hearts and the sight of an old friend restore our happiness. Music should make us sing with happiness.

In another land, a coolie walks monotonously round and round, pushing a long pole that turns a pully, lifting fetid water from the well. A mother pounds a handful of wheat between two stones to make flour.

In another land, some mother presses her feverish child to her breast while a witch doctor chants; in still another, a near skeleton with skin marked by festering sores, stretched tight over bones, lifts a withered hand and begs for bread.

WHAT DOES it take for people to be happy? Really, just enough to eat, a place to keep warm, and the love of friends and relatives. That and the knowledge that God loves you and sent His son to die for you that you might live eternally—if you accept Him.

Are you happy—here, in your home, among your friends and your family, with more food than you can eat, more clothes than you can wear, an expensive car, a home that a king at one time would have been proud and happy to call his castle? If you are not, what is the matter? Could it not well be that you need to get right with God, count your blessings, and not covet everything there is in the world? Or could it be that you are too well acquainted with yourself, and don't like what you see? Couldn't it just possibly be you, and not the world, and God, that is wrong? (A13

THE IMPORTANT THINGS IN LIFE

Some of the most important things in life cost money . . . a home of your own, a college education for your children, the assured prospect of happy retirement years.

THREE THINGS are needed if you are to realize your goals in life. They are: 1) a mind for saving, 2) a simple system of managing your money, and 3) a savings pattern.

The first depends on looking ahead and recognizing that your family has short-range and long-range needs — a hi-fi set, for example, or a deserved vacation . . . the youngster's education and your own retirement security.

If you want these goals strongly enough, you will take steps to see that you get them through a system of knowing where your money goes and a program of saving.

Remember that the family that plans ahead, gets ahead. Systematic saving is basic to happy, successful living. That's why we say, "Move ahead with savings — at Federal Savings!"

THREE THINGS are needed if you are to realize your goals in life. They are: 1) a mind for saving, 2) a simple system of managing your money, and 3) a savings pattern.

The first depends on looking ahead and recognizing that your family has short-range and long-range needs — a hi-fi set, for example, or a deserved vacation . . . the youngster's education and your own retirement security.

If you want these goals strongly enough, you will take steps to see that you get them through a system of knowing where your money goes and a program of saving.

Remember that the family that plans ahead, gets ahead. Systematic saving is basic to happy, successful living. That's why we say, "Move ahead with savings — at Federal Savings!"

Top Psychiatric Authorities To Speak at Suburb Hospital

Recent developments in psychiatry will be advanced by nine of the country's leading authorities with commencement of the Forest hospital's second annual scientific program which will be presented in a series of lectures scheduled from October to June.

The Forest hospital, at 555 Wilson ln., Des Plaines, has announced Wednesday night lectures for each of these months, beginning at 8:10 p.m.

Leading off the lecture series will be Dr. Louis Bakay, noted Boston Neurosurgeon and a faculty member of Harvard Medical school's department of surgery.

Topic of his address, to be delivered October 28, is "New Aspects of the Concept of the Blood-Brain Barrier," a field in which he has played a leading research role.

HE WILL BE followed by some of the top academicians and practitioners in the various disciplines of psychiatry, psychology, physiology and anthropology.

The program is open for attendance by all physicians, and all personnel in fields related to neurology and psychiatry, it was announced.

On November 18, Dr. H. S. Liddell, psychologist and director of Behavior Farm Laboratory, Cornell University, will consider, "Conditioned Behavior: Usefulness of Animal Behavior as Applied to Man."

He will be followed on December 16 by Dr. Leonard Borman, chief of anthropology service at the Veteran's hospital at Downey, Ill., whose address will be on some socio-cultural factors in psychiatric hospital treatment.

DR. GEORGE B. Koelle, of physicology and pharmacology in the University of Pennsylvania's graduate school of medicine, is to speak on "Current Concepts of Hallucenogenic Substances," on January 27, 1960.

Dr. I. Arthur Mirsky, chairman of the department of clinical sciences in the school of medicine, has chosen the topic of experimental approaches to psychoanalysis and human behavior for a February 24 address.

Other speakers include:

—Dr. Amendeo S. Marrazzi, director, VA research laboratories in neuro-psychiatry, Pittsburgh, on: "Neurophysiological mechanisms in man" (or biochemical observations as related to neurotropic products), on March 23;

—DR. J. B. Rhine, parapsychology laboratory, Duke University, on experimental approaches to the Psi phenomenon with "special emphasis to ESP (extra-sensory perception)," on April 27;

—Dr. Theodore Rasmussen, professor of neurology and neurosurgery, Montreal Neurological Institute, McGill University, on some neurological contributions to the study of memory functions, on May 25;

—Dr. Catherine L. Bacon, associate professor of psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania graduate school of medicine, on "Homosexuality: Its Treatment," on June 22.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Sam I. Stein, chairman of the hospital's scientific program committee, the first speaker, Dr. Bakay, has produced work which is "perhaps of the highest importance in contributing to the psychiatrist's understanding of the process causing disturbances in the physiology of the nervous system."

"It is equally important," Dr. Stein pointed out, "where chemotherapy (treatment by medication) is involved. To be effective, the psychiatrist must know that a substance introduced into the body — by any of various routes — will reach the central nervous system, and the appropriate area of the central nervous system."

THE "BLOOD - brain barrier" refers to the area of interchange between the brain's blood vessel walls and the actual lining of the brain.

In recent years, this barrier has been subject to intensive research, including use of radioactive tracer substances. Researchers are attempting to discover not only which substances can enter the brain across the blood-brain barrier but the process by which they are selected.

DR. GEORGE B. Koelle, of physicology and pharmacology in the University of Pennsylvania's graduate school of medicine, is to speak on "Current Concepts of Hallucenogenic Substances," on January 27, 1960.

Dr. I. Arthur Mirsky, chairman of the department of clinical sciences in the school of medicine, has chosen the topic of experimental approaches to psychoanalysis and human behavior for a February 24 address.

Other speakers include:

—Dr. Amendeo S. Marrazzi, director, VA research laboratories in neuro-psychiatry, Pittsburgh, on: "Neurophysiological mechanisms in man" (or biochemical observations as related to neurotropic products), on March 23;

—DR. J. B. Rhine, parapsychology laboratory, Duke University, on experimental approaches to the Psi phenomenon with "special emphasis to ESP (extra-sensory perception)," on April 27;

—Dr. Theodore Rasmussen, professor of neurology and neurosurgery, Montreal Neurological Institute, McGill University, on some neurological contributions to the study of memory functions, on May 25;

—Dr. Catherine L. Bacon, associate professor of psychiatry, University of Pennsylvania graduate school of medicine, on "Homosexuality: Its Treatment," on June 22.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Sam I. Stein, chairman of the hospital's scientific program committee, the first speaker, Dr. Bakay, has produced work which is "perhaps of the highest importance in contributing to the psychiatrist's understanding of the process causing disturbances in the physiology of the nervous system."

"It is equally important," Dr. Stein pointed out, "where chemotherapy (treatment by medication) is involved. To be effective, the psychiatrist must know that a substance introduced into the body — by any of various routes — will reach the central nervous system, and the appropriate area of the central nervous system."

THE "BLOOD - brain barrier" refers to the area of interchange between the brain's blood vessel walls and the actual lining of the brain.

In recent years, this barrier has been subject to intensive research, including use of radioactive tracer substances. Researchers are attempting to discover not only which substances can enter the brain across the blood-brain barrier but the process by which they are selected.

Consumer Credit Crisis Topic for Conference

"A serious breakdown in consumer credit faces Chicago."

This warning was issued by Ronald Stewart, an expert on garnishments and an employment specialist for the Chicago Urban League, in announcing that a special conference of adult educators and concerned community leaders has been called for October 2 to study the problem.

Invitations to attend the meeting, to be held at Hull House, 800 S. Halsted, have been mailed to more than 300 adult educators, settlement house workers, teachers, ministers, and representatives from civic and social organizations. Besides the Urban League, other sponsors of the conference include the mayor's committee on Consumer Education, Catholic Council on Working Life, Department of Social Welfare, Church Federation of Chicago, Chicago Urban League, Illinois Credit Union League, Chicago Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers, Jewish Family and Community Service.

STEWART, WHO will act as moderator of the conference, said the conference is being organized in order to present a clearer picture of some of the basic problems affecting Chicago consumers, both in the field of credit buying and money management. "Every day the consumer assumes greater importance in our modern industrial economy, yet he remains an unknown quantity largely because he himself is often unaware of the factors which make up his daily life as buyer and user. Credit buying for instance, one of the most intricate, complex economic phenomena of our day, is entered into by millions of Americans who have almost no idea of how it operates."

John Kearney, chairman of the credit committee of the Catholic Council on Working Life, is acting as chairman of a group handling arrangements for the meeting. "Many people consider the problem of the consumer to be a moral question," said Kearney, a migration specialist for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, who says he became interested in the consumer problem when he discovered that "so many people who came to our office for help were facing financial crises in almost every area of their lives."

Another community leader who echoed the remarks of Stewart and Kearney was Miss Malvin Morton, executive director of the Chicago Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers. Miss Morton said that Kearney's experience is not uncommon because "more and more people are approaching our adult specialists and settlement house workers with a bewildering range of economic problems. I think it is important that all adult educators and concerned community leaders try to attend this important conference."

Mrs. Eugene Meis, international relations chairman, ICPT, will speak to the group briefly covering the topic of "PTAs Concern with International Relations."

The morning session will also include a panel, "Charting Our Course." Panelists will be Mrs. Emmett J. Publisher To Head March of Dimes

John William Carroll, Park Ridge publisher and state representative from the 6th District, will again direct the County Communities division in the 1960 March of Dimes, Clyde E. Shorey, Jr., Cook county chapter chairman of the National Foundation, has announced.

Carroll, of 26 S. Merrill, Park Ridge, has headed the annual fund-raising drive in the suburban areas for the past four years. Long active in the March of Dimes, he was chairman of the Park Ridge campaign for many years before being appointed over-all County communities chairman for the first time in 1956.

President and publisher of the Pickwick Publishing company, northwest suburban chain of community newspapers, Carroll is serving his second term in the Illinois legislature.

ACCEPTING the position as leader of the March of Dimes in the suburbs, Carroll said, "Success of the 1960 March of Dimes is a "Must" if we are to continue to meet our primary responsibility to care for polio victims. Currently, the Cook county chapter is paying for treatment of 800 polio patients from this and former years, and is broke as a direct result.

"And as long as anyone remains unvaccinated, we can expect new cases of polio each year who will face months and years of expensive treatment if they are to be restored to useful lives.

"In addition, we need funds to take part in the new and expanded programs for research and patient aid to sufferers of crippling arthritis and crippling birth defects."

The 1960 March of Dimes will open January 2 and continue through January 31.

The girls and the groups they represent are as follows: Jeanne Swanson, Tohekohani; Cindy Flodin, Lelataki; Marlene Peterson, Kiyatonga; Bonnie Marks, Okiciyapi; Monty Lou Jensen, Tohipohklutum; Jenee Nelson, Bonnie Blues; Pat Carelly, Minnetonka Blue Birds; Rosemary Saidikiwski, Little Fawns; Lynn Peterson, Indian Princess Blue Birds; Mary Tierney, Honey Bears; Dorien Suhr, Hummingbirds; Ridgely Jackson, Busy Bees; Linda Brown, Wawakis; Emmy Lou Johnson, Happy Blue Birds; Sherri Branes, Windsor Blue Birds; Mary Ellen Olson, Blue Fairies; Paulette Graczyk, Blue Butterflies; Marcia Myers, Happy Hearts and Peggy Ann Williamson, Singing Blue Birds. Torch bearers-elect Lynne Schomburg and Nancy Staadt, will model their decorative ceremonial jackets.

During the intermission, the candle-lighting ceremony will bring 89 new Blue Birds into the friendship circle to light their Blue Bird candles and to be received into the Camp Fire program. Golden Jubilee charms will be presented at this time to the five groups who helped to form new Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups.

A final rehearsal of the program will take place today at 4 p.m. in Miner Jr. high school. All models, new Blue Birds, and Golden Jubilee charm recipients are asked to be present.

Wilson School

Kiyatonga Camp Fire Girls elected officers at their first meeting of the new season and the following slate will serve for a three month period. Susie Schanmier, president; Alan Southard, vice president; Christine Gerts, secretary; Elaine Stevenson, treasurer and Carol Beaber, scribe. Sponsors for the group are the Arlington Knolls home owner's association and Mrs. Maude Christ.

The Kiyatongas were hostesses September 26 for the annual father-daughter cook-out. This was a breakfast and was held at Busse Woods. The girls prepared the food using hobo stoves they had made.

Enjoying the spotlight at the October 6 meeting was birthday girl Elaine Stevenson, 11. After the festivities the 12 girls toured an apple orchard in Lake Zurich with their guardians, Mrs. Bob Southard and Mrs. James Comer.

The girls have also been hard at work selling Fannie Mae candies to raise money for various group projects. A total of 287 cans have been sold to date, and the group will enjoy a special treat next Sunday, when they will travel to Chicago to attend the Shipstad and Johnson's "Ice Follies."

Ridge School

On October 8, the Little Fawns Blue Bird group devoted an entire meeting to making potato head puppets. All the creations then came to life when the girls played "keep talking," with one minute devoted to each puppet.

Each girl brought a potato, with a hole reamed in the bottom and loads of trimmings to share, such as baking cups, buttons, yarn, foil, ribbons, flowers, marshmallows, candies, and fabric scraps. Armed with imagination plus pins and hairpins, the third and fourth grade Blue Birds gave life to the potato faces and clothed the puppet creation.

On October 15, the girls went on a weed collecting hike. These treasures will be made into a dried arrangement after being gilded and an appropriate container decorated. The meeting concluded with a treat at Cock Robin.

Organize New Junior Choir at Our Saviour

A junior choir composed of fourth, fifth and sixth grade children has been organized at Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, under the direction of Henry Kastens. The singing group will meet for practice each Wednesday at 4 p.m. at the church.

Since the new Lutheran Service Book and Hymnal which the congregation of Our Saviour's has been using for the past year contains many hymns new and unfamiliar to the congregation, a number of these hymns have been chosen "Hymns of the Month." Each new hymn will be sung by the congregation for one month, used as a choir anthem, and organ solo to familiarize the group with a wide variety of church music.

A commemorative Reformation Festival service will be celebrated at Our Saviour Sunday, Oct. 25, at the 11 a.m. service, with the congregation using the historic Strasbourg liturgy used in Strasbourg, Germany, beginning in 1537. The Reformation, which was led by Martin Luther and occurred October 31, 1517, is commemorated in all Lutheran churches on Reformation Sunday.

ALSO IN conjunction with Reformation Sunday, the Luther league of Our Saviour will attend a Reformation youth rally Sunday, Oct. 25, in Edison Park Lutheran church, Chicago, beginning with a supper at 5:30. Alene Posselt is president of the group and Kenneth Machacek is advisor. Rev. Paul Sealing of Mayfair church, Chicago, will be rally speaker, and a "coke time" will follow the service.

The four circles of the women's guild will meet next week. Program topic will be "Lord, How Can I Know Thee?" a study of Judaism. Program leaders will be Mrs. Robert Wolff, Mrs. Daniel Anderson, Mrs. Edgar Neas and Mrs. Roland Sorgatz, for circles one, two three, and four respectively.

Hostesses will be circle one, Mrs. Russell Larson; circle two, Mrs. Richard Almquist; circle three, Mrs. Robert Granell; and circle four, Mrs. Robert Wallace, all of Arlington Heights.

CIRCLE FOUR the afternoon group, has organized an emergency volunteer corps of seven women to help church families in times of unexpected distress. They will help provide transportation, food, sitter services, and other kinds of emergency aid. These volunteers are; Mrs. Richard Ekstrand, Mrs. Martin Bliese, Mrs. Harold Jacobson, Mrs. Ted Meyer, Mrs. Earl Snodgrass, Mrs. Leonard Dicke and Mrs. Walt Krueger. (A

Cite Need to Curb Speed Near School

BY W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON State Senator, 4th Senatorial District

The very tragic death of five children in a series of traffic accidents in Glenview has saddened us all. It highlights the need for strict traffic enforcement. It further emphasizes the importance of intelligent restrictions on traffic speed.

The imposition of severe speed restrictions in and around schools is absolutely imperative. It was with this problem in mind that Senator John Graham and I introduced legislation during the last session of the Legislature covering the subect. We proposed the establishment of a 20 m.p.h. speed limit in school zones. We further proposed that severe speed limits be imposed in business districts, residence districts and suburban districts.

THE DIVISION of Highways pointed out to us that it had adequate authority to impose restrictions in the areas we were trying to cover. This seemed to be the case, except in the case of school zones.

We conferred with a group of House members who were seeking to limit speed in school zones and had also introduced legislation on this subejct.

It seemed to Senator Graham and me that the House Bill stood a better chance of passage than the one we had introduced. We accordingly joined with the House sponsors and were successful in obtaining the passage of this legislation.

This new legislation provides a positive maximum speed limit in school zone areas of 20 m.p.h. In order to obtain passage of the Bill, we were compelled to limit its effect to such periods during school days when school children are in attendance.

WHEN THE MEASURE reached the Senate, we were able to extend its provisions to cover any area upon any public thoroughfare on or across which children pass going to and from school.

I note that following the Glenview accidents, County and State officials, at the insistence of local officials, have lowered severely the speed limits in various of the areas in and around Glenview. To this date, however, I am not informed whether the speed zone limits have been applied in the school zone areas. It may be that the new law affecting school zone areas has not been sufficiently publicized. The utilization of its provisions will, in the writer's opinion, provide a marked improvement in speed safety standards.

If any of my constituents have further suggestions as to what further must or can be done by the Legislature to assist the local officials in reducing traffic hazards, I would be pleased to hear from any of you. It would be a convenience to me is you would address your communications to me at my Chicago office, 135 S. LaSalle st.

Plan Choral Program for Reformation

The 75 voice junior choir of Concordia Teacher's college, River Forest, Ill., will participate in all three services Sunday as St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights observes the Reformation festival.

The Reformation dates back to the 16th century, led by Dr. Martin Luther, and resulted in the separation of a great part of the Western church from the medieval Church of Rome.

The three English Worship services, 8, 9:30 and 10:45 a.m., will be conducted by Rev. R. O. Bartz and Rev. L. C. Bernthal, pastors of the congregation.

PASTOR BARTZ will deliver the sermon in the first service and Rev. Bernthal in the last two. The CTC choir is under the direction of Professor Paul G. Bunjes.

Pastor Bartz will be the guest speaker at the Lutheran Laymen's League Reformation service at Mason City, Ill., in the afternoon.

AN AERIAL VIEW OF MT. PROSPECT'S WORST TRAIN DISASTER

Cite Need to Curb Speed Near School

BY W. RUSSELL ARRINGTON State Senator, 4th Senatorial District

The very tragic death of five children in a series of traffic accidents in Glenview has saddened us all. It highlights the need for strict traffic enforcement. It further emphasizes the importance of intelligent restrictions on traffic speed.

The imposition of severe speed restrictions in and around schools is absolutely imperative. It was with this problem in mind that Senator John Graham and I introduced legislation during the last session of the Legislature covering the subect. We proposed the establishment of a 20 m.p.h. speed limit in school zones. We further proposed that severe speed limits be imposed in business districts, residence districts and suburban districts.

THE DIVISION of Highways pointed out to us that it had adequate authority to impose restrictions in the areas we were trying to cover. This seemed to be the case, except in the case of school zones.

We conferred with a group of House members who were seeking to limit speed in school zones and had also introduced legislation on this subejct.

It seemed to Senator Graham and me that the House Bill stood a better chance of passage than the one we had introduced. We accordingly joined with the House sponsors and were successful in obtaining the passage of this legislation.

This new legislation provides a positive maximum speed limit in school zone areas of 20 m.p.h. In order to obtain passage of the Bill, we were compelled to limit its effect to such periods during school days when school children are in attendance.

WHEN THE MEASURE reached the Senate, we were able to extend its provisions to cover any area upon any public thoroughfare on or across which children pass going to and from school.

I note that following the Glenview accidents, County and State officials, at the insistence of local officials, have lowered severely the speed limits in various of the areas in and around Glenview. To this date, however, I am not informed whether the speed zone limits have been applied in the school zone areas. It may be that the new law affecting school zone areas has not been sufficiently publicized. The utilization of its provisions will, in the writer's opinion, provide a marked improvement in speed safety standards.

If any of my constituents have further suggestions as to what further must or can be done by the Legislature to assist the local officials in reducing traffic hazards, I would be pleased to hear from any of you. It would be a convenience to me is you would address your communications to me at my Chicago office, 135 S. LaSalle st.

Plan Choral Program for Reformation

The 75 voice junior choir of Concordia Teacher's college, River Forest, Ill., will participate in all three services Sunday as St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights observes the Reformation festival.

The Reformation dates back to the 16th century, led by Dr. Martin Luther, and resulted in the separation of a great part of the Western church from the medieval Church of Rome.

The three English Worship services, 8, 9:30 and 10:45 a.m., will be conducted by Rev. R. O. Bartz and Rev. L. C. Bernthal, pastors of the congregation.

PASTOR BARTZ will deliver the sermon in the first service and Rev. Bernthal in the last two. The CTC choir is under the direction of Professor Paul G. Bunjes.

Pastor Bartz will be the guest speaker at the Lutheran Laymen's League Reformation service at Mason City, Ill., in the afternoon.

Area Physicians Hail New Hospital's Plant

Northwest suburban physicians expressed "great satisfaction' recently with the construction, planning, and facilities of the new Northwest Community hospital, Central rd., Arlington Heights.

The doctors' praise was the result of a recent tour of the new hospital by the members of the medical staff.

'From a medical point of view, the Northwest Community hospital is one of the most modern in construction, equipment, and facilities in this entire area," declared Dr. E. M. McGill, president of the staff. 'Furthermore, the quality and organization of the medical staff is such that it should be an outstanding clinical and teaching hospital."

Prior to the physicians tour of the new center, the staff heard a brief talk by N. M. Lattof, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, who emphasized that their appointment to the staff had been made solely on the basis of their medical qualification and without regard to any financial pledges which might be made. He added that there were no solicitations prior to appointments.

"Staff members will, however, be invited to contribute financially to the hospital, just like any other business or professional groups to be served by the hospital," said Lattof.

ENLARGING upon Dr. McGill's comments on hospital facilities was Dr. Keith C. Wurtz, chief of surgery, who said: "The adequacy of the surgical facilities, as evidenced by the physical plant, is probably unsurpassed by any other community hospital in the United States."

Other department heads giving their reactions included Dr. L. B. Leone, head of the obstetrics department, and Dr. W. G. Bagnuolo, head of the medical department.

"The board of trustees is to be congratulated on building this modern and efficient hospital, said Dr. Leone. "With the kind of support it has received and will continue to receive, it cannot help but expand and fulfill its sorely needed function."

"After my recent tour of the medical facilities of the Northwest Community hospital," said Dr. Bagnuolo, "I am certain the medical department will afford the most modern medical care. The facilities are second to none. I am most favorably impressed."

DR. M. P. Meisenheimer, vice president of the medical staff, said, 'I am very happy to see that nothing is lacking in the way of complete facilities for the care of patients in this new hospital. The planning has resulted in a pleasant, spacious and efficient atmosphere conductive to the speediest possible recovery of patients."

The secretary-treasurer of the medical staff, Dr. Robert C. Kloempken, said, "This is a beautiful hospital aesthetically, and it has an efficiency of design which will greatly facilitate the work of physicians in the performance of their service to the people of this area." (B8

Health Crusade Is Set for 2 Schools

Freshmen and transfer students at Arlington and Prospect high schools will have an opportunity to join a crusade for good health Oct. 27. Tuberculin tests for the detection of possible TB will be given at the schools on that date by a doctor and a nurse from the tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county.

Parents of students are asked to return consent forms to the school health service at Arlington or Prospect before the testing date.

IN THE TUBERCULIN test, a small amount of harmless fluid is injected into the student's arm. The doctor or nurse will "read" the arm to see if there has been a reaction. Slight redness and swelling show such a reaction has occurred.

Reaction does not mean the pupil has or will have TB. It does mean that TB germs are being harbored in the body and may become active at any time.

Pupils who show a reaction to the test will be given a free chest X-ray at Prospect high school November 16. Referral forms will be made out for each student. (ACM

Scandinavia's Northland Next for Travel Series

A film journey to the Scandinavian northland awaits the members of the travel and adventure series in the adult education division of high school district 214 on Tuesday, Oct. 27. Hjordis Kittel Parker brings her film on Norway, changing and changeless to the Prospect high school theatre at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Mrs. Parker has just returned from spending the summer in Norway, her latest of many visits to her native country since becoming a citizen of the United States.

She has lived and travelled in Europe a large part of her life, where her father served for many years in the diplomatic service of Norway, but she received her education in the United States at the University of California and the University of Washington.

The theme of the film, changing and changeless Norway, is the life of the Norwegian people and the geography of their beautiful country traced from the mountain peak where the snow cap melts, to the sea into which the waters of the glaciers finally flow.

HJORDIS KITTEL PARKER

The famed beauty of the fjords in springtime bloom is captured, as well as a variety of pictorial examples of the crafts and arts of the people, from the carving and rose-painting of the middle ages to the modern art colonies.

On a western farm the charming fjord horse is shown at work, and on a high mountain summer farm "seter" goat cheese is made. Rushing waterfalls create power for modern hydro-electric plants and lumber mills. In the Loften Islands, fishermen have been photographed in the excitement of the storm-tossed seas in the search for cod and herring. Background for all the activity is the spectacular beauty of the country itself, with its towering mountains and picturesque seas.

BECAUSE OF Mrs. Parker's Scandinavian heritage and understanding of the people, she is able to produce films of Norway, Sweden and Denmark that give her American audiences a real understanding of these places. Scandinavian governments, seeing the success of her work, give her their utmost co-operation in making available the facilities necessary for the production of outstanding films.

Season tickets for the Travel and Adventure Series may still be obtained, and single admissions are sold at the door when space remains in the theatre.

fresh new beauty
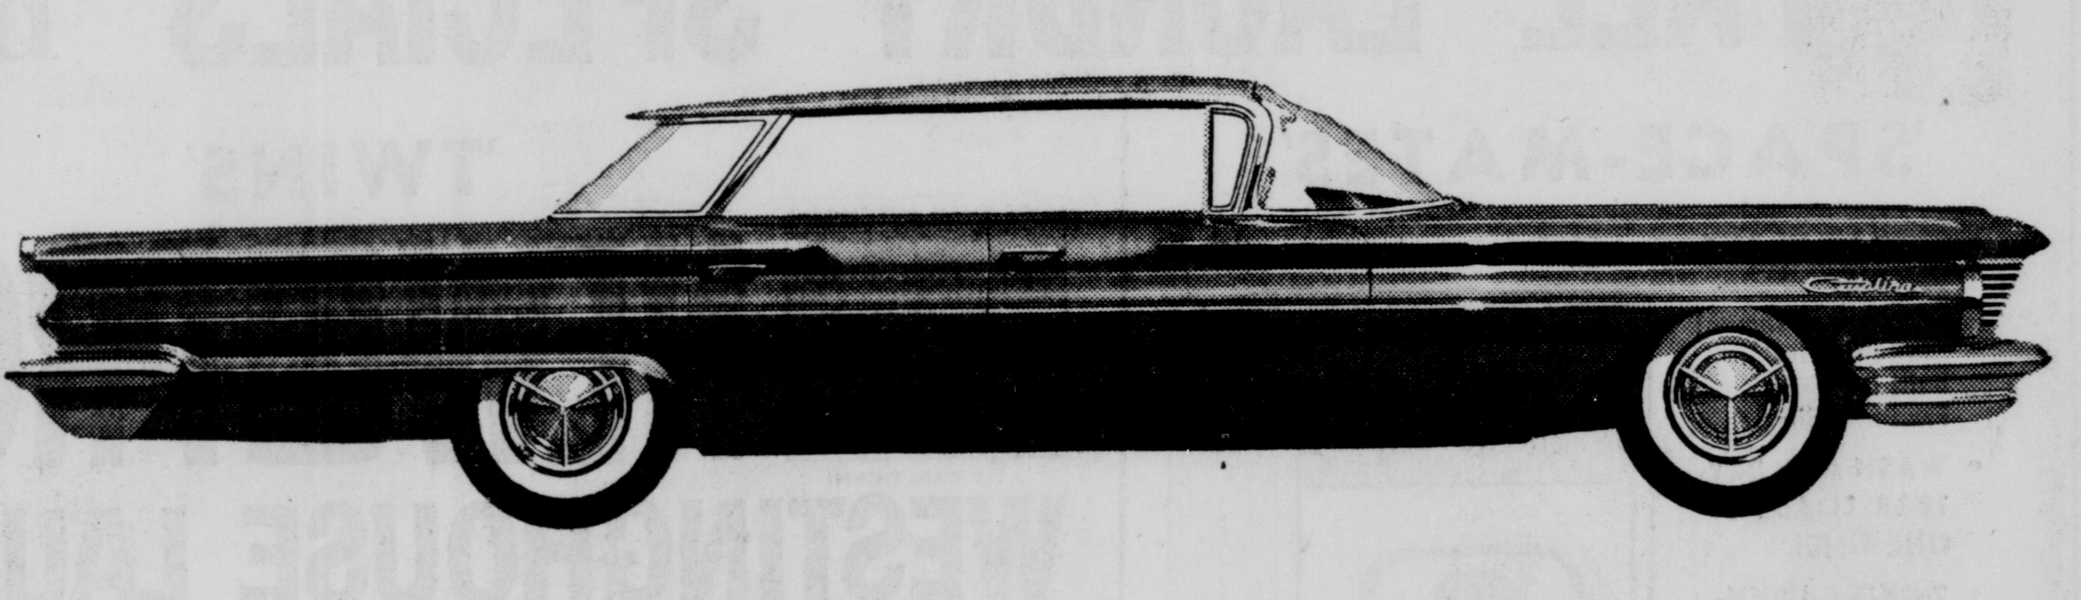
Wide-Track wheels!



A car is a living thing.

And all living things must change.

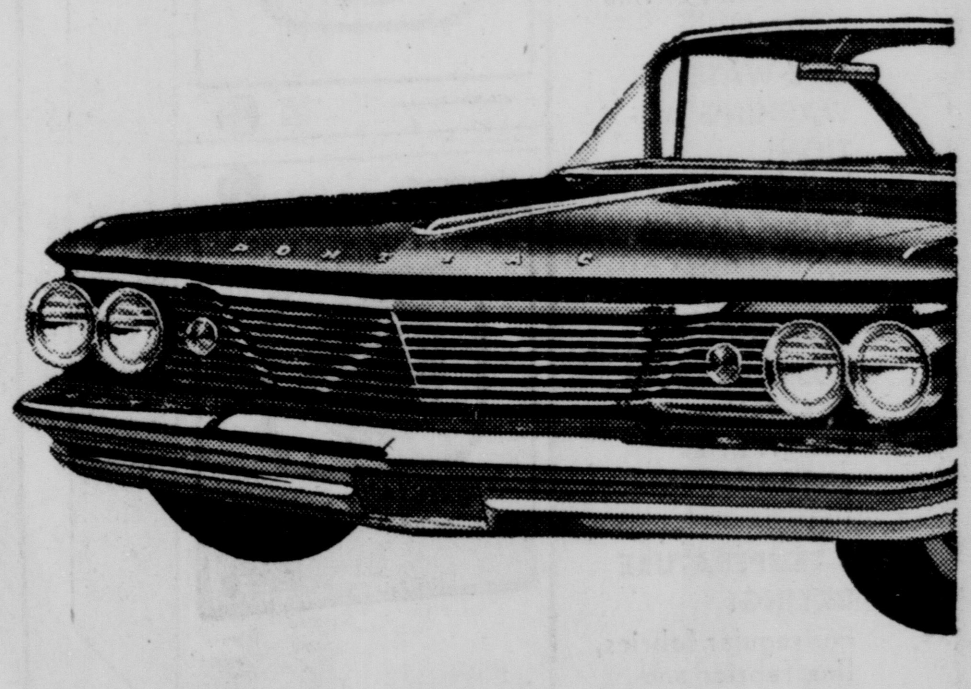
This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.

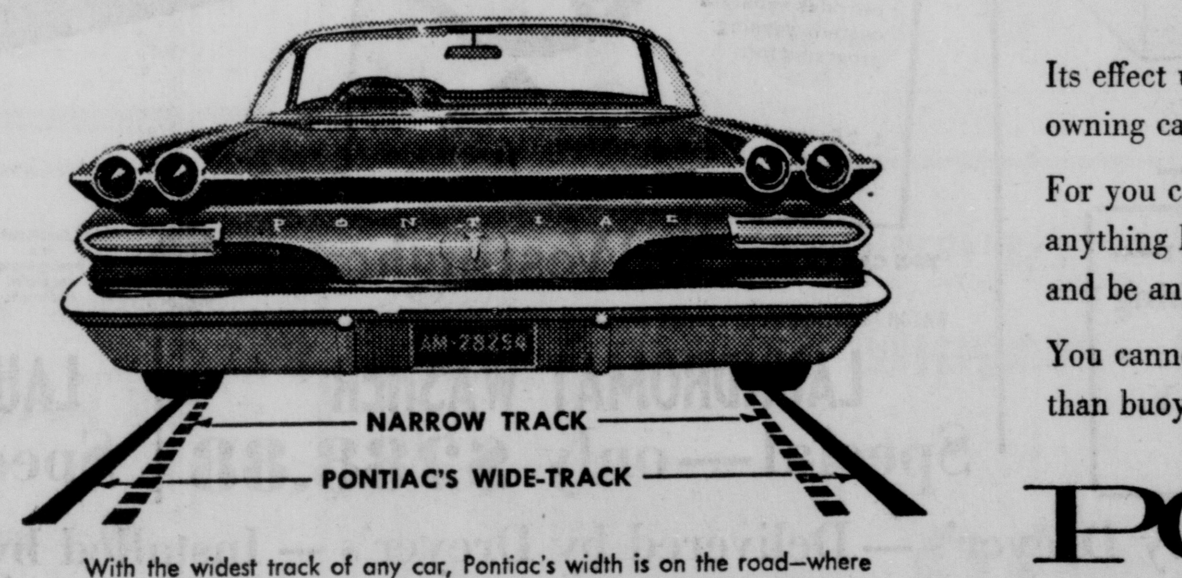
The prow is styled for excitement.

The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical.

The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.

The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.





With the widest track of any car, Pontiac's width is on the road—where it gives you better stability. Wide-Track widens the stance, not the car.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.

For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.

You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

fresh new beauty
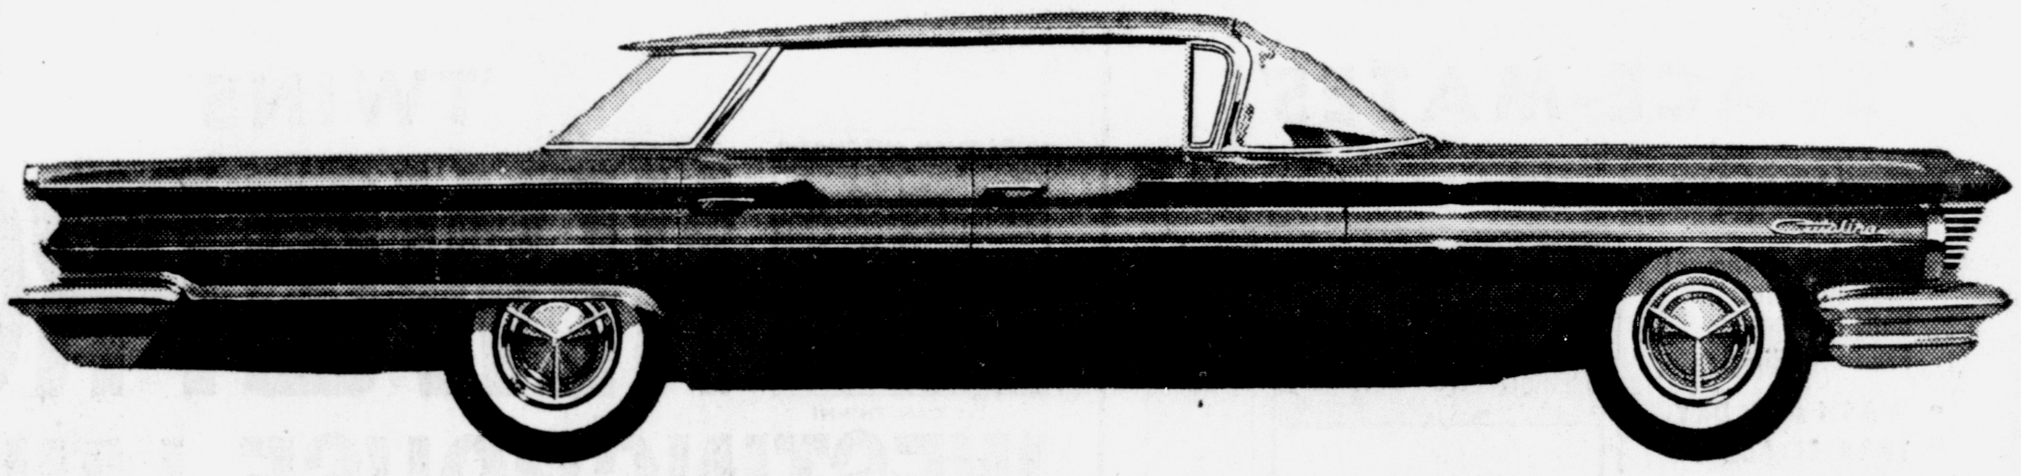
Wide-Track wheels!



A car is a living thing.

And all living things must change.

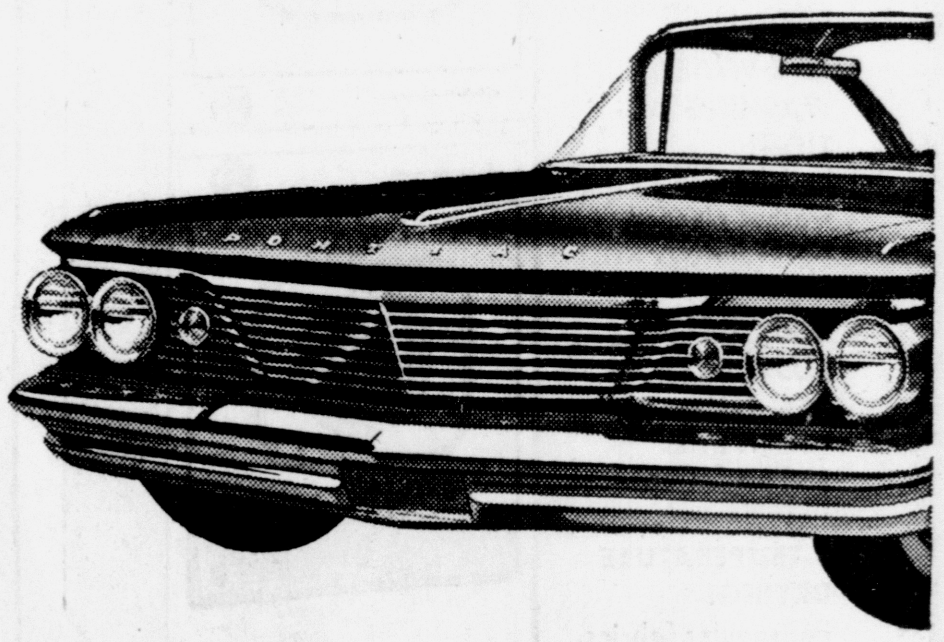
This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.

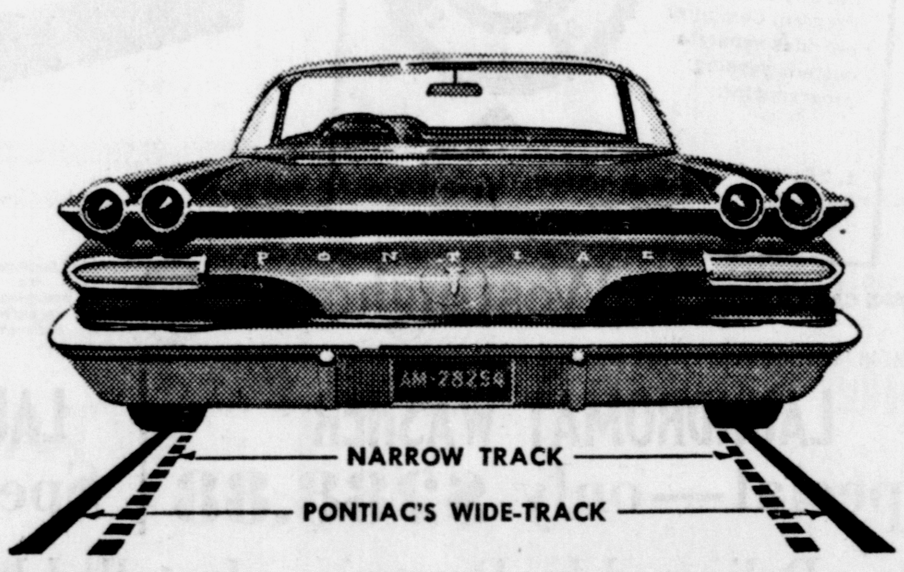
The prow is styled for excitement.

The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical.

The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.

The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.





With the widest track of any car, Pontiac's width is on the road—where it gives you better stability. Wide-Track widens the stance, not the car.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.

For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.

You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

Sen. Douglas Stirs Thoughts of Teachers

Statesman Addresses Conference

Sen. Paul Douglas, Friday, gave more than 1,100 area teachers and administrators "questions to think about and come to intelligent decisions on."

The occasion for the speech from the man introduced as "farm boy who became economist, teacher, alderman, author, labor consultant, veteran, and U. S. senator," was the fall Illinois Education association institute.

Some of Douglas' questions were:

What should the federal government do, if anything, to aid education?

What is the role of the private school?

What should be the relation between science, mathematics, and other school subjects and activities?

Are music, athletics, dramatics, and clubs "frills of education?"

THE LAUNCHING point of Douglas' talk was the scare to American education from gigantic Russian scientific advances.

Never minimizing American scientific weaknesses, Douglas said educators must consider areas beyond the scope of missiledom.

His argument for government aid to education was that the country must equalize opportunity and establish minimum educational standards.

"One-third of our country's population crosses state lines every 20 years," he said. "Just watch the city of New Orleans enter Chicago at 63d st. every night. Southerners have a difficult adjustment, because they are educated at a lower level."

Douglas, author of "The Theory of Wages," emphasized that the South was trying to do a good job with its citizens. "They spend proportionately more money than many northern states," he said. "But they aren't able to do as much, because they have a lower income level."

"Our southern states are producing citizens whose voice and vote are equal to ours, but southerners are poorly prepared for citizenship.

'The goal of education is preparation for citizenship — competent citizenship for all people," the former University of Chicago professor stressed.

HE SAID state aid to education had been a reality for 40 years. Agitation for federal aid has come from one quarter or another for the last 35 years. But people assume "support equals control."

Douglas said every bill for federal aid has carried a clause that government would not stick its nose into policy and control matters.

"Who is to pay for education?" the man named as one of the senate's "10 best senators" asked.

He accused the general property tax, now used to support school districts, of being regressive, hitting hardest the lower and middle income groups.

"Assessors don't assess large estates and industry to their true worth," he charged.

He said that sales tax revenues, used for state aid, weren't proportional, either, tapping low and middle income pocketbooks harder than those of the wealthy.

"It is only through federal income tax that a fair, progressive method of supporting education can be attained," Douglas asserted.

He admitted that federal matching funds for school construction programs was an alternative being used since no action toward federal aid to education was in sight.

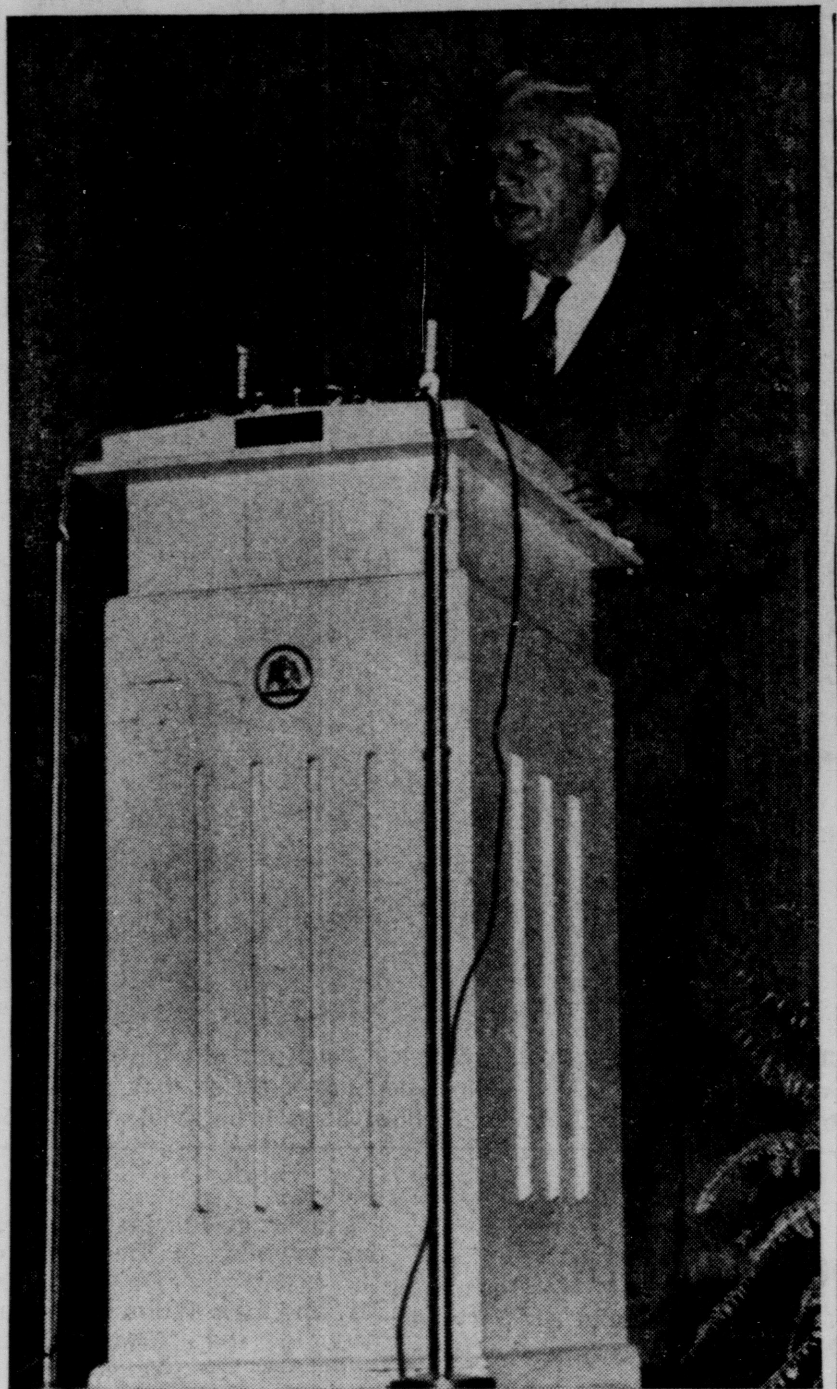
HE ATTACKED the United States for being behind Russia in number of technicians and engineers graduated each year. He said Russia graduated yearly between 60,000 and 90,000 men to our 25,000 to 30,000.

Russia" hitting the moon and orbitting the sun with a rocket plus eye witness accounts prove their men are competently trained, he said.

"Our schools should use every means of visual aid available and begin with simple approaches to teach science, math, and language to primary students," he advised. "People unnecessarily approach mathematics with an inferiority complex."



SENATOR PAUL A. DOUGLAS

By describing his method of teaching his children the familiar pythagorean theorum (the length of the hypotenuse of a right triangle equals the sum of the squares of its two sides), Douglas illustrated how simple visual aids could be used.

He advised teachers to try his system (actually marking off squares on the triangle's two sides) "by drawing in the sand the next time you go to the Indiana dunes, if there are any dunes left!" getting in a political jibe.

He said he thought educators were approaching a compromise between subject matter and extracurricular subjects.

DOUGLAS said James B. Conant's "American High School Today" offered sound educational ideas.

Of these he recommended the consolidation of small high schools to enable greater subject specialization.

He cited the experiment with ability grouping according to students' capabilities with particular subjects started in Washington, D. C., when integration became a reality.

He said Negro students often proved more capable than their white peers, that the city's general educational level was slightly above the national average and gave every indication of rising.

He also supported strong testing and guidance programs.

Teachers visited the "Aisle of Ideas" in the high school library before and after Douglas' speech.

Grade schools and high schools contributed exhibits showing how ingenuity and simple household items are used in classes.

One teacher used a shoe bag and straws to teach her children "carrying" in arithmetic.

Another class exhibited twigs and their identifications for a science project.

A board showing the "Apple, King of the Fruits," gave a delightful picture of the apple, its growth, and commercial uses.

ANOTHER interesting science display showed gardens grown in quart bottles. Students learned what soil minerals and environmental conditions are necessary to grow a "terrarium."

The most impressive display came from Palatine Township high school. Huge easels in the middle of the library floor showed the IBM put to use in high school registration, classroom assignments, attendance, and grading.

Palatine's student council contributed pictures and bulletins illustrating its work with freshman orientation, homecoming, fund raising projects, and the northeast-northwest student council convention it hosted last year.

The third Palatine display showed the school's guidance and counseling program in action. (B8

Area Clubs Organize, Try Horseback Riding

Stables Offers Special Series for Suburbanites

Horseback riding has found new favor among suburbanites.

At one time limited chiefly to the idle rich or gentlemen farmers, riding is emerging as a highly-popular pastime for young and old alike in the northwest area.

Recently, the Arlington Heights park district offered a class in horseback riding as part of its fall recreation program. Response to the program was so great that the first class was filled within 24 hours and more classes added to accommodate the demand. There are now more than 150 riders participating in the park district program at Idle Hour stables, 8600 Higgins rd., Park Ridge.

"As a sport and diversion, riding is a diet for any group," explains Homer Adcock, 22-year-old riding instructor at Idle Hour, who noted that his pupils range from a 5-year-old boy to a middle-aged woman.

BECAUSE OF the spurt of interest locally, Idle Hour this week announced expansion of their facilities and a new group rate for riders in the northwest area.

The stables have expanded livery facilities (more than 80 horses under roof), added to its teaching staff, and purchased a private bus to transport riders between the stables and area suburbs at no extra cost.

"We are now equipped to concentrate on special services for beginning and advanced riders in this area," declared Ralph Fleming, owner of the stables. "Response to the park district effort far exceeded expectations, and it's apparent that suburbanites are pleased to be able to enjoy a normally expensive activity at such low fees."

Fleming said the stables will now offer riding instructions for beginners at special rates designed for groups ranging in size from 20 to 45 riders. These new rates have been set up specifically for such groups as YMCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, Couples clubs, church and school organizations. The classes are available for either children's or adults' groups.

The stables will accommodate any group of 20 or more persons in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Palatine, Bensenville, Wood Dale, and surrounding area.

BUS SERVICE will be provided to and from any central location in this territory, Fleming added.

Both afternoon and evening hours are available Monday through Friday.

Supervising instruction will be Adcock, who is recognized as one of the leading teachers in the Chicago area. An instructor at Idle Hour for two years, he has taught several champion riders.

The group rate is $15 per person and includes eight lessons, instruction, bus transportation, and mount rental for the 8-week course. Further information is available from Fleming at TAlcott 3-0100.

RARIN' TO GO are these Arlington Heights youngsters, part of more than 150 riders enrolled in the park district's horseback riding program. Bus pictured in background is provided by stables, which this week met the growing demand for riding instruction in northwest suburbs by announcing a special rate for youth, church, school, and adult organizations interested in forming beginning classes. The 8-week programs will include free transportation between the Park Ridge stables and any northwest suburb.

Area Clubs Organize, Try Horseback Riding

Stables Offers Special Series for Suburbanites

Horseback riding has found new favor among suburbanites.

At one time limited chiefly to the idle rich or gentlemen farmers, riding is emerging as a highly-popular pastime for young and old alike in the northwest area.

Recently, the Arlington Heights park district offered a class in horseback riding as part of its fall recreation program. Response to the program was so great that the first class was filled within 24 hours and more classes added to accommodate the demand. There are now more than 150 riders participating in the park district program at Idle Hour stables, 8600 Higgins rd., Park Ridge.

"As a sport and diversion, riding is a diet for any group," explains Homer Adcock, 22-year-old riding instructor at Idle Hour, who noted that his pupils range from a 5-year-old boy to a middle-aged woman.

BECAUSE OF the spurt of interest locally, Idle Hour this week announced expansion of their facilities and a new group rate for riders in the northwest area.

The stables have expanded livery facilities (more than 80 horses under roof), added to its teaching staff, and purchased a private bus to transport riders between the stables and area suburbs at no extra cost.

"We are now equipped to concentrate on special services for beginning and advanced riders in this area," declared Ralph Fleming, owner of the stables. "Response to the park district effort far exceeded expectations, and it's apparent that suburbanites are pleased to be able to enjoy a normally expensive activity at such low fees."

Fleming said the stables will now offer riding instructions for beginners at special rates designed for groups ranging in size from 20 to 45 riders. These new rates have been set up specifically for such groups as YMCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, Couples clubs, church and school organizations. The classes are available for either children's or adults' groups.

The stables will accommodate any group of 20 or more persons in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Palatine, Bensenville, Wood Dale, and surrounding area.

BUS SERVICE will be provided to and from any central location in this territory, Fleming added.

Both afternoon and evening hours are available Monday through Friday.

Supervising instruction will be Adcock, who is recognized as one of the leading teachers in the Chicago area. An instructor at Idle Hour for two years, he has taught several champion riders.

The group rate is $15 per person and includes eight lessons, instruction, bus transportation, and mount rental for the 8-week course. Further information is available from Fleming at TAlcott 3-0100.

Also present for the evening were several aunts and uncles.

October 7 was the fourth birthday of Lisa, daughter of Dorothy and John Venning, 1607 Johanna terr. Karen Fortner, Maurita and Carol Smith, Roberta and Mary Jane Fiduccia and Barbara Kessler joined in the activities and received favors. Patricia Van Bladel was unable to attend because she had tonsillitis.

Dick and Audrey Heidenson, 1421 St. James, are parents of another boy. Born in Resurrection hospital October 12, he weighed 7 pounds 12 ounces and has been named David Scott. Also at home are Steve, 6, Ray, 4, and Janet, 2. Grandparents are Mrs. Walter Heidenson and Mrs. Floyd Swanborg.

Patty, daughter of William and Betty Lou Townsend, 1517 Fremont, celebrated her sixth birthday October 16 with a luncheon party for 15 guests from school and the neighborhood.

MR. AND MRS. John Venning, 1607 Johanna terr., and their two children returned Sunday from a week's vacation to Greencastle, Ind., where they stayed with Dot's mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Williams, and attended the De Pauw university homecoming festivities.

Marv and Arlene Verbeck, 1511 Euclid, left last Friday for a weekend out of town. They visited Marv's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verbeck in Moline and Arlene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pike in West Liberty, Iowa. Mrs. H. Pike returned with them and will spend the next week here.

Kenneth, son of Esther and Tony Van Bladel, 108 N. Reuter, celebrated his ninth birthday October 15. His godparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Liebett and their two children of Palatine spent the evening with them.

Louise and Ken Smith, 1515 Euclid, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fox and their two children from Detroit over the weekend. Fred Fox and Ken are old friends, having gone all through high school and college together. Also present Sunday were Louise's mother, Mrs. Edith Lobb, and a friend. Mrs. Lobb is president of the Detroit Credit Women's association and was here to attend a convention at the Drake hotel in Chicago.

Frank and Aquinas Powers, 118 N. Reuter, together with three other couples, spent Saturday evening dining and dancing at the Olympia country club. Sunday their daughter, Sue, celebrated her ninth birthday. Enjoying the party mood with her were Debbie Stephan, Kimmie Cuira and Sue Conroy. Margie Van Wazer was unable to attend.

Vicky, daughter of Dolores and Harold Goeddeke, 28 N. Reuter, celebrated her fifth birthday Sunday. Present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Langguth and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goeddeke, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Residents are reminded to attend the Las Vegas night, Saturday, Oct. 24, at Old Orchard country club. Proceeds go toward the children's Christmas party. (A

Ridge Park—Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Next weekend will be a busy one for the Nat T. Burfeinds, 1130 N. Harvard. Her mother, Mrs. J. M. Estes will arrive from Columbia, Mo. Friday to spend a week with them. To make the weekend complete, Raymond is coming from the University of Illinois to see his grandmother.

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Sunday Evening Club of St. John church celebrated Halloween early this year with a party Sunday night at Fellowship hall. Ridge Park was well represented by Frank and Janice Raica, Helen and Curtis Briscoe, Arnold and Jo Koriath, Roy and Shirley Winkelman and George and Lil Lurtz. This was a costume affair and Roy and Shirley Winkelman came off with first prize.

Going to Cedar Rapids over the weekend was just like going back home for the Ellwood Huffs, 1022 N. Patton. They enjoyed visiting friends they knew when they lived there and daughter, Jane, even managed to get in some horseback riding between visits with her friends there.

The welcome mat is out to Mr. and Mrs. James Kunnen, who have moved into the Adam house at 1016 N. Fernandez. They moved here from Milford, Mich., a suburb of Detroit. Four-year-old Jeff completes their family.

Mary and John Donahue, 831 N. Kennicott, celebrated their wedding anniversary last Wednesday by going out to dinner.

Saturday night Ridge Park was also represented at the hayride, square dance and weiner roast given by the Couple's Club of Faith Lutheran church. The Glenn Argusts were there, as well as the Herb Kamins, Art Kiecks and the Dick Platts. The evening didn't end for the Platts with that party, as they came home and dressed for another party which had fallen on the same night.

CHRIS HOWES, daughter of the Ray Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, spent the weekend at Girl Scout camp in Wisconsin for a weekend of camping, cooking out and hiking.

The Donald Kiehls, 732 N. Kaspar, went to the Mt. Prospect country club last Saturday night for the dinner dance given by the Friday Night Golf league. Good food, company and music spelled a perfect evening for them.

David Hugg is still talking about his birthday party. He was 5 October 11, but invited the following children to lunch at his house the day before: Linda Murphy, Douglas Law, Michael Bourbon, Mark and John Griffin, Cathy and Lucy Lindmark and Billy Kieck.

The next day there was a family party with another cake. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fox were there visiting them from Miller Place, Long Island and that alone was cause for celebration. The Foxes spent a week here before returning home. David is the son of the Kenneth M. Huggs, 1007 N. Chicago.

BEFORE Wakefield Morgan, son of the G. S. Morgans, 1010 N. Harvard, returned to Ohio State university this fall he brought Madeline Hartsock home with him for five days. The Morgans had another treat in store for them when their daughter and her family spent a week with them recently. Kathy's husband, Carl Gruner brought the baby and her back here from Salt Lake City with him on a business trip, and, of course, his grandparents were completely charmed by 15-month-old Stephen.

Back from a 2-week vacation to the southwest, Mr. and Mrs. John Schipper, 1007 N. Kaspar, are convinced that they made a wise choice. They spent part of their time in Ft. Worth, Texas, visiting good friends there and even took in the Oklahoma-Texas game while there. Leaving Texas, they headed up to Oklahoma and the Ozarks for the second week of their vacation.

The F. Dean Shumates, 717 N. Salem, spent the weekend in Blue River, Wis., visiting both families. The scenery there is beautiful this time of year and has almost as much attraction for them as seeing their folks. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

This week you can refer to me as "Sneaky" Harris, as I made the rounds of our competitors just to see if they were offering anything that Harris Pharmacy did not offer. The results were amazing, and here is a report of what I found.

Without being smug or self-satisfied, I find that we, at Harris Pharmacy, are offering to the people of this community one of the most modern self-service drug stores to be found anywhere. This has been a business that both Marian and myself have strived hard to build, a business of which we could be proud. We have done and will continue to do business in a reputable manner, so we may at all times face any of our customers. This is the way in which we were both raised and the way in which we want to live.

To all of our patrons, thanks a million for the past business, and may we continue to serve you for many years to come.

Frank and Aquinas Powers, 118 N. Reuter, together with three other couples, spent Saturday evening dining and dancing at the Olympia country club. Sunday their daughter, Sue, celebrated her ninth birthday. Enjoying the party mood with her were Debbie Stephan, Kimmie Cuira and Sue Conroy. Margie Van Wazer was unable to attend.

Vicky, daughter of Dolores and Harold Goeddeke, 28 N. Reuter, celebrated her fifth birthday Sunday. Present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Langguth and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goeddeke, and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Residents are reminded to attend the Las Vegas night, Saturday, Oct. 24, at Old Orchard country club. Proceeds go toward the children's Christmas party. (A

Ridge Park—Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Next weekend will be a busy one for the Nat T. Burfeinds, 1130 N. Harvard. Her mother, Mrs. J. M. Estes will arrive from Columbia, Mo. Friday to spend a week with them. To make the weekend complete, Raymond is coming from the University of Illinois to see his grandmother.

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Sunday Evening Club of St. John church celebrated Halloween early this year with a party Sunday night at Fellowship hall. Ridge Park was well represented by Frank and Janice Raica, Helen and Curtis Briscoe, Arnold and Jo Koriath, Roy and Shirley Winkelman and George and Lil Lurtz. This was a costume affair and Roy and Shirley Winkelman came off with first prize.

Going to Cedar Rapids over the weekend was just like going back home for the Ellwood Huffs, 1022 N. Patton. They enjoyed visiting friends they knew when they lived there and daughter, Jane, even managed to get in some horseback riding between visits with her friends there.

The welcome mat is out to Mr. and Mrs. James Kunnen, who have moved into the Adam house at 1016 N. Fernandez. They moved here from Milford, Mich., a suburb of Detroit. Four-year-old Jeff completes their family.

Mary and John Donahue, 831 N. Kennicott, celebrated their wedding anniversary last Wednesday by going out to dinner.

Saturday night Ridge Park was also represented at the hayride, square dance and weiner roast given by the Couple's Club of Faith Lutheran church. The Glenn Argusts were there, as well as the Herb Kamins, Art Kiecks and the Dick Platts. The evening didn't end for the Platts with that party, as they came home and dressed for another party which had fallen on the same night.

CHRIS HOWES, daughter of the Ray Howes, 945 N. Kaspar, spent the weekend at Girl Scout camp in Wisconsin for a weekend of camping, cooking out and hiking.

The Donald Kiehls, 732 N. Kaspar, went to the Mt. Prospect country club last Saturday night for the dinner dance given by the Friday Night Golf league. Good food, company and music spelled a perfect evening for them.

David Hugg is still talking about his birthday party. He was 5 October 11, but invited the following children to lunch at his house the day before: Linda Murphy, Douglas Law, Michael Bourbon, Mark and John Griffin, Cathy and Lucy Lindmark and Billy Kieck.

The next day there was a family party with another cake. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fox were there visiting them from Miller Place, Long Island and that alone was cause for celebration. The Foxes spent a week here before returning home. David is the son of the Kenneth M. Huggs, 1007 N. Chicago.

BEFORE Wakefield Morgan, son of the G. S. Morgans, 1010 N. Harvard, returned to Ohio State university this fall he brought Madeline Hartsock home with him for five days. The Morgans had another treat in store for them when their daughter and her family spent a week with them recently. Kathy's husband, Carl Gruner brought the baby and her back here from Salt Lake City with him on a business trip, and, of course, his grandparents were completely charmed by 15-month-old Stephen.

Back from a 2-week vacation to the southwest, Mr. and Mrs. John Schipper, 1007 N. Kaspar, are convinced that they made a wise choice. They spent part of their time in Ft. Worth, Texas, visiting good friends there and even took in the Oklahoma-Texas game while there. Leaving Texas, they headed up to Oklahoma and the Ozarks for the second week of their vacation.

The F. Dean Shumates, 717 N. Salem, spent the weekend in Blue River, Wis., visiting both families. The scenery there is beautiful this time of year and has almost as much attraction for them as seeing their folks. (A

the HARRIS huddle

This week you can refer to me as "Sneaky" Harris, as I made the rounds of our competitors just to see if they were offering anything that Harris Pharmacy did not offer. The results were amazing, and here is a report of what I found.

Without being smug or self-satisfied, I find that we, at Harris Pharmacy, are offering to the people of this community one of the most modern self-service drug stores to be found anywhere. This has been a business that both Marian and myself have strived hard to build, a business of which we could be proud. We have done and will continue to do business in a reputable manner, so we may at all times face any of our customers. This is the way in which we were both raised and the way in which we want to live.

To all of our patrons, thanks a million for the past business, and may we continue to serve ,ou for many years to come.

Relief Slated In Tax Mixup

Harassed villagers paying double taxes for park privileges were offered some relief during a special meeting of the Arlington Heights park board, which was hastily convened Monday night.

Board members arrived one by one to "clear up the mess" caused by residents in the Stoltzner-Fischer subdivision paying taxes to two park districts, one of Arlington Heights, the other of Mount Prospect, both claiming jurisdiction.

Villagers living within the area bounded by Foundry, Rammer, Waterman and Fairview, now can relax. The park board admitted that an error had been made and that they would cooperate with the villagers in trying to rectify this error.

AS OUTLINED by Charles Bobinette, park board attorney, this is what happened:

Mt. Prospect, during the summer of 1955, took in all the property up to the village limits of Arlington Heights at that time as its park district.

In December of 1956, the park board of Arlington Heights, upon the petition of the Stolzners Greenview Estates, annexed the area within what is now Foundry, Rammer, Waterman and Fairview.

"We passed an ordinance," said Robert Skallerup, park board chairman, "bringing this area into our park district boundary. We assumed that Stoltzner knew (it was clear of any other entanglements).

"A couple of years went by. The land was still undeveloped. Now, the people living there find themselves in two park districts and they're very unhappy about it. You can't blame them."

BOBINETTE recommended that the villagers living within this double-taxed area do two things:

1. Petition for disannexation, which would win an immediate and sympathetic vote from the Arlington Heights park board, a routine matter.

2. File a friendly suit enjoining the county collector, the county assessor and the park district from collecting taxes on this property. This judgment would enjoin the park district from collecting on the bonded indebtedness of the area.

However, since the area in dispute is still within the village boundaries of Arlington Heights and by such disannexation action also would be within the Mt. Prospect park district area, Skallerup added:

"I would point out to them (the double-taxpayers) that it would be more ideal if they would disannex from Mt. Prospect. This, of course, would depend upon the attitude and cooperation of the Mt. Prospect board.

"We here assume a moral obligation and sympathize with their (the property owners') position and offer them our fullest cooperation. However, the action and initiative has to be taken by them."

"We will call the people and tell them," said the board attorney, "and sit down with the property owners and the League of Women Voters to explain this to them."

PETITIONS BY the property owners asking for disannexation from the Arlington Heights park district could be presented at the next board meeting which takes place on Nov. 10 at Pioneer park, it was indicated.

"In the future," Skallerup said, "we will keep a sharper eye on Mt. Prospect and rural areas (for annexation purposes)."

The original petition asking for annexation of this area by the Arlington Heights park board was signed by Harold and Jean Stoltzner, Carl and Hazel I. Carlson on Dec. 10, 1956.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, of the League of Women Voters, turned up evidence of the double confusion in the County Clerk's office, after she had made an investigation of all the petitions and maps.

Waterman avenue was the common boundary of the village and the park district of Arlington Heights, until Dec. 10, 1956, when the village extended its boundary eastward. On Dec. 27, 1956, the park district extended its boundary to include Rammer and Donald avenues.

HOWEVER, on June 9, 1955, Mt. Prospect had incorporated its western boundaries to the line of Waterman, which at that time was the boundary of the village and the park district.

An approximate total of 75 homes have been built in the disputed area, and a majority of these received their first full tax bill this year, it was indicated.

The League of Women Voters has been working with the Greenview Homeowners association, a group of property owners representing this disputed area, in efforts to clarify the situation.

Park board members in Arlington Heights admitted they had been in error as to the boundaries, when they had previously discussed it, having thought the questionable area was north of its actual site.

Square Dance Club News

Bucks and Does

Bob Kim, veteran caller and regular with the Bucks and Does club of Elk Grove, now has another veteran, Frank Walker, alternating with him for the rest of the club's schedule. Frank's no stranger to Elk Grovers and their guests who attended the club's jamboree last June when he was among the extra callers giving Bob Kim a hand with the crowd. The Kim calls will be heard the second Saturday of each month and the Walker way followed the fourth Saturday at Higgins school, Higgins and Touhy, in Elk Grove. Dancing starts at 8:30 and guests are always welcome.

Club officers remind everyone that this Saturday only, Oct. 24, the dance will be held at Herzog school on Algonquin rd. in Waycindin Park subdivision, Des Plaines.

Palatine Squares

Everyone's invited to the October 24 Halloween party dance at Paddock school including any Halloween witches who might be out early test-hopping their brooms. Since many dancers will be in costumes anyway, nobody will be able to tell "witch is witch." Costumes by-the-way are optional and no one will be forgiven for staying away just for lack of masqueradable clothes. Mesmerizer Don Finfrock will give the incantations and magic potions will refresh everyone when the dancing's over. Bewitching starts at 8:30.

Guest couples from as far away as Hazelcrest and Harvey added to the fine turnout at the October 10 dance in Paddock school where Art Mathews' calls made everyone's enjoyment more so. In his 8 to 8:30 round dance session Art taught "Nancy Waltz" and reviewed the previously taught "Del Rio."

THERE ARE five more Knothead couples in the Palatine club and those unfamiliar with square dance terms are reminded to pronounce Knothead with a capital K, the difference being worth a bop on the nose. A capital K Knothead is one who was part of a square or more travelling 100 miles or more to square dance. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hosimer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dahlquist, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hemmis and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Battaglia are Knotheads and proud of it.

They recently went as a group to Indianapolis where they swung out to the calls of Max Forsyth and had more than enough fun to compensate for the distance they went to dance. The Zimmermans needed the cushion of fun to fall back on, for shortly after they returned from Indianapolis a fire caused considerable damage to their home. No one was injured thanks to 8-year-old Allan John promptly rousing the family when he smelled smoke.

Palatine Round Club

Jerry and Dot Daniels have a new round dance group going and growing in Palatine and extend a welcome to all round dance enthusiasts in the area. They meet every Thursday night from 8:30 to 10:30 in Pleasant Hills school in Palatine. Fifteen couples met with the Daniels at the initial get-together and "Cheeri Waltz," the round dancers' round for October, was gracefully accomplished by the group.

Arlington Squares

Twenty-two guest couples plus the majority of club members equals one dandy dancing crowd, the sum total at Miner Junior high school in Arlington Heights October 10 at the Arlington Heights' club's open dance. A very special guest was the mother of the club's caller, Bill Clarke.

The club's member dance tomorrow night will be a Halloween costume party for all "Hobnobbing Hobgoblins" who materialize at South Junior high school in Arlington Heights. Guest ghosts are welcome if they will phone Mr. and Mrs. David Brooke for reservations, Cl 3-7839, or write, 518 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights. Head Haunter Bill Clarke will cast the spells starting at 8:30 and spook specials will be served shortly before the witching hour.

Alumni Squares

The haunting season also officially opens tomorrow night at the Pioneer park field house, 500 Fernandez, Arlington Heights where the Alumni Squares will hold their Halloween costume party dance. All spirits who will trail their ectoplasm over to the fieldhouse are welcome. The Sorcerer, normally known as Walter Meier, will call the abracadabras from 8:30 to 11:30, then a potluck refreshment board will be conjured up.

The Alumni Squares meets every second and fourth Friday night at Pioneer park and guests are always welcome. Anyone desiring further information or membership may call president Leon McKnight, Cl 3-3914 or secretary Fred Dargatz, Cl 5-8647.

St. Raymond CFM

The Christian Family Movement of St. Raymond Catholic church of Mt. Prospect is sponsoring a square dance in the school hall, 300 S. Elmhurst Mt. Prospect, Friday, Oct. 30, with Don Finfrock calling. Don will get the dance whirling and twirling at 9 o'clock.

All St. Raymond parishioners and their friends are invited to join the Halloween fun. Tickets may be purchased from any CFM member or at the door. Refreshments will be served. (A-13

Trustees Debate: Is Snowball a 'Weapon'?

It looked like a "Black Christmas" for Arlington Heights youngsters, and possibly oldsters, for awhile Monday night.

It all started with the reading of an amendment to the village's weapon ordinance which regulates, among other things, the use of weapons within the village.

The amendment specifically singled out pea-shooters, slingshots, and air-rifles as instruments to be handled with caution and on one's own property.

The legislation was drawn at the police chief's request due to several recently broken windows, and appeared as a routine bit of board business until Trustee Robert Bukowski asked with a grin, "How about snowballs?"

A CHUCKLE went around the board, and trustees prepared to tangle with the more serious business of a rooming house ordinance. But if one looked closely, he could see minds wandering, and brows furrowing. Yes, "What about snowballs?"

"This ordinance regulates rooming houses . . .," began the village attorney, when Trustee Wendell Prunty interrupted to ask, "What if the snowball had a rock in it?"

Some more muttering about the legality of snowball throwing in the village, and then the attorney was again reading his rooming house ordinance. But again, also, the trustees appeared deep in thought, and not about rooming house ordinances.

AS THE ATTORNEY droned on, tension mounted, and it was with relief that when the attorney finished, Trustee Eugene Schlickman asked, "Is that the end of the legal agenda? I'd like to go back to the snowballs."

And back they went, discussing whether or not a snowball could be considered a weapon. A formal legal opinion by the village attorney was finally necessary to straighten the matter out.

The opinion? A snowball may not be considered a missile or weapon unless a rock or other object is imbedded in it. (AF

Village Steps Up Sidewalk Program

Spurred by the five recent deaths of youngsters in the Glenview area—all on streets without sidewalks—Arlington Heights' village board acted this week to speed the village's sidewalk installation plans.

Trustees agreed to a Monday night adjourned meeting for the purpose of passing ordinances for the installation of sidewalks on both sides of Elm st. from Ridge to Dunton.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman noted that the porject was approved in July, but to date only one property owner had installed a sidewalk. Village Manager L. A. Hanson told the board that eight property owners had contracted to have sidewalks installed but that the contractors had delayed installation.

SCHLICKMAN, however berated himself and fellow board members with the statement that, "We have been delinquent and negligent as trustees in seeing that sidewalks are installed."

"Are we going to wait for accidents to happen in Arlington Heights or elsewhere before we act?" he asked.

The board's concern over traffic accidents was also reflected in a unanimous motion that the village manager consult with the police chief in order to "improve the level of traffic law enforcement."

Set Hearing For Street Improvement

The board of local improvements will hold an informal public hearing on the proposed improvement of four streets in southwest Arlington Heights tonight at 8 in the village hall.

The streets being considered for improvements are Ridge ave. from Fairview to Sigwalt; Park ave. from Mitchell to Fernandez; George st. from Walnut to Fernandez and South st. from Walnut to Ridge.

THE PROJECT, if recommended by the board of local improvements and approved by the village board, would be financed through special assessments levied on property owners benefiting from the improvements.

The need for improving the streets in question was determined by a joint meeting of the village board and the board of local improvements, according to Harold Klinger, chairman of the board of local improvements.

At the board's regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 29, a resolution is expected to be approved for the improvement of Willow st. from Highand ave. east to State rd. (AF

There are no dues and the objects of the Council are to interest more parents in school affairs and to enable the teachers and parents to becomes better acquainted and to provide a means for the school to interpret its program and needs to the parents.

Parents of students transferred from Prospect high school are especially urged to attend.

THE THEME for this year is "Teachers - Parents—Partners in Progress."

Charles Close, president of the TPC will open a brief session in the boys gymnasium at 8:15, after which the parents will follow the class schedule of their sons and daughters. This will enable the parents to visit the classrooms, at which time the teachers will explain the subject matter for the semester.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria about 9:30. During this social hour parents will have a further opportunity to visit with the faculty. (AF

Sidewalks, Park Issue Is Resolved

The last hurdle in establishing a 1.5 acre park to serve residents of Brickman subdivision in northeast Arlington Heights was cleared this week when the village and park boards reached an agreement over installation of sidewalks.

Park board members agreed to accept the land for park purposes if the village would not install sidewalks on Wilshire, Eastman and Stratford streets unless paid for by the village.

THE VILLAGE manager recommended and the board moved that the park board's request be granted because sidewalks are already installed on park property on Miner st.

The park will soon be graded and seeded, according to Park Director Tom Thornton. He noted, however, that further improvements will have to wait until the park board determines what will be built on vacant land across from the park. (AF

To Consider Zone Code November 2

Arlington Heights' proposed new zoning code will be considered for adoption by the village board at its Monday night meeting on November 2, at 8 p.m. in the village hall.

An informal hearing was held on the code last month. At that time questions were raised by village residents concerning the use of home offices.

Some residents are also concerned with the fate of Park Manor subdivision in the southeast corner of the village. The area, consisting of many unimproved, undersized lots, retains its residential classification under the proposed zoning code. The village master plan, however, recommends an urban renewal program for the subdivision culminating in an industrial or commercial development.

Area Camp Fire To Distribute Good Will Bags

October 24 has been designated "Good-Will" day, when Camp Fire Girls throughout the Chicago Area Council will distribute good-will bags in their immediate localities.

Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds from the Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights districts, will be among the 10,000 Chicago Area Camp Fire Girls distributing more than one-quarter million bags for the Good-Will industries as a special service to aid the handicapped.

Placement of the good-will bags will begin on Saturday when 1,000 local girls will distribute the bags by placing them in the doorways of homes and apartments. A special letter will be stapled to each bag asking the recipient to participate in this worthwhile porject by donating useable clothing and other items for early Good-Will pick-up. (AMP

2. File a friendly suit enjoining the county collector, the county assessor and the park district from collecting taxes on this property. This judgment would enjoin the park district from collecting on the bonded indebtedness of the area.

However, since the area in dispute is still within the village boundaries of Arlington Heights and by such disannexation action also would be within the Mt. Prospect park district area, Skallerup added:

"I would point out to them (the double-taxpayers) that it would be more ideal if they would disannex from Mt. Prospect. This, of course, would depend upon the attitude and cooperation of the Mt. Prospect board.

"We here assume a moral obligation and sympathize with their (the property owners') position and offer them our fullest cooperation. However, the action and initiative has to be taken by them."

"We will call the people and tell them," said the board attorney, "and sit down with the property owners and the League of Women Voters to explain this to them."

PETITIONS BY the property owners asking for disannexation from the Arlington Heights park district could be presented at the next board meeting which takes place on Nov. 10 at Pioneer park, it was indicated.

"In the future," Skallerup said, "we will keep a sharper eye on Mt. Prospect and rural areas (for annexation purposes)."

The original petition asking for annexation of this area by the Arlington Heights park board was signed by Harold and Jean Stoltzner, Carl and Hazel I. Carlson on Dec. 10, 1956.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon, of the League of Women Voters, turned up evidence of the double confusion in the County Clerk's office, after she had made an investigation of all the petitions and maps.

Waterman avenue was the common boundary of the village and the park district of Arlington Heights, until Dec. 10, 1956, when the village extended its boundary eastward. On Dec. 27, 1956, the park district extended its boundary to include Rammer and Donald avenues.

HOWEVER, on June 9, 1955, Mt. Prospect had incorporated its western boundaries to the line of Waterman, which at that time was the boundary of the village and the park district.

An approximate total of 75 homes have been built in the disputed area, and a majority of these received their first full tax bill this year, it was indicated.

The League of Women Voters has been working with the Greenview Homeowners association, a group of property owners representing this disputed area, in efforts to clarify the situation.

Park board members in Arlington Heights admitted they had been in error as to the boundaries, when they had previously discussed it, having thought the questionable area was north of its actual site.

Bucks and Does

Bob Kim, veteran caller and regular with the Bucks and Does club of Elk Grove, now has another veteran, Frank Walker, alternating with him for the rest of the club's schedule. Frank's no stranger to Elk Grovers and their guests who attended the club's jamboree last June when he was among the extra callers giving Bob Kim a hand with the crowd. The Kim calls will be heard the second Saturday of each month and the Walker way followed the fourth Saturday at Higgins school, Higgins and Touhy, in Elk Grove. Dancing starts at 8:30 and guests are always welcome.

Club officers remind eveveryone that this Saturday only, Oct. 24, the dance will be held at Herzog school on Algonquin rd. in Waycindin Park subdivision, Des Plaines.

Palatine Squares

Everyone's invited to the October 24 Halloween party dance at Paddock school including any Halloween witches who might be out early test-hopping their brooms. Since many dancers will be in costumes anyway, nobody will be able to tell "witch is witch." Costumes by-the-way are optional and no one will be forgiven for staying away just for lack of masqueradable clothes. Mesmerizer Don Finfrock will give the incantations and magic potions will refresh everyone when the dancing's over. Bewitching starts at 8:30.

Guest couples from as far away as Hazelcrest and Harvey added to the fine turnout at the October 10 dance in Paddock school where Art Mathews' calls made everyone's enjoyment more so. In his 8 to 8:30 round dance session Art taught "Nancy Waltz" and reviewed the previously taught "Del Rio."

THERE ARE five more Knothead couples in the Palatine club and those unfamiliar with square dance terms are reminded to pronounce Knothead with a capital K, the difference being worth a bop on the nose. A capital K Knothead is one who was part of a square or more travelling 100 miles or more to square dance. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hosimer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dahlquist, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hemmis and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Battaglia are Knotheads and proud of it.

They recently went as a group to Indianapolis where they swung out to the calls of Max Forsyth and had more than enough fun to compensate for the distance they went to dance. The Zimmermans needed the cushion of fun to fall back on, for shortly after they returned from Indianapolis a fire caused considerable damage to their home. No one was injured thanks to 8-year-old Allan John promptly rousing the family when he smelled smoke.

Palatine Round Club

Jerry and Dot Daniels have a new round dance group going and growing in Palatine and extend a welcome to all round dance enthusiasts in the area. They meet every Thursday night from 8:30 to 10:30 in Pleasant Hills school in Palatine. Fifteen couples met with the Daniels at the initial get-together and "Cheeri Waltz," the round dancers' round for October, was gracefully accomplished by the group.

Arlington Squares

Twenty-two guest couples plus the majority of club members equals one dandy dancing crowd, the sum total at Miner Junior high school in Arlington Heights October 10 at the Arlington Heights' club's open dance. A very special guest was the mother of the club's caller, Bill Clarke.

The club's member dance tomorrow night will be a Halloween costume party for all "Hobnobbing Hobgobblins" who materialize at South Junior high school in Arlington Heights. Guest ghosts are welcome if they will phone Mr. and Mrs. David Brooke for reservations, Cl 3-7839, or write, 518 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights. Head Haunter Bill Clarke will cast the spells starting at 8:30 and spook specials will be served shortly before the witching hour.

Alumni Squares

The haunting season also officially opens tomorrow night at the Pioneer park field house, 500 Fernandez, Arlington Heights where the Alumni Squares will hold their Halloween costume party dance. All spirits who will trail their ectoplasm over to the fieldhouse are welcome. The Sorcerer, normally known as Walter Meier, will call the abracadabras from 8:30 to 11:30, then a potluck refreshment board will be conjured up.

The Alumni Squares meets every second and fourth Friday night at Pioneer park and guests are always welcome. Anyone desiring further information or membership may call president Leon McKnight, Cl 3-3914 or secretary Fred Dargatz, Cl 5-8647.

St. Raymond CFM

The Christian Family Movement of St. Raymond Catholic church of Mt. Prospect is sponsoring a square dance in the school hall, 300 S. Elmhurst Mt. Prospect, Friday, Oct. 30, with Don Finfrock calling. Don will get the dance whirling and twirling at 9 o'clock.

All St. Raymond parishioners and their friends are invited to join the Halloween fun. Tickets may be purchased from any CFM member or at the door. Refreshments will be served. (A-13

Trustees Debate: Is Snowball a 'Weapon'?

It looked like a "Black Christmas" for Arlington Heights youngsters, and possibly oldsters, for awhile Monday night.

It all started with the reading of an amendment to the village's weapon ordinance which regulates, among other things, the use of weapons within the village.

The amendment specifically singled out pea-shooters, slingshots, and air-rifles as instruments to be handled with caution and on one's own property.

The legislation was drawn at the police chief's request due to several recently broken windows, and appeared as a routine bit of board business until Trustee Robert Bukowski asked with a grin, "How about snowballs?"

A CHUCKLE went around the board, and trustees prepared to tangle with the more serious business of a rooming house ordinance. But if one looked closely, he could see minds wandering, and brows furrowing. Yes, "What about snowballs?"

"This ordinance regulates rooming houses . . .," began the village attorney, when Trustee Wendell Prunty interrupted to ask, "What if the snowball had a rock in it?"

Some more muttering about the legality of snowball throwing in the village, and then the attorney was again reading his rooming house ordinance. But again, also, the trustees appeared deep in thought, and not about rooming house ordinances.

AS THE ATTORNEY droned on, tension mounted, and it was with relief that when the attorney finished, Trustee Eugene Schlickman asked, "Is that the end of the legal agenda? I'd like to go back to the snowballs."

And back they went, discussing whether or not a snowball could be considered a weapon. A formal legal opinion by the village attorney was finally necessary to straighten the matter out.

The opinion? A snowball may not be considered a missile or weapon unless a rock or other object is imbedded in it. (AF

Village Steps Up Sidewalk Program

Spurred by the five recent deaths of youngsters in the Glenview area—all on streets without sidewalks—Arlington Heights' village board acted this week to speed the village's sidewalk installation plans.

Trustees agreed to a Monday night adjourned meeting for the purpose of passing ordinances for the installation of sidewalks on both sides of Elm st. from Ridge to Dunton.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman noted that the porject was approved in July, but to date only one property owner had installed a sidewalk. Village Manager L. A. Hanson told the board that eight property owners had contracted to have sidewalks installed but that the contractors had delayed installation.

SCHLICKMAN, however berated himself and fellow board members with the statement that, "We have been delinquent and negligent as trustees in seeing that sidewalks are installed."

"Are we going to wait for accidents to happen in Arlington Heights or elsewhere before we act?" he asked.

The board's concern over traffic accidents was also reflected in a unanimous motion that the village manager consult with the police chief in order to "improve the level of traffic law enforcement."

Set Hearing For Street Improvement

The board of local improvements will hold an informal public hearing on the proposed improvement of four streets in southwest Arlington Heights tonight at 8 in the village hall.

The streets being considered for improvements are Ridge ave. from Fairview to Sigwalt; Park ave. from Mitchell to Fernandez; George st. from Walnut to Fernandez and South st. from Walnut to Ridge.

THE PROJECT, if recommended by the board of local improvements and approved by the village board, would be financed through special assessments levied on property owners benefiting from the improvements.

The need for improving the streets in question was determined by a joint meeting of the village board and the board of local improvements, according to Harold Klinger, chairman of the board of local improvements.

At the board's regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 29, a resolution is expected to be approved for the improvement of Willow st. from Highand ave. east to State rd. (AF

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria about 9:30. During this social hour parents will have a further opportunity to visit with the faculty. (AF

To Consider Zone Code November 2

Arlington Heights' proposed new zoning code will be considered for adoption by the village board at its Monday night meeting on November 2, at 8 p.m. in the village hall.

An informal hearing was held on the code last month. At that time questions were raised by village residents concerning the use of home offices.

Some residents are also concerned with the fate of Park Manor subdivision in the southeast corner of the village. The area, consisting of many unimproved, undersized lots, retains its residential classification under the proposed zoning code. The village master plan, however, recommends an urban renewal program for the subdivision culminating in an industrial or commercial development.

Sidewalks, Park Issue Is Resolved

The last hurdle in establishing a 1.5 acre park to serve residents of Brickman subdivision in northeast Arlington Heights was cleared this week when the village and park boards reached an agreement over installation of sidewalks.

Park board members agreed to accept the land for park purposes if the village would not install sidewalks on Wilshire, Eastman and Stratford streets unless paid for by the village.

THE VILLAGE manager recommended and the board moved that the park board's request be granted because sidewalks are already installed on park property on Miner st.

The park will soon be graded and seeded, according to Park Director Tom Thornton. He noted, however, that further improvements will have to wait until the park board determines what will be built on vacant land across from the park. (AF

Effect of Bond Issue Explained to Voters

Financing the construction and equipping of a third high school for high school district 214 will raise taxes for only one year, according to Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer.

And the increase won't be felt until residents pay their 1961 taxes, the administrator added.

Slichenmyer based these statements on the anticipated bond tax rate which will be affected should voters approve a $3.9 million bond issue scheduled for polling November 14. The money will provide a 2,500 student high school building on Goebbert rd., between Algonquin and Golf rds., in Elk Grove township.

The superintendent pointed out that current educational rate of $1.0538 and the building rate of $.2003 will not be affected and, possibly, may go down as the district's total assessed evaluation goes up.

BOTH THE educational rate and building rate are below the maximum allowed the taxing body. Voters approved a maximum educational rate of $1.17 at an April, 1957, election and state law allows a maximum $.25 building rate.

The bond tax rate which rested at $.2637 when residents paid their spring taxes and is estimated at $.2533 for current taxes, will enjoy another drop the following year, falling to $.2176.

Should the bond issue be approved, the bond tax rate would rise to $.2828 for the 1961 taxes, paid in the spring of 1962. However, the following year the rate would return to $.2551, which is below last year's level.

All figures are, of course, estimates, since the bond rate is directly affected by the district's assessed evaluation, which has been rising on an average of 25 to 30 million dollars per year.

ANOTHER assumption is that the board can sell the $3,900,000 worth of bonds at 4½ per cent interest, which finance authorities have assured is a reasonable figure.

The district's total assessed evaluation at the figuring of last year's taxes was $200,342,651. It is expected to be $280 million by 1962, scheduled completion date for the new building. Projections show a figure of $570 million by 1982.

The taxpayers' main cost as a result of a successful bond issue is that taxes will not go down at the rate they would have had the third building not been necessary.

"However," Slichenmyer added, "they will have a new high school which will insure their property values and continue to give students of district 214 the same good education for which its high schools are known."

HOME OWNERS can expect the following increases in their 1961 taxes if the bond issue is approved: $12,000 home (actual value), $5.42; $16,000 home, $7.25; $20,000 home, $10.30; $25,000 home, $11.27; $30,000 home, $13.99.

"These figures are estimates on 'new' homes," Slichenmyer pointed out. "Older homes would have lower increases."

Picture Story of Bible For Presbyterian Women

Mrs. H. M. Otto will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Presbyterian Women's assocaition, Arlington Heights, October 28. Speaking on "We Look But We See Not," Mrs. Otto will present a picture story of the Bible, using colored slides and a musical background provided by Mrs. P. Kastelyn. The speaker will be introduced by her sister, Mrs. Paul L. Stumpf.

Mrs. Otto appeared before the Women's association in April, 1956, and her program was so well received that this return engagement was requested. Her once-time hobby of photography has developed into an act of stewardship, as she uses it to further the work of God through her inspirational message, and by contributing financially to the Gideon Bible society.

DEVOTIONS will be led by Mrs. Charles Tully, and special music will be provided under the direction of Mrs. Robert Ross, music chairman. The 12:30 luncheon in Fellowship hall will be served by the members of circle 5, with Mrs. H. Vander Koogh, new circle chairman, and Mrs. P. Williams, new co-chairman, in charge. Association president, Mrs. Alfred G. Benedix, will preside at the business meeting immediately following the luncheon.

Members and their guests should make reservations with the circle unit leaders, and other visitors may call the church office. It is suggested that an effort be made to attend the program, even if it is not possible to have lunch at the church. Nursery facilities are available.

Although higher than 20 years ago, the increase

"Indian chief nostrums" are out of style. But nowadays you hear some remarkable claims about "vitamin preparations" being sold by remarkably unprofessional sources. We'd like to remind you of a fact or two pertaining to vitamins or, for that matter, any medicines. Fact one: Your physician is the one who's professionally qualified to prescribe for your health. Fact two: Your pharmacist is the one who's professionally qualified to fill prescriptions. Always rely on your "health team" in matters of health. It's the only safe thing to do.

The speaker will be introduced by her sister, Mrs. Paul L. Stumpf.

Mrs. Otto appeared before the Women's association in April, 1956, and her program was so well received that this return engagement was requested. Her once-time hobby of photography has developed into an act of stewardship, as she uses it to further the work of God through her inspirational message, and by contributing financially to the Gideon Bible society.

DEVOTIONS will be led by Mrs. Charles Tully, and special music will be provided under the direction of Mrs. Robert Ross, music chairman. The 12:30 luncheon in Fellowship hall will be served by the members of circle 5, with Mrs. H. Vander Koogh, new circle chairman, and Mrs. P. Williams, new co-chairman, in charge. Association president, Mrs. Alfred G. Benedix, will preside at the business meeting immediately following the luncheon.

Members and their guests should make reservations with the circle unit leaders, and other visitors may call the church office. It is suggested that an effort be made to attend the program, even if it is not possible to have lunch at the church. Nursery facilities are available.

In an emergency the value of medicine can hardly be reckoned in dollars. Medicine is priceless when needed.

Yet it is an interesting fact that nationally the average cost of a pharmaceutical prescription is about $2.50 — and more than half of all prescriptions cost less than $2.00. Although higher than 20 years ago, the increase in the cost of medicine lags far behind that of other, and less essential, commodities.

When you purchase a prescription you are sharing in the fruits of scientific research. You are getting today's best buy.

A "medicine show"... at your door

"Indian chief nostrums" are out of style. But nowadays you hear some remarkable claims about "vitamin preparations" being sold by remarkably unprofessional sources. We'd like to remind you of a fact or two pertaining to vitamins or, for that matter, any medicines. Fact one: Your physician is the one who's professionally qualified to prescribe for your health. Fact two: Your pharmacist is the one who's professionally qualified to fill prescriptions. Always rely on your "health team" in matters of health. It's the only safe thing to do.

Post Park Activities On Striped Playpoles

by JOEL CARTER

Those candy striped cylinders which appeared this week in front of local supermarkets are park playpoles. They look like the nose cone to the latest Thor rocket and more than one Arlingtonite has asked when the countdown will be. Nevertheless, the playpoles aren't scheduled to rise one inch. In fact, they are heavily weighted with concrete.

The playpoles are outdoor bulletin boards which are used to display notices about the park district recreation program. Posters, clippings, and pictures are stuck on the squat poles and covered with a sheet of clear plastic to hold them in place and keep off the rain.

The playpoles will always have complete, up to date information on park activities in progress so the public can consult them for times, dates, costs, and other details. Photographs, newspaper stories, competition winners, team standings, park regulations, and other such material of general interest will also be displayed.

THE FIRST playpoles are located at Elms Grocerland, High-Low, Inc. in Arlington Market, National Food Store on Dunton st., National Food Store in Westgate shopping center, and at the Chicago and North Western railway station.

They are placed at the major grocery stores on the pretty sound theory that everyone eats and so at least one member of each family goes in and out the supermarket doors every few days. The railroad station location is obvious. Where else can you reach the men of a commuter town?

Other playpoles will be put out as soon as our shop can produce them. Where are the next best places for them? If you don't pass any of the present bulletin boards and would like an easy way to keep posted about your recreation program why don't you call our office and let us know where you shop?

DON'T ASK ANY of the park people where we got the idea. We don't know. The playpoles are a creation dreamed up to meet a problem and if they aren't an original idea we don't know about any predecessors.

It has been obvious for a long time that many people just didn't hear about park programs that would interest them. Although the activities were always an-nounced in the newspapers many people somehow missed them.

The local newspapers have given excellent coverage to recreation, but busy readers just overlooked the article, or forgot about it, or perhaps read a particular issue. To remedy this shortcoming we've invented the playpoles in hopes that people will notice them as they walk by.

THE LITTLE League, Women's Club, square dance clubs, and other private organizations which meet at the parks can also use the poles to announce their fun activities. Make the posters no larger than 8½ by 14 inches and bring them to the park office. We will put them up and hope everyone comes to the event and has a big time.

Native Suburbanite Wins Jewelry Award

A native son of Arlington Heights who could hardly have been credited with being born, jaws clamped on a silver spoon, was presented with the Sterling Silversmiths Guild's annual award.

NIEMEYER, many of whose relatives still live in Arlington Heights and surrounding villages, established a "Horatio Alger" record of beginning as office boy at 17 years old and becoming president of Handy and Harman, one of the largest firms refining, fabricating and dealing in precious metals.

A brother, Herman B., lives at 7 W. Campbell, and a nephew, Orville Bolte, lives at 1314 Euclid. Many of his cousins still live within the village area.

The award given to Niemeyer, given only twice before, was presented to "honor consistent and dedicated leadership in support of the creative arts in the United States."

In 1945, Niemeyer established the Craft Service department at Handy and Harman, to produce and distribute educational films about hand wrought silver, to provide booklets and to advise craftsmen and teachers throughout the country.

THE DEPARTMENT also prepared and sponsored exhibitions on handwrought silver at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, as well as in museums and art institutions all over the country.

In addition, the former Arlington Heights man established a program of five silversmithing workshop conferences, sponsored by his firm as part of a non-profit educational program.

Participating in these conferences were 12 people selected from universities and schools all over the country, with lectures given by silver and gold experts, art educators and famous craftsmen from abroad.

Niemeyer opened the conferences, addressed each group and personally gave a $100 award to each teacher attending for presentation to students later. Among these conferences was one at the Rhode Island school of design in Providence, conducted by William Bennett, British master craftsman in precious metals, and by Baron Erik Fleming, court silversmith to the King of Sweden.

IN 1950, Mr. Niemeyer was honored by the jewelry trade on his 50th anniversary, and in 1955, he received the Brotherhood award for service in the field of human relations from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

He also was honored by the Allied Jewish Appeal "in appreciation of a lifetime of devotion to humanitarian needs and the furtherance of good will among all men without regard to race, creed or color."

Although he had retired, he is an active member of the Jewelers Vigilance committee, of which he has been chairman for 30 years, and which concerns itself with the establishment of standards covering the marking and sale of jewelry items and the checking and prosecution of violators of fraudulent advertising.

Reared in the village, he left it in 1902 to live and work in New York to disprove the theory that one has to be born with a silver spoon in one's mouth to reach a silver pinnacle of success. (A

The presentation was made by Mel Coobs.

Native Suburbanite Wins Jewelry Award

A native son of Arlington Heights who could hardly have been credited with being born, jaws clamped on a silver spoon, was presented with the Sterling Silversmiths Guild's annual award.

NIEMEYER, many of whose relatives still live in Arlington Heights and surrounding villages, established a "Horatio Alger" record of beginning as office boy at 17 years old and becoming president of Handy and Harman, one of the largest firms refining, fabricating and dealing in precious metals.

A brother, Herman B., lives at 7 W. Campbell, and a nephew, Orville Bolte, lives at 1314 Euclid. Many of his cousins still live within the village area.

The award given to Niemeyer, given only twice before, was presented to "honor consistent and dedicated leadership in support of the creative arts in the United States."

In 1945, Niemeyer established the Craft Service department at Handy and Harman, to produce and distribute educational films about hand wrought silver, to provide booklets and to advise craftsmen and teachers throughout the country.

THE DEPARTMENT also prepared and sponsored exhibitions on handwrought silver at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, as well as in museums and art institutions all over the country.

In addition, the former Arlington Heights man established a program of five silversmithing workshop conferences, sponsored by his firm as part of a non-profit educational program.

Participating in these conferences were 12 people selected from universities and schools all over the country, with lectures given by silver and gold experts, art educators and famous craftsmen from abroad.

Niemeyer opened the conferences, addressed each group and personally gave a $100 award to each teacher attending for presentation to students later. Among these conferences was one at the Rhode Island school of design in Providence, conducted by William Bennett, British master craftsman in precious metals, and by Baron Erik Fleming, court silversmith to the King of Sweden.

IN 1950, Mr. Niemeyer was honored by the jewelry trade on his 50th anniversary, and in 1955, he received the Brotherhood award for service in the field of human relations from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

He also was honored by the Allied Jewish Appeal "in appreciation of a lifetime of devotion to humanitarian needs and the furtherance of good will among all men without regard to race, creed or color."

Although he had retired, he is an active member of the Jewelers Vigilance committee, of which he has been chairman for 30 years, and which concerns itself with the establishment of standards covering the marking and sale of jewelry items and the checking and prosecution of violators of fraudulent advertising.

Reared in the village, he left it in 1902 to live and work in New York to disprove the theory that one has to be born with a silver spoon in one's mouth to reach a silver pinnacle of success. (A

Expert Emphasizes Role of Planning

Real estate men from the six-county Chicago metropolitan area gathered last Thursday night at the Elmhurst country club for the first formal meeting of the Northeastern Illinois Council of Real Estate Boards.

The council, which has been formed to promote thorough planning in the six-county area, heard speeches by several of the men responsible for its formation and a talk by Paul Opperman, executive director of the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning commission.

OPERATION IN his speech reiterated his theories on the necessity of careful planning in the exploding metropolitan area.

He concentrated for the most part on the tremendous transportation problem created by the millions of people moving into the area. "And DuPage county is right in the middle of it all," he said. "There will be traffic over, under, all around you. You'll have to plan for it or you won't like it."

EARLIER Opperman asked that the people become more interested in his vital subject.

"We have great material wealth," he said, "but we still are surrounded with urban obsolescence. We have agreed that planning is needed, but it's only the beginning. We have had trouble convincing the people they need it."

The real estate group has set up a three-point approach to its planning program.

It intends to stand up for local home owners in bills presented in the state general assembly, to work out careful studies in the field of transportation, and to work on problems of jurisdiction and problems that are common to realtors throughout the area. (B13

Ruth Randle, 1448 N. Yale, entertained some of her neighbors, among whom were Dee Ryan, Nancy Grassly, Ann Brown, Joan Zaucha, June Visk, Pierette Leckie, Jo Hult, Diane Moser and Isabel Chodera, as well as friends from Arlington Heights and Mt. Guests sharing the festivities, highlighted by birthday cake and ice cream, were the godparents, Jean and Ken Stevens, 1716 W. Olive.

An after-school party was held October 14 for Michael, son of Diane and Charles Moser, 1418 N. Jerri Rix, 1244 N. Chicago, and Betty Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago, were among the women who enjoyed the annual luncheon and fashion show sponsored by the Newcomers club, which, this year was held October 14 at Meo's Villa Venice.

A combination buffet supper-birthday party was held October 11 in the home of Helen and Virgil Marienau, 1334 N. Illinois, in honor of their son, Danny, 13 October 14. WHILE NANCY and Clifton Grassly, 1414 N. Yale, and their children, Janet, Beth and Clifton, remained unscathed personally by the terrible fire October 12 in their home, the fact remains that they have still been the victims of shock and inconveniences which prevail under such circumstances. However, offers for immediate shelter and assistance, according to Clifton, were so numerous that he and Nancy couldn't begin to name individual families.

Mary Lee and Clayton Lyons, 1248 N. Race, and their children, Tommy, Dick and Jane Ann, are enjoying a visit from Clayton's mother, Mrs. Ted Lyons of Pearl River, N. Y. Among activities planned during her month's stay are a day in Chicago with her daughter-in-law, visits to some of the friends Mary Lee and Clayton have made here, dinner parties and all else that would compile a memorable sojourn.

Under the capable leadership of Dominick Massa, the Virginia Terrace men's baseball team became the Arlington Heights park district champions of 1959, the members of which are Dom Massa, manager, Gene Dougherty, Carl Massa, Paul Kale, Darrel Thompson, Bill Madl, Wally Zare, Bob Martin, Paul Mitsch, Al Bade, Herb Trowe, Bill Petrucci and Tom Brennen. Sunday Dom and his wife, Mary, will entertain members of the team and their wives at cocktails in their home, 1710 Olive, at which time Dom will bestow a championship trophy to each man.

MOVING TO the Terrace October 13 were Phyllis and Walter Busch, 1420 N. Chicago, who, although born and raised in Park Ridge, moved here from an apartment in Chicago. Walter is employed as an auditor by the firm of Arthur Andersen, Chicago, and is an ardent sports fan.

A luncheon party was held last Friday for Mike, son of Polly and George Herbert, 1227 N. Chicago, in celebration of his third birthday. Under the direction of Mike's older brother, George, and sister, Sue Anne, the children, among whom were Jimmy Elf, Laurie and Wendy Miller, Bruce and Nancy Jo Wayne, Greg and Janae Schafer, Jamie Noon and Mark Gunnison, played games and received a favor.

Proud of her husband, Ernest, is Andrea Honecker, 1342 N. Chicago, the former just having completed four years of night school at Chicago's Kent college of law and more recently passing his bar exam. Ernest will be sworn in at ceremonies in Springfield November 19. While he has been with the Civic Federation of Chicago these past few years, he will join the staff of the law firm of Park, Hill, Severns and Stansell in Chicago December 1.

Cocktails, followed by a buffet supper, complete with birthday cake, was the order of the day last Sunday in the home of Dom and Mary Massa, 1710 Olive, in celebration of the 17th birthday of their son, Carl. Joining in the festivities were Carl's brother, Kenny, godparents, Ann and Charles Obert, Chicago, and confirmation godparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Trucano, Lisle, as well as aunts, uncles and cousins.

Roberta, daughter of Eleanor and Harold Altman, 1114 N. Yale, celebrated her 11th birthday last Saturday afternoon by entertaining several schoolmates, all of whom enjoyed games and birthday cake and ice cream. Monday evening the Altmans entertained aunts, uncles and cousins from Chicago, with whom they shared another birthday cake and ice cream. Also present were her sisters, Nancy, Kathleen Ann and Jean Ellen.

A JOINT celebration took place Sunday in the home of Jeanne and Raymond Parks, 1259 N. Wilke, as it was the third birthday of their daughter, Susan, and the baptismal day of their daughter, Judith. The latter was baptized early in the day at ceremonies presided over by the Reverend Bartz at St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, with Mr. and Mrs. John Heidemann, Elgin, as godparents.

A combination buffet supper-birthday party was held later in Susan's honor particularly. Present were her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Liepitz, aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Heidemann, and cousins, Linda, Sally and Billy, all of Elgin and her brother, Robert, and sisters, Nancy and Judith.

A birthday celebration was held Sunday in the home of Betty and Carl Bloom, 1345 N. Illinois, with their son, Marty, who was 9 October 20, as guest of honor. Enjoying a buffet supper, complete with birthday cake and ice cream, were his sisters, Cheryl Lynn and Wendy, and brothers, Eric and Lars, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Dahlberg, Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bloom, Roselle.

With their son, Ross, 4 October 15, and their daughter, Lucille, 2 October 14, a joint celebration was held Sunday at a family dinner party, including their brother, Robert.

Dorothy and Charles Catlin, 1609 W. Olive, spent a busy 3-day weekend attending the annual University of Illinois homecoming festivities. The weather, says Dorothy, couldn't have been nicer, and one of the highlights, of course, was the fact that Illinois won the football game. The Catlins attended several teas and enjoyed visiting their friends and professors, with another highlight being the viewing of the beautiful and clever homecoming decorations. Dorothy and Chuck stopped in Park Forest on the way home to have dinner with friends who had been unable to attend the homecoming.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Anthony Schrup, Dubuque.

The 13th birthday of Lauren, daughter of Charmaine and Charles Sayre, 1204 N. Race, was celebrated Sunday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Forsland, Chicago. Attending the buffet supper party were her brothers, William and Thomas, great-grandfather, Harold Forsland, who came in from his home in Fergus Falls, Minn., grandfather, Alvah Sayre, Chicago, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Olav Rudd, and cousins, Arlington Heights.

Pat and Bill Ross, 1252 N. Chicago, recently enjoyed a week's visit from Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McNeill, Bay Ridge, N. Y. A busy schedule was followed, including a visit to the apple orchards, attending graduation exercises at Great Lakes, dining out several times and with Pat and her mother taking a day off to have lunch and shop at the Old Orchard shopping plaza.

Library Has New Books On Russia

The visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States has stirred much interest in Russia and Russian life. What kind of people are the Russians -- what are their cities like -- how do they live -- what are the problems of the Russian man-in-the-street?

You can get reliable facts and information about Russian life in books and magazines at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

One of the most readable and informative recent books is Irving Levine's "Main Street, U.S.S.R." which gives everyday facts about all phases of Russian life.

ANOTHER RECENT look at the U.S.S.R. is John Gunther's bestseller of 1958 "Inside Russia Today." Numerous other books and articles are also available. (A

Expert Emphasizes Role of Planning

Real estate men from the six-county Chicago metropolitan area gathered last Thursday night at the Elmhurst country club for the first formal meeting of the Northeastern Illinois Council of Real Estate Boards.

The council, which has been formed to promote thorough planning in the six-county area, heard speeches by several of the men responsible for its formation and a talk by Paul Opperman, executive director of the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning commission.

OPERATION IN his speech reiterated his theories on the necessity of careful planning in the exploding metropolitan area.

He concentrated for the most part on the tremendous transportation problem created by the millions of people moving into the area. "And DuPage county is right in the middle of it all," he said. "There will be traffic over, under, all around you. You'll have to plan for it or you won't like it."

EARLIER Opperman asked that the people become more interested in his vital subject.

"We have great material wealth," he said, "but we still are surrounded with urban obsolescence. We have agreed that planning is needed, but it's only the beginning. We have had trouble convincing the people they need it."

The real estate group has set up a three-point approach to its planning program.

It intends to stand up for local home owners in bills presented in the state general assembly, to work out careful studies in the field of transportation, and to work on problems of jurisdiction and problems that are common to realtors throughout the area. (B13

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it proper to take your place card and hut cup from a banquet table as you leave?

A. You are privileged to take anything that is obviously an individual favor of the occasion. In fact, a hostess is usually pleased if you do show your appreciation of her good taste in selecting her place cards by wanting to keep yours as a memento. Be sure, however, that you are not taking any of your hostess' permanent equipment!

Q. Is it really considered proper for a woman to use scented stationery, and if so, how may she best produce this scent?

A. This is quite all right, and the best way to do this is to put a sachet bag in the drawer or box in which the stationery is kept.

Q. I have recently noticed some women wearing rings over their gloved fingers. Is this correct?

A. No, it isn't. It's all right to wear bracelets over the gloves, but not rings.

Q. Is it proper for a left-handed person to switch his coffee cup from the right to the left side of his plate in order to drinkwithh slefthandi ?E to drink with his left hand?

A. Only if there is plenty of room between him and his left-hand neighbor. A left-handed person should, however, train as gracefully and efficiently as he can.

Q. My husband and I are the godparents of a friend's child. Now that we are expecting a child of our own, is it necessary that we ask these friends to be godparents of our baby?

A. This is not at all necessary.

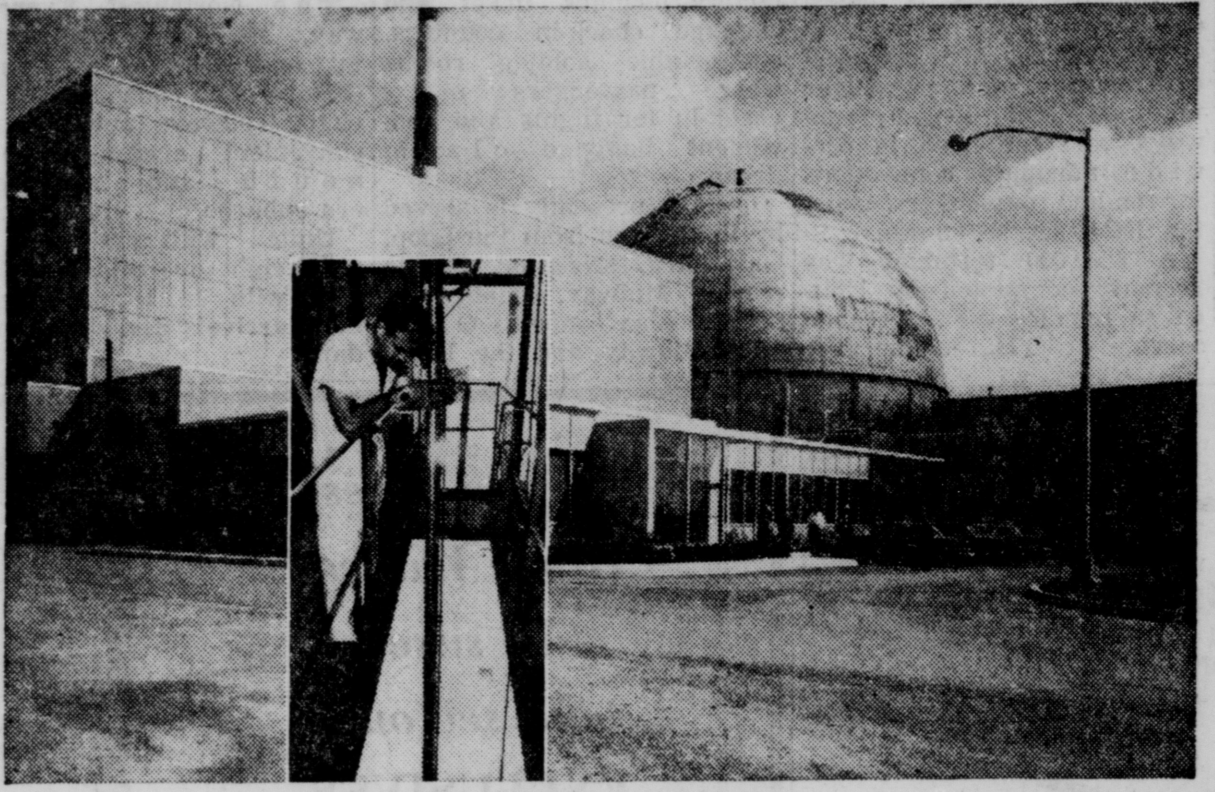
Achieve Nuclear Reaction At Dresden Power Station



NUCLEAR CHAIN REACTION was achieved last Thursday at Commonwealth Edison's Dresden nuclear power station near Morris. About six per cent of the plant's uranium fuel bundles were placed in the reaction located in the center of the 190-foot steel sphere. Insert photo shows how skilled technicians, using long grappling rods supported by cranes, guide the nuclear fuel under water into the reactor.

SUBURBANITES IN THE NEWS

Dresden numclear station, 50 miles southwest of Chicago, has achieved its first nuclear chain reaction, it was announced last week by Commonwealth Edison company and General Electric company.

This initial fissioning is the first step in the reactor testing program at Dresden. It will be followed by several months of further testing before the first electricity is produced early next year. Full operation of the station is scheduled for mid-1960, or about six months ahead of the original schedule.

COMMONWEALTH'S Dresden Station will be the first full scale privately-financed atomic power plant to go into operation in the United States. Its nuclear power reactor is larger than any now operating or under construction in the country.

Criticality - the first chain reaction - was reached after General Electric and Commonwealth Edison scientists and engineers placed about six per cent of the plants uranium fuel elements will be loaded into the reactor.

Triggering of the first Dresden chain nuclear reaction was accomplished by withdrawing a number of the reactor's 80 stainless steel control rods a predetermined distance out of the bottom of the core. Movement of the rods was regulated from the central control room in the plant's adjoining turbine - generator building.

LOADING OF FUEL into the reactor core involves the moving of 11-foot-long fuel elements from the nearby fuel storage building through 40 - foot - deep, water filled tunnel into the 190-foot steel sphere which houses the reactor.

Skilled technicians load fuel elements into the reactor's honeycomb-like core from above, using long grappling rods supported by cranes. The fuel elements, each containing 36 zirconium alloy-clad fuel rods, are guided visually into the water-filled reactor vessel.

When completely loaded, the reactor core will contain 65 tons of fuel. Its first full load of uranium dioxide fuel, slightly enriched to 1.5 per cent of U-235, is expected to last about three and one-half years. This would be long enough for a coal fired plant of the same size to burn approximately 2 million tons of coal.

WHEN THE 180,000-kilowatt nuclear plant is turned over to Commonwealth EEdison by General Electric next year, it will be producing enough electricity to supply the needs of a city of 200,000.

Electric power will be produced early next year when steam generated inside the reactor turns the turbine-generator in an adjoining building. Dresden electricity will be distributed over the Commonwealth interconnected system in Chicago and Northern Illinois.

General Electric Company is building Dresden for a fixed price of $45,000,000. Bechtel Corporation of San Francisco is engineer-constructor.

OF THE $45,000,000 contract price, Commonwealth Edison is paying $30,000,000 plus something over $6,000,000 of site and overhead costs. The Nuclear Power Group is paying the $15,000,000 balance of the contract price as a research and development expense.

Members of the Nuclear Power Group include Commonwealth and Bechtel and American Electric Power Service Corporation, Central Illinois Light Company, Illinois Power Company, Kansas City Power & Light Company, Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the Union Electric Company.

United Ups O'Hare Flights From 32 to 102 on Sunday

United Air Lines will become the first airline to make a major move to O'Hare International Airport Sunday, when it begins operation of 60 per cent of its passenger flights from Chicago's jet airport.

United's operations at O'Hare will increase from 32 arrivals and departures to 102 in a single day. The company, largest air carrier serving Chicago, will maintain 72 daily operations at Midway Airport.

United will add to its O'Hare flight frequentcy with the inauguration of Douglas DC-8 Jet Mainliner service to San Francisco October 28 and to Los Angeles Oct. 31.

Transfer of the majority of United's flights is based on easy public access to O'Hare via toll highways and expressways, new passenger facilities and longer runways, and the need to provide adequate connections for on-line passengers using the DC-8 jet schedules.

A $500,000 terminal was recently completed by United to handle the increased service at O'Hare. The new facility includes ticket and baggage check-in counters, comfortable holding rooms where passengers may check-in for flights and convenient baggage claim areas.

O'Hare presently is served by limousines from the Loop, Oak Park, Evanston, Skokie and Midway. Helicopter service also connects O'Hare with Midway and the Loop.

The Northwest Expressway, slated for completion in mid-1960, will link O'Hare with downtown Chicago. Tollways now provide convenient access from south and southwestern suburbs.

United will maintain its air freight operation at Midway with 14 DC-6A Cargoliner arrivals and departures daily.

Wieboldts to Open Meadowdale Store

Wieboldt Stores, Inc. will be open for business Thursday, November 5, in their newest department store in the Meadowdale shopping center at Carpentersville, near highway 25 (Elgin road) and highway 62 (Algonquin road).

Wieboldt's informal opening November 5 is in the nature of a "preview" look at the new store. Official grand opening will be on November 11.

JAMES F. TOBIN, president of the 76-year-old department store chain, emphasized that the new Wieboldt's is a complete department store — the eighth off-spring of Wieboldt's "76 spirited years" in the Chicagoland area. "From the markets of the globe," Tobin said, "the resources of our giant organization are at the suburban customer's beck and call. Wieboldt's is a husky big family of department stores. Our newest member is by far the biggest, most complete department store in the whole fast growing Fox River Valley."

Tobin pointed out that this is "the same Wieboldt business which has been serving the people of this area with policies of fair pricing and friendly, neighborly service for a few generations now. and not only do we offer enormous selection of quality big brand name merchandise, but we offer unusually convenient credit facilities. We especially recommend our 'VIP' (variable installment plan) type of flexible account." (BB

Wieboldts to Open Meadowdale Store

Wieboldt Stores, Inc. will be open for business Thursday, November 5, in their newest department store in the Meadowdale shopping center at Carpentersville, near highway 25 (Elgin road) and highway 62 (Algonquin road).

Wieboldt's informal opening November 5 is in the nature of a "preview" look at the new store. Official grand opening will be on November 11.

JAMES F. TOBIN, president of the 76-year-old department store chain, emphasized that the new Wieboldt's is a complete department store — the eighth off-spring of Wieboldt's "76 spirited years" in the Chicagoland area. "From the markets of the globe," Tobin said, "the resources of our giant organization are at the suburban customer's beck and call. Wieboldt's is a husky big family of department stores. Our newest member is by far the biggest, most complete department store in the whole fast growing Fox River Valley."

Tobin pointed out that this is "the same Wieboldt business which has been serving the people of this area with policies of fair pricing and friendly, neighborly service for a few generations now. and not only do we offer enormous selection of quality big brand name merchandise, but we offer unusually convenient credit facilities. We especially recommend our 'VIP' (variable installment plan) type of flexible account." (BB

Use Undiscovered Vertical Space

While family activities get more diversified every day, living rooms seem to stay persistently the same size- or even get smaller- as additional bedrooms, family rooms and dining areas are ingeniously juxtaposed in the same-sized house.

Keeping the living room invitingly gracious as it absorbs more and more of today's "essential" living accessories is forcing the homemaker to take a long, new look at her living-room, through 3 - dimensional glasses, according to an adviser at Petersen's Furniture in Arlington Heights.

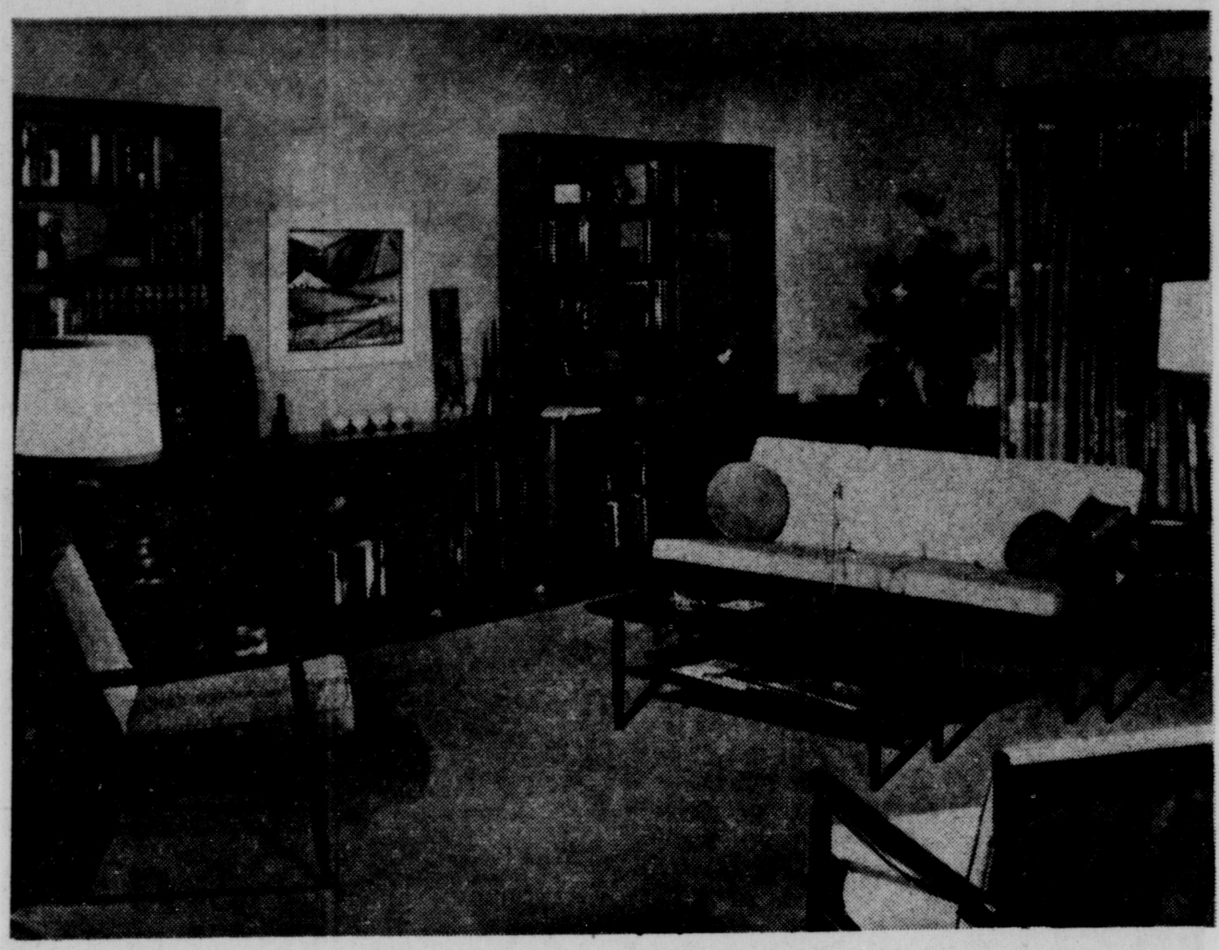
DON'T FORGET that when architectural considerations literally stop you from expanding out you can always go up — up the wide-open, practically "undiscovered" spaces of your four walls. Smart looking shelves and storage units can be as colorfully attractive as a lovely painting, and as inherently "different" as your most personal possession.

Just how you create your own "living" wall depends to some extent on the home situation: a home-owner can build-in if he wishes, the family who rents must be circumspect about just one nail. The wise answer for any family could well be the selection of flexible "modular" shelf and storage units which have been architecturally engineered to fit any wall as personally as if they had been cut and constructed on the premises.



FLEXIBLE STORAGE units that go up the wall and add welcome floor space to today's limited living areas are these Birchcraft custom room plan units by Baumritter.

UNITS SUCH as these Birchcraft Custom Room Plan upper and lower storage pieces have been specifically designed to go up; they hug the wall and use up as little floor space as is physically possible. Base units are available in a new and extra-narrow 14 inch depth, come with flush sides to permit grouping the cabinets into a continuous, unbroken architectural line.

Upper shelf units vary in width for maximum versatility, but maintain a standard height to parallel the ceiling line. Styling is trim, casual modern to provide an uncluttered "frame" for books and accessories, boasts a warm chestnut brown color that integrates comfortably with either light or dark woods in occasional and upholstered pieces.

ESPECIALLY interesting for the young family is the fact that these mass-produced Custom Room Plan storage units are much less expensive to buy than built-ins. They move from one room to another as needs change and the family grows, and they can be purchased year-by-year from a large open-stock collection of correlated furniture.

BAKER FAMILY NURSERY, Inc.

CLearbrook 3-4760 Arlington Heights

Insurance Company Stages Car Clinic

A compact car clinic, designed to better acquaint Allstate Insurance companies' claims people with new models of smaller cars, has brought what is believed to be the first automobile show held in an insurance building to Allstate's home office in Skokie.

President Judson B. Branch said the clinic is the first of a series of meetings for Allstate claims employes throughout the country to thoroughly familiarize them with damage and repair characteristics of the new compact and small car models.

"This program will enable our specialists to give owners of the smaller cars the same fast, skillful claims service that standard-size automobile owners receive," he declared.

IN ADDITION to providing actual models for study by the companies' claims personnel, the display also has provided a unique opportunity for employes and their families to inspect, side-by-side, seven makes of American and foreign cars. Included in the show are the Studebaker Lark, Rambler American, Chevrolet Corvair, Ford Falcin, Renault Dauphine, Volkswagen, and the Triumph TR-10. All the cars were loaned by Chicagi area dealers.

Following the show at Allstate's home office, a display will be held in the companies' Illinois regional office, also in Skokie. Other shows are also being planned at several of the Sears, Roebuck and company stores in the Chicago area.

Allstate recently announced a 10 per cent discount on insurance premiums for compact and small cars, the first rate reduction offered by a major automobile insurer specifically to owners of these cars. The reduction is effective November 1 in states where this program has been submitted to the state insurance department and received its approval.

THE SPECIAL discount will apply to bodily injury, property damage, collision and medical payments coverages for private passenger autos of limited size, weight, horsepower and price.

Cars eligible for the savings, in addition to those on display, include models of the Hillman, Vauxhall, English Ford, Fiat, Simca, Opel, and certain other makes. The Chrysler Valiant sedans, scheduled for introduction later this month, also are expected to qualify.

Compact car claims service is offered at all regular Allstate locations, including more than 200 drive-in claim offices, Branch noted.

As with all automobile damage claims involving an Allstate policyholder, if the car is movable and won't be further harmed by operating it, the owner is invited to take it to one of the drive-in claim offices where the car is inspected and settlement is made in many cases in 30 minutes or less.

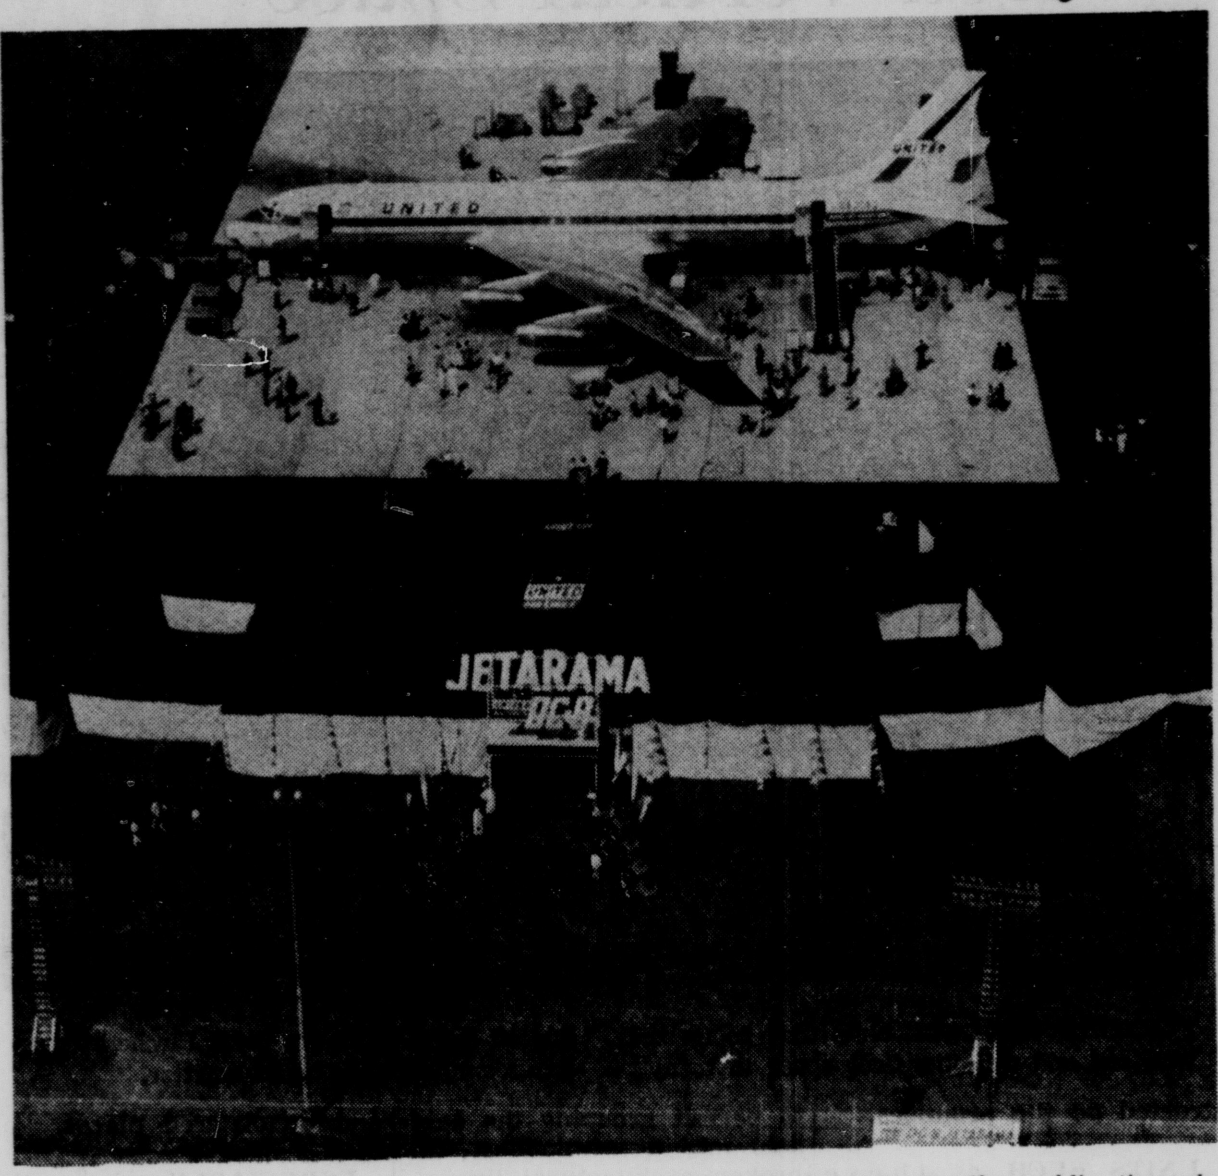
Jetarama at O'Hare Today



JETARAMA, United Air Lines production to introduce the DC-8 jet to the Chicago area public, will be open to the public through Sunday at O'Hare international airport.

Jetarama, an elaborate jet air fair presented by United Air Lines to introduce the Douglas DC-8 Jet Mainliner, will begin a one-week showing at O'Hare International Airport today, Thursday.

Occupying more than 140,000 square feet of ramp area, Jetarama will be the largest exhibit ever staged by an air transport company and the first to spotlight the nation's Jet Age.

Inside three tents, United will present displays featuring jet planning, operations and service. Star of the show will be the $5,000,000 Douglas DC-8, surrounded by specially - designed ground equipment.

The admission-free fair will be open to Chicagoland residents Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In the center tent, exhibits on jet crew training, flight operations, aircraft maintenance and communications will be featured. United's new $16 million reservations system, the latest innovations in passenger express check-in facilities and extensive weather and radar displays will also be on view.

In the second tent visitors will see the J-57 jet engine, the type used to power the DC-8. Mockups of the thrust-brake, sound suppressor, electrical equipment and landing gear are featured.

In the third tent there will be a full-scale mockup of a DC-8 cabin section, displays of meal service to jet passengers and a 15-foot rotating model of the new jet.

Tub - shaped baggage containers developed for automatic on-an-of loading and a motion picture illustrating the development of the DC-8 are also featured.

Jetarama required more than two years of preparation and six months of construction. The entire production, including a staff of 40, will move from city to city in three United DC-6A Cargoliners. After the Chicago showing, Jetarama will move to New York and Washing, Baltimore. Other cities will see Jetarama in 1960.

Among the ranks of "blue ribbon" exhibitors at the big 41st National Metal Exposition and Congress Nov. 2-6 in Chicago will be two area firms, Charles Bruning Co., 1800 W. Central rd., Mt. Prospect, and Precision Extrusions, 720 E. Green st., Bensenville, according to a news bulletin from the American Society for Metals, sponsor of the "Metal Show"

The Metal Show, in the International Amphitheatre, will feature latest materials, products, processes and techniques in the multi-billion-dollar metalworking industry, according to Allan Ray Putnam, managing director of the metals engineering society. There will be 400 exhibitors.

Theme of the major annual industrial exposition is "Materials and Fabrication Preview of the Soaring '60's." Attendance of 50,000 is expected.

50 2-Story Homes Being Built Here

A return to the full, two-story house in Chicago's northwest suburban area is foreshadowed in plans announced today for a $1,335,000 residential development on newly improved acreage along Golf Road, east of Washington ave., in Maine township.

William Alter, president of Alter Realty, Inc., whose firm developed the property, said "50 prestige homes at modest cost" are planned for completion within the next year.

According to Marshall Leib, architect for Sandra Builders, Inc., of 3312 W. Peterson ave., the roomy, five-bedroom houses proposed are "an answer to the growing desire on the part of home-buyers for the expansive living a two-story house allows."

In addition, a newly-designed, "expansible split ranch" style house is also planned for the development in which models are now under construction at 2526 and 2532 Golf Road.

F. A. Donnelly Appointed to Board of Trade

Francis A. Donnelly, 1817 Durham rd., Palatine, has been elected to membership on the Chicago Board of Trade, according to Warren W. Lebeck, secretary of the Exchange.

The Board of Trade has been in continuous existence since 1848 and is the world's largest marketing institution for agricultural food and fiber. The volume of business transacted at the Exchange through its 1,422 members located in nearly 40 states and foreign countries, is approximately $21 billion a year.

Donnelly is president of the Frank A. Donnelly Corp., 110 N. Franklin st., Chicago. He is a member of the Lake Shore Athletic Club, the Executives Club of Chicago and the Inverness Country Club. A graduate of Niagara University in New York, Donnelly served with the US Armed Forces in War II.

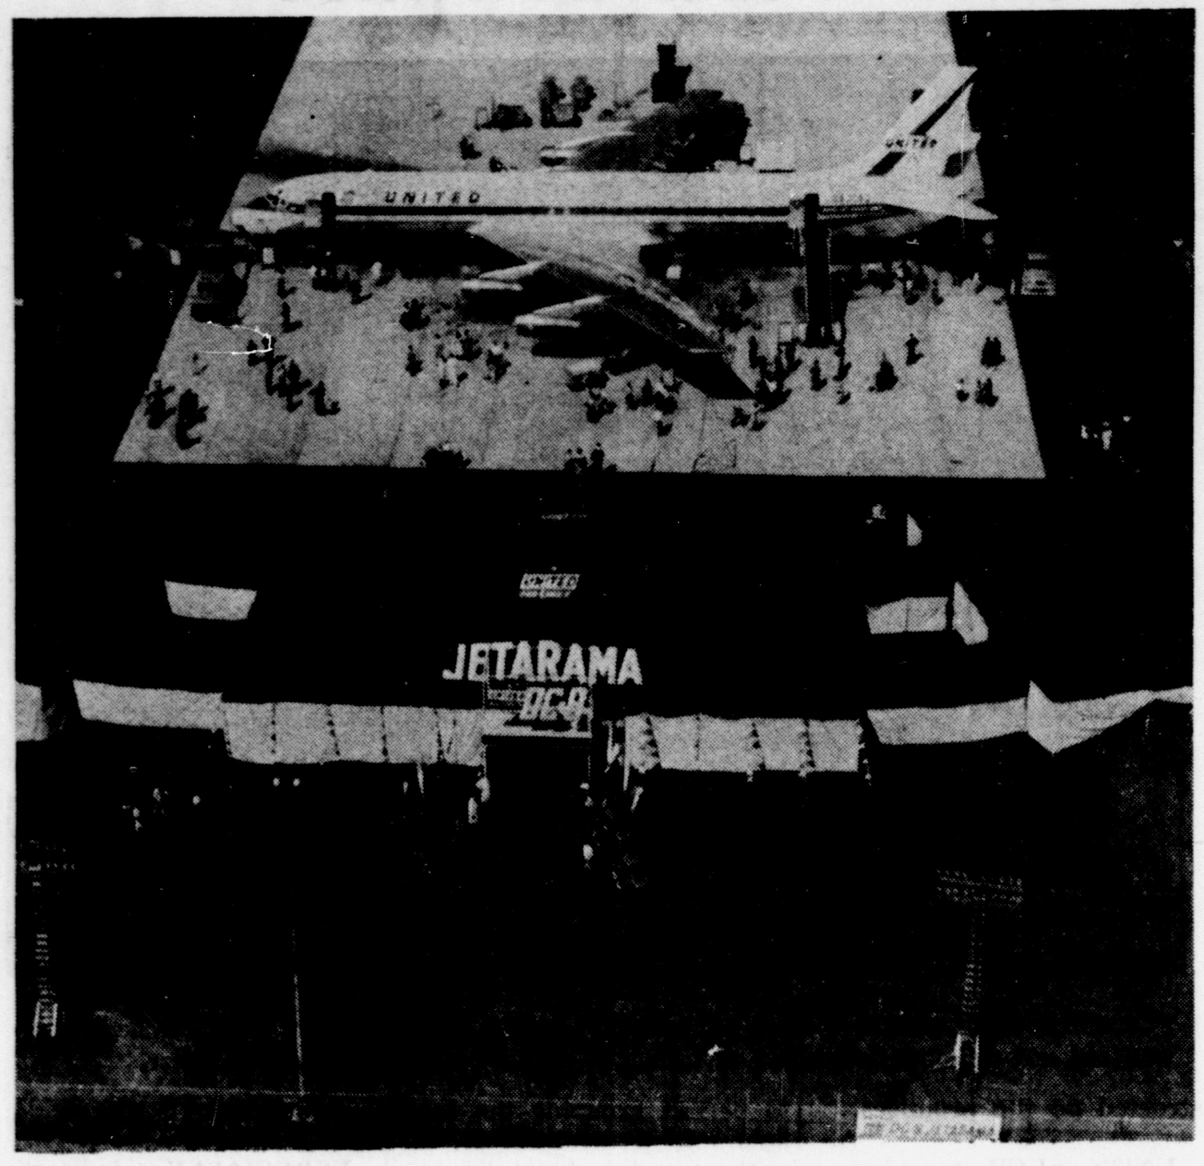
Jetarama at O'Hare Today



JETARAMA, United Air Lines production to introduce the DC-8 jet to the Chicago area public, will be open to the public through Sunday at O'Hare international airport.

Jetarama, an elaborate jet air fair presented by United Air Lines to introduce the Douglas DC-8 Jet Mainliner, will begin a one-week showing at O'Hare International Airport today, Thursday.

Occupying more than 140,000 square feet of ramp area, Jetarama will be the largest exhibit ever staged by an air transport company and the first to spotlight the nation's Jet Age.

Inside three tents, United will present displays featuring jet planning, operations and service. Star of the show will be the $5,000,000 Douglas DC-8, surrounded by specially-designed ground equipment.

The admission-free fair will be open to Chicagoland residents Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In the center tent, exhibits on jet crew training, flight operations, aircraft maintenance and communications will be featured. United's new $16 million reservations system, the latest innovations in passenger express check-in facilities and extensive weather and radar displays will also be on view.

In the second tent visitors will see the J-57 jet engine, the type used to power the DC-8. Mockups of the thrust-brake, sound suppressor, electrical equipment and landing gear are featured.

In the third tent there will be a full-scale mockup of a DC-8 cabin section, displays of meal service to jet passengers and a 15-foot rotating model of the new jet.

Tub-shaped baggage containers developed for automatic on-an-of loading and a motion picture illustrating the development of the DC-8 are also featured.

Jetarama required more than two years of preparation and six months of construction. The entire production, including a staff of 40, will move from city to city in three United DC-6A Cargoliners. After the Chicago showing, Jetarama will move to New York and Washing, Baltimore. Other cities will see Jetarama in 1960.

Trucks as Stylish as Cars

Ford Brings Out Its 1960 Models

Trucks are no longer the "country cousins" they once were, and that fact was never more evident than in the 1960 Ford truck line.

"What's more," says George W. Walker, Ford Motor Company vice president and director of styling, "styling improvement and particularly the brightening of truck interiors has added greatly to the comfort, convenience and security of the driver — factors which in turn contribute to the safety of operation by lessening fatigue."

ALTHOUGH basic utility is a far greater factor in selecting a truck than a passenger car, the truck's functional appearance has become more and more important to truck owners in recent years.

"The owner's investment in the truck he purchases is a major consideration," Walker says. "This is true not only of the vehicle's initial value in terms of its usable workpower, but also of its resale value. And the resale value of a truck with modern functional yet enduring styling is considerably higher than the resale value of one designed with only functionalism in mind.

"If the truck has an already proven yet advanced styling concept and has so stimulated pride of ownership that it has been well maintained, the vehicle obviously will command a higher resale price."

THE revoluntionary process that has led to the ultimate in utility and distinction represented in the Ford truck design has been a long one. It may have begun more than 50 years ago when the Runabout — one of the popular passenger car body styles of the day — was adapted for use as a "delivery wagon."

Despite advancements in pay load capacities and engine and chassis design, trucks for many years remained largely unchanged in their over-all appearance. They were considered to be merely workhorses. No one cared particularly how they looked, as long as they were capable of doing a specific job.

Perhaps one of the first big milestones in truck styling was the use of the curved windshield. This was followed by the full-wrap windshield and the wrap-around backlight, a lower overall height, encolsed running boards and an increase in the width of the cab.

THE NEXT BIG step forward came when Ford brought the pickup box out to the full width of the cab and the hang-on fenders were eliminated. Efforts to achieve maximum engine accessibility eventually led to the development of an entirely new front end organization with a full-width hood.

But developments in the treatment of the interior provide what is probably one of the most important contributions to truck operators through the years.

Not too long ago, a drab, dark vinyl seat, usually dull brown or dark green, was the popular conception of what a truck interior should look like. The only concern seemed to be that it must not show soil.

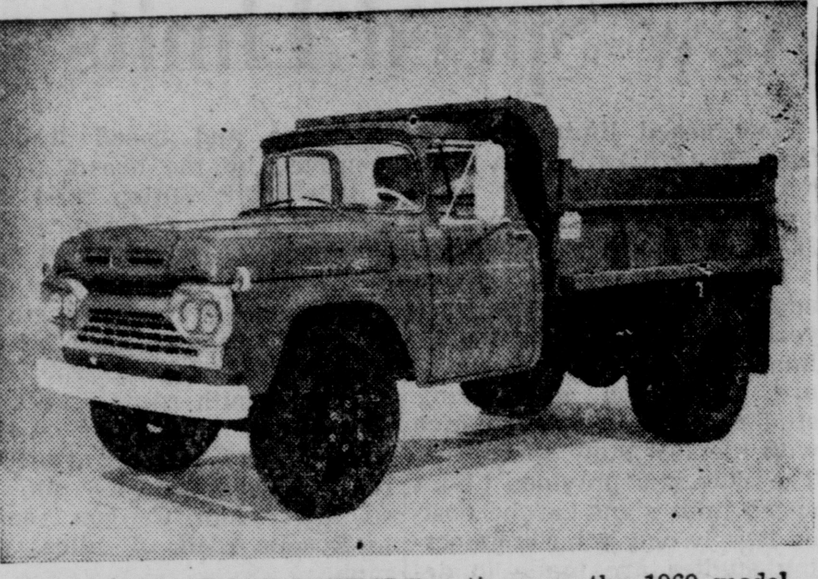
IN 1953, IN an effort to provide interiors that had a clean look, Ford introduced its "Driverized Cab," and came forth with a gray and red all-vinyl seat. By 1955, this combination had evolved into a much brighter red and a lighter gray. Saran woven fabrics that literally breathed and were soil-resistant were used to add to driver comfort, thus improving design while contributing to driver ef while contributing to driver efficiency and basic truck functionalism.

The 1957 Ford truck cabs carried this emphasis on "driver efficiency through comfort" a step further with the suggestion of a paneled seat back and cushion achived by weaving in a dark strip to match the vinyl bolster.

AND NOW, with the introduction of the 1960 Ford truck line, stylists have achieved a near-perfect blending of comfort, effiency and striking appearance. By comparison with the very limited number of interior trim combinations offered in the earlier days of truck styling, more than a dozen different combinations — both standard and optional — are available for 1960.

"More than ever before," Walker says, "Ford trucks for 1960 will make truck operators as much at home and at ease in their truck cab as they are in their living room."



MAXIMUM GROSS VEHICLE ratings on the 1960 model Ford F-600 have been increased to 21,000 pounds and the addition of an optional 16,000 pound two-speed rear axle provides up to a 15 per cent greater torque capacity. Advanced engineering in Ford's 1960 truck line permits greater versatility and improved over-all operational economy and durability. The popular F-600 now offers a choice of four gross vehicle weight ratings—17,000, 18,000, 19,500 or 21,000 pounds.

New Speed Limits Fixed For 27 County Highways

New speed limits ranging from 30 to 55 miles an hour have been fixed by the county board for sections of 27 county roads.

The speed zones, like those adopted earlier in the past year and approved by the Illinois division of highways, are based on engineering studies made in conformance with the 1957 state speed law. Hints To Home Owners

Assistant Farm Advisor

Attractive plants are an essential part of the grounds around a home.

October is the time to plant trees and shrubs. Good quality plants should be purchased from a reliable nursery. Large plants and evergreens should be balled and burlapped. The ball should be firm and in proportion to the size of the plant. Some small bushes and trees can have bare roots.

If the plants cannot be set out immediately after purchase they should be put in the shade and watered. Holes for planting should be dug at least one and one-half times the diameter and depth of the ball on the plant. If the soil is heavy or drainage is poor, sand and organic matter should be mixed with the soil removed from the hole.

Here are steps to follow for successful planting. Replace some soil in the hole and set the plant so that the top of the ball is slightly below ground level. Untie any ropes around the stem of the plant but do not remove the burlap. Replace the rest of the soil, tamping to firm it as the hole is filled. When the hole is filled to the level of the ball, use the remaining soil to form a ring around the edge of the hole. This ring will help to hold water during rains or when the plant is watered. Immediately after planting, the plant should be well watered, even though the soil is wet, to firm the soil around the ball. The plant should be watered carefully for the first year including during the winter, on evergreens, if there is no snow or rain.

SOME YOUNG deciduous trees such as hard maples are susceptible to sunscald which cracks the bark of the trunk during winter. These trees should be wrapped with a good treated paper and securely tied.

Tall trees should be staked to keep them from blowing over during high winds. It is usually necessary to support large trees from all sides. Small trees can be held with two tall stakes driven into the ground on either side of the trunk. Whatever the method, be sure to protect the trunk of the tree from the support wires. One of the best methods is to run the wire through cut up sections of garden hose any place wires contact the tree. (BB

Early fall is considered the best time to plant one of the most popular garden perennials, peonies. These plants are familiar to and appreciated by almost everyone. They are one of the most showy and most easily grown of all garden flowers.

Most peony varieties originated from two species, Paeona albiflora and Paeonae chinensis. The species are rarely planted, but centuries of crossing have resulted in the many varieties and types which beautify our gardens in late spring.

Peony flowers are classified according to the amount of doubleness. Singles have five petals and a multitude of stamens. The transformation of these stamens into petal-like structures is what produces doubleness. Japanese types have two to three rows of petals and strap-like stamens. Fully double peonies are known as rose or bomb types. The American Peony society lists other intermediate types but the three general categories are usually enough for accurate classification.

DOUBLE PEONIES are sterile, and cannot be reproduced from seeds. The single and Japanese varieties are hybrids, and even though they may produce seeds, the resultant plants may be quite unlike their parents.

Peonies are almost always propagated by division of the large storage roots called tuber. The divisions should be made in September so that they can make new roots before winter. The Tubers should be divided into sections containing three to five eyes. Plant the sections so that the top eye is about two inches below the surface of the soil. Too deep or too shallow planting is often the cause of failure to bloom. Large clumps cannot be moved. When it is necessary to move a plant it must be divided and the small pieces planted.

Peonies will not bloom the year following division. If a bud is formed, it should be picked off. The third year after planting, satisfactory blooming should begin.

Peonies make large plants so allow plenty of room for them to expand.

Once established, they do not like to be disturbed. Few diseases or insects attack peonies. Ants, often prolific on peonies, cause much undue concern. They do not hurt the plants, but remove the sweet material secreted by the buds. (B

Model Railroad Enthusiasts Meet

Model railroaders from the northwest suburbs will gather Saturday at Palatine Township high school for the fall convention of the Midwest Region of the National Model Railroad association.

The region includes about 50 clubs in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and parts of Michigan and Iowa. Total regional membership is about 1,200.

Each club is making a shadow box railroad scene for display in the schools lobby and five classrooms. According to Charles Love, 230 W. Kenilworth, Palatine, Treasurer of the Northwest Cannonball Model railroad club, clinics and movies will also be featured at the convention. The movie is to be an old Buster Keaton Civil War railroad saga.

ANYONE IS invited to attend the convention. Cost is $5.50 for registration and a banquet in the school cafeteria at noon, or $2.50 for registration alone.

Love, also President of the Midwest region and on the board of trustees of the National Model Railroad club, said model railroaders were a diversified group of people, including from students, laborers, and executives. He said one member in 50 is a woman.

The Northwest club with members from Mt. Prospect to Crystal Lake meets twice a month in the Palatine Park district field house. (B8

Fall Fiesta Spells Fun At Edens

Shopping at Edens Plaza shopping center will be more fun than ever during its Fall Fiesta. Corn stalks and pumpkins decorate the scene, and in each store window pumpkin faces decorated with tricks of the trade are featured.

There will be free pumpkins and free trick or treat bags for the children. Thursday and Friday, Oct. 22 and 23, 3:30 to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 24 9:30 to 5:30 Mr. Scarecrow will greet the children. At the same time caricaturist Davo will paint funny faces on the pumpkins chosen for the children.

Fall Fiesta events will continue through November.

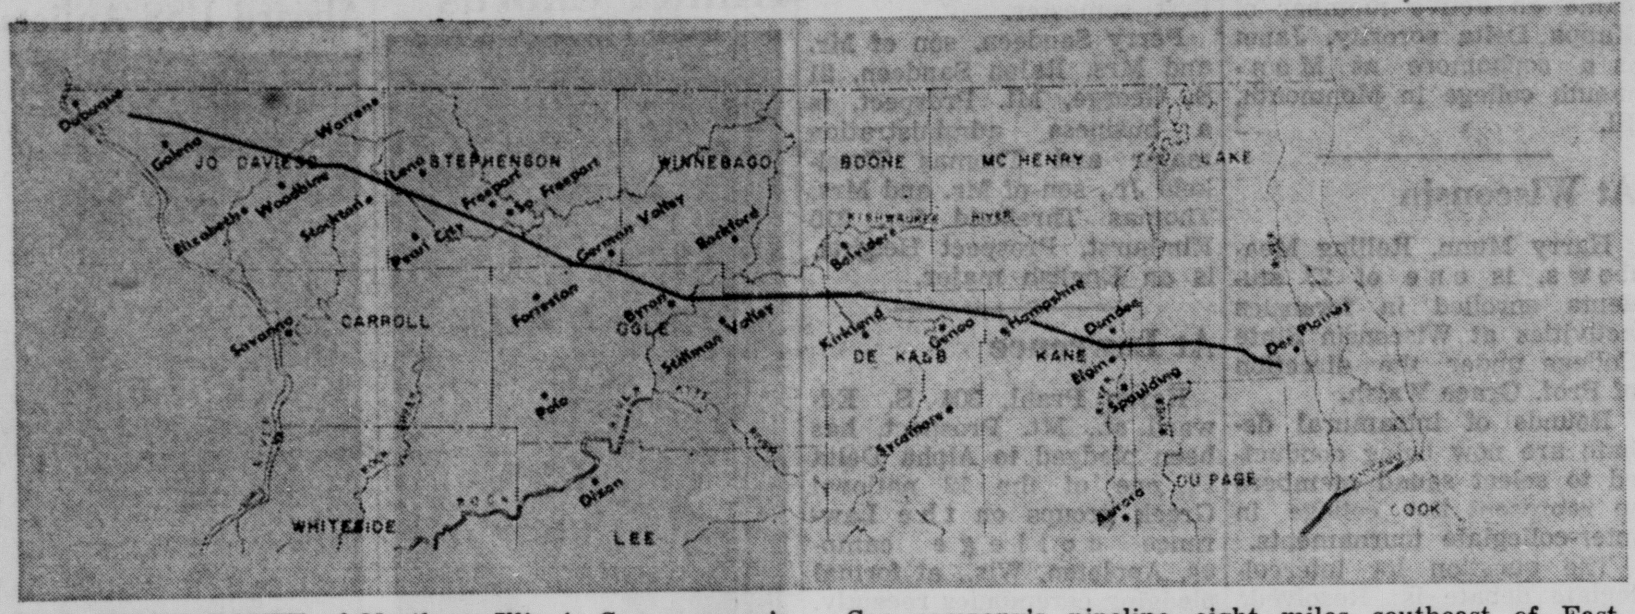
Northern Illinois Gas Co. Opens $12 Million Pipeline

Smoking, whining, chugging, the gigantic machines steadily moved eastward, installing Northern Illinois Gas company's pipeline.

Tunneled under roads and railways and submerged in crossing rivers and creeks, the pipeline winds its way, up and down the rolling countryside, from near East Dubuque to Des Plaines.

Many different operations—one behind the other—were needed in building the 140-mile-long, 22-inch diameter pipeline. About 270 men and 60 giant machines were on the job.



MAP SHOWS ROUTE of Northern Illinois Gas company's new 140-mile pipeline from near East Dubuque to Des Plaines. The line will receive 50 million cubic feet of natural gas daily from an extension of Northern Natural Gas company's pipeline eight miles southeast of East Dubuque. Official turn-on ceremonies of the new facilities were held Thursday.

First came the trail-blazers. They surveyed, made gates in fences, removed trees with gasoline-powered portable saws, and generally cleared the right-of-way. Bulldozers then moved in to level the strip of land and finish the clearing operation.

HUGE cranes unloaded the pipe from railroad cars and stockpiled it in five strategically-located points: Woodbine, South Freeport, Byron, Kirkland, and Spaulding (just southeast of Elgin).

Loaded and unloaded by the cranes, big tractor-trailers shuttled the sections of pipe from the stockpiles to the right-of-way. There it was "strung out," laid end-to-end along the route.

Next came the trenching machines. Their 12-foot-diameter scooped-rimmed wheels cut a furrow a yard wide and six feet deep. Creeping slowly but constantly eastward, they excavated about a half million cubic yards of earth.

The line was shaped to follow the snaking trench by a pipe-bending machine. This made bends of up to 22 degrees.

WELDING crews followed. Leap-frogging east, they joined pipe sections with four-layer welds at the rate of one every two minutes, eventually making one continuous pipeline 140 miles long. An X-ray machine immediately checked the welds.

The next series of machines was the heart of the installation. Called "primers" and "dopers," the machines girdled the pipe, riding along it. The "primer" scoured off dirt and rust and applied a thin coating of protective paint. The "doper" swished an eighth-inch coat of tar onto the pipe and then wove a protective wrapping of fiberglass and tar-impregnated asbestos from four revolving rolls.

This is "protection," the continuous insulation around the pipe to prevent rust and corrosion.

Just before the pipeline was lowered into the trench by giant "Cat" sidebooms, the pipe was checked electronically again to assure there were no faults.

AND THEN it was covered over. Powered by winched cables of a "Cat," the scoop dragged the ridge of excavated earth back into the ditch.

Clean-up operations followed, restoring the property and returning it to normal usage.

But more checks on the line were still to come. The pipe's interior was cleaned and tested thoroughly before being put into use.

During installation, many precautions were taken to protect property from damage.

Take roads, for instance. Large machines bored tunnels underneath, and the pipe was inserted without breaking through the road surface. When machines crossed the roads, they moved carefully, riding on rubber tires so their tracks would not cut up the asphalt or concrete.

It is a big pipeline. It is $12 million of underground tubular expressway, bringing 50 million cubic feet of natural gas to Northern Illinois Gas every day, automatically.

THE NEW pipeline from East Dubuque to Des Plaines officially was turned on today.

Officials who participated in brief ceremonies included George R. Perrine, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, as well as NI-Gas President Marvin Chandler and John F. Merriam, president of Northern Natural.

Started late in June, NI-Gas' new pipeline marks the second large supply addition NI-Gas has received from new pipelines this fall. Earlier this month Midwestern Gas Transmission company turned on its new Tennessee to Joliet pipeline which will afford NI-Gas a daily supply of 60 million cubic feet of natural gas.

The two new gas supplies, amounting to an increase of 28 per cent in NI-Gas pipeline supply over last winter, enabled the utility to authorize 127,500 home space heat installations this year.

NI-Gas now has caught up with its residential heating list and is offering gas heat to non-residential customers on a limited basis. (B8

Area Pastors Hear Boy Scout Leader

E. C. Hogan Jr., assistant national director of Protestant Relationships for the Boy Scouts of America, recently spent a day in conference with local Protestant pastors and ministers on the relationships between local churches and the Northwest Suburban Scout Council.

At a luncheon gathering, Hogan stressed the need for continued cooperation in integrating the Boy Scout program with the total program of Christian Education throughout the various Protestant denominations. He pointed out that since inception of Scouting nearly fifty years ago, Scouting has always worked with and through existing institutions in every community, offering to every institution a proven wholesome program attractive to boys that they can use as part of the youth program of their institution.

HOGAN pointed out the fact that since the area composing the Northwest Suburban Council is the fastest growing area in the middle west, and one of the five fastest growing in the country, the need for a strong Protestant Relationships committee is most urgent. This committee, composed of clergy and laymen, work with the council of churches, ministerial associations, and other Protestant groups to strengthen the working relationships between the Boy Scout organization and Protestant churches.

A prime concern of a Protestant Scout committee would be the promotion of the various church awards among pastors and Scout leaders. All Protestant denominations have an award developed by the church, for presentation only to Scouts who meet certain requirements. The "God and Country Award" - "Pro deo et Patria" award of the Lutheran Church - "Alpha and Omega" award of the Eastern Orthodox Church and others, are among the most coveted awards any Scout can earn.

THE LOCAL Scout Council whose long range plan, indicates a growth of more than twice the present number registered in the program, is expanding every effort to increase the understanding between the institutions and Scouting in the communities it serves, so that every boy will have an opportunity to participate in this program when he desires to join. RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000 LOSS TO THE NATION—INCLUDING YOU—EVERY YEAR

Featherbedding on the railroads — pay for work not done or not needed — is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman — even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

AMERICAN RAILROADS

a frank statement on St. Paul Federal's DIVIDEND POLICY

Here's why we pay you a 4% rate now from money already in the till

Directors of St. Paul Federal believe that no one can safely anticipate future dividends. The soundest, most realistic policy is to declare dividends on realized profits and not on anticipated earnings.

Hence, our new 4 per cent rate is payable in the current period, July 1st through December 31st. This means money to you — six months of additional income on savings.

To put it still another way, St. Paul's nine directors took a look into the cash drawer and declared dividends on the earnings they saw there.

Fact is, the St. Paul board meets every month and the Executive Committee every week. They watch income and expenses closely and are prepared to pay you the highest dividends possible without delay!

Summed up, our dividend policy and conservative ideals eliminate any worry about your savings or dividends at St. Paul. You can always depend on the return of your money when you want it — and a goodly return from your money while in a St. Paul account.

We invite your savings account now.

Boxelder Bug Guests, Are Fall House Pests

If you have any boxelder trees around the house, you may find some unwelcome guests in your home one of these cool fall mornings.

Boxelder bugs are content to stay in or under boxelder trees during the summer, happily feeding on the developing seeds.

But when cool weather gets here, these little creatures seek protection. And if they can find any cracks or crevices in your house, they'll crawl in — completely uninvited.

You'll see them clinging to the south and west sides of the house on warm winter days, soaking up the sunshine.

THOSE THAT get inside don't eat anything - either food or cloth, but they do spot up curtains and wallpaper and make themselves quite a nuisance, especially when company comes.

One way to control these pests would be to cut down all seed bearing boxelder trees in the community. But that is a rather drastic measure.

Another way to halt their march into your home would be to caulk all cracks and crevices. But the job would have to be very thorough, and even then some bugs would still get in around doors and windows.

Insecticides are your best hope for practical control.

A ½ per cent spray of lindane will give a quick kill. You can get the right mixture by adding ½ pint of 20 per cent lindane concentrate to 2½ gallons of water. A quarter pint of 15 per cent dieldrin concentrate in two gallons of water will do the job too.

IF YOU SEE a lot of bugs around boxelder trees, thoroughly spray their trunks and the ground near the trees. Then spray the side and foundation of the house and a three-foot strip beside the house too.

You might have to spray again in one or two weeks. Spray whenever you see a lot of them clustering on the sides of the house this winter.

If the infestation is mild. you can control bugs in the house by picking them up with the vacuum cleaner. In severe cases pyrethrin household sprays can be used. used.

Handicap Lesson For Home Bureau

"Understanding People With Handicaps" was the subject of the September meeting of the Mt. Prospect Home Bureau unit, held at the home of Mrs. H. D. Croon with Mrs. H. L. Rasmussen assisting.

Mrs. Claradehl Upham, home adviser, brought out the fact even the "normal" person may have some form of handicap; that it is our duty as neighbors and good citizens to help each person achieve his highest capabilities; and that for help in individual problems of care, training or treatment, the Community Referral service is equipped for this work.

Boxelder Bug Guests, Are Fall House Pests

If you have any boxelder trees around the house, you may find some unwelcome guests in your home one of these cool fall mornings.

Boxelder bugs are content to stay in or under boxelder trees during the summer, happily feeding on the developing seeds.

But when cool weather gets here, these little creatures seek protection. And if they can find any cracks or crevices in your house, they'll crawl in — completely uninvited.

You'll see them clinging to the south and west sides of the house on warm winter days, soaking up the sunshine.

THOSE THAT get inside don't eat anything — either food or cloth, but they do spot up curtains and wallpaper and make themselves quite a nuisance, especially when company comes.

One way to control these pests would be to cut down all seed bearing boxelder trees in the community. But that is a rather drastic measure.

Another way to halt their march into your home would be to caulk all cracks and crevices. But the job would have to be very thorough, and even then some bugs would still get in around doors and windows.

Insecticides are your best hope for practical control.

A ½ per cent spray of lindane will give a quick kill. You can get the right mixture by adding ½ pint of 20 per cent lindane concentrate to 2½ gallons of water. A quarter pint of 15 per cent dieldrin concentrate in two gallons of water will do the job too.

IF YOU SEE a lot of bugs around boxelder trees, thoroughly spray their trunks and the ground near the trees. Then spray the side and foundation of the house and a three-foot strip beside the house too.

You might have to spray again in one or two weeks. Spray whenever you see a lot of them clustering on the sides of the house this winter.

If the infestation is mild, you can control bugs in the house by picking them up with the vacuum cleaner. In severe cases pyrethrin household sprays can be used. used.

Handicap Lesson For Home Bureau

"Understanding People With Handicaps" was the subject of the September meeting of the Mt. Prospect Home Bureau unit, held at the home of Mrs. H. D. Croon with Mrs. H. L. Rasmussen assisting.

Mrs. Claradehl Upham, home adviser, brought out the fact even the "normal" person may have some form of handicap; that it is our duty as neighbors and good citizens to help each person achieve his highest capabilities; and that for help in individual problems of care, training or treatment, the Community Referral service is equipped for this work.

Hints To Home Owners

James Fizzell

Assistant Farm Advisor

by JAMES FIZZELL, Assistant Farm Adviser

Cactus plants make a good addition to the house plants usually grown. With a minimum of care they will grow easily and many will bloom. Among the numerous species are plants of small size and contrasting form well suited for home use.

Cactus plants require a soil that is not too rich. A good mixture consists of 1/3 good friable loam, 1/3 sharp sand, and 1/3 peat moss, thoroughly mixed. To each 12-quart pailful of this mixture add ½ cupful of bonemeal. It is essential that cactus plants have perfect drainage. Therefore, ¼ of the depth of the receptacles in which they are potted should be filled with broken flower pots or gravel. Since the root systems of these plants are rather small, it is advisable to select receptacles that are not too large.

IN POTTING, firm the soil well around the roots, and water the plants thoroughly, being sure that the water penetrates all of the soil. No absolute guide can be given for future waterings. Most of the trouble with cactus in the home comes from overwatering during the normal winter dormant period. The plants, whatever their size, need only enough water to keep them from shriveling.

They will do well in ordinary room temperature, provided there is ample light. They will require more water if the room is very hot and dry than if it is cool and moist. Evaporating pans attached to radiators will supply some atmospheric moisture, which is beneficial to all house plants. If potted in the recommended soil mixture with drainage as suggested, the plants should not require watering more often than once a week.

During the summer months cactus plants may be plunged, in their pots, outdoors in a bed of sand or ashes over good drainage. In the early fall it will be necessary to bring them indoors.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS requires somewhat more fertile soil, such as a mixture of 2 parts good friable loam, 1 part sharp sand, 1 part peat moss, and ½ part well-rotted cow manure. To each bushel of soil, add one 5 inch potful of bonemeal and mix thoroughly.

This cactus requires more water than the others and should be grown in full sunlight in a window sill or in a hanging basket. However, during winter, from November on, it should be kept a little dry. It normally flowers during the Thanksgiving and Christmas season. If kept too wet during this period, it will not bloom as well. This peant is usually propagated by grafting.

During the summer months, it may be plunged, in the pot, outdoors like other cactus except that it should be kept in partial shade. It too will need to be brought indoors in the early fall.

Christmas cactus is benefited by a light feeding of complete liquid fertilizer every 10-14 days during summer months.

See Income Lag For Farm Labor

Labor income of Illinois farmers hasn't risen so fast as labor income of factory workers in the same areas of the state.

John Herbst, University of Illinois agricultural economist, makes this point in the fall issue of Illinois Research, published this week by the Illinois Agricultural Experiment station.

In figuring farm labor income, Herbst does not include interest returns earned by investments.

Nevertheless, he points out that farm output has increased as fast as, and sometimes faster than man-hour output in industry. And he wonders whether farmers' labor income has increased the amount suggested by expanding hourly output.

THE ARTICLE, in tracing the ups and downs of farm labor income since 1944, compares farmers from 12 areas of the state. Farmers in east-central Illinois were the only ones who averaged a higher labor income in 1954 than the average factory worker in that area.

However, when returns from family labor and invested capital were included in farm income, farm earnings were as high as factory wages except in southern Illinois areas.

Herbst thinks that in time the labor income of the two groups will come closer together through continuing off-farm migration, more land and capital per farmer and more off-farm work.

Assembling Play Is Like Building House

When "Howie" is presented by Village Theatre, Inc. of Arlington Heights on October 29, 30 and 31 at Prospect high school, many committees will have completed weeks of conferences and much hard physical work. Putting a play together is somewhat like building a house. The cast represents the family who will live in the house and the director represents the architect or builder.

John Pesick, the director of "Howie," has announced the cast. Having completed the casting, the "house" will now be built with the various committees cooperating to provide the "family" with a good background of home, furniture, clothes, accessories, lights, sound and amusement.

Heading the list of hard workers is Lynn Lobenhofer, production manager. Her assistant is Marge Knott. These people are in charge of coordinating all of the committees and pinch-hitting when the going gets tough. Another committee will be working with the "family." This is the stage manager and her assistant, Joyce Wolter and Jo Duro, respectively.

MAURICE Geye will design the set for "Howie." Some of the other sets he has he has designed are "Sabrina," "Harvey" and "Mr. Roberts."

Constructing the set will be Bob Kitzinger, Dick Linnell, John Dietz and Al Wilcox. After the set is constructed, the paint crew will move in. Those who will be working on the paint crew are Gladys Pownall, Irene Lee, Miriam Rietz, Dru Linnell and Corrine Meyer.

To furnish the "house," a furniture committee has been chosen. Anne Hume is in charge of the group and is assisted by Doris Mackin, Howard Sitka, John Dietz and Bonnie Franzen.

AFTER THE furniture is arranged, the set props committee will come along under the leadership of Sue Jend. Her group is Irene Lee, Miriam Rietz, Marge Kamen, Norma Smith and Charlotte Shaughnessy.

By this time the house is taking shape and begins to be livable. The attractive accessories, however, are provided by the hand prop committee whenever something is needed at a particular moment. Martha Byrne heads this committee. The group includes Helen Bakas, Mary Jean Daneke, Marian Malcolmson, Harriet Smith, Ruth Raasch and Marcelle Wilcox.

Anita Wilkins is in charge of sound and Jim Smith is in charge of lights. Heading the stage crew committee is Al Estrella. Those working with him will be Tom Grisell, Pat Paris, Peg Paulson, Chuck Bailey.

THE COSTUMES for the play are in the care of Virginia Hula and her committee of Carol Frederick, Jean Ballard and Shirley Freeman.

It isn't just the clothes, set, and props which help to create the proper background for the play. Makeup is very important too and this committee is in the hands of Anne Hume, Dee Kitzinger, Lee Suhr, Mary Estrella and Carol Mooney.

When the play is finally ready, guests will be seated by a crew of ushers: Scotty Schenke, Marilyn Sitka, Joan Grisell, Ruth Larson, Jeanette Jenkins, Doris Moseley, Clara Piedlow, Jane Miller, Betty Randolph, Edna Rangner and Randy Moses.

On the house managing committee are Mary and Bob Tindall, Dennis Malcolmson, Vic Miller, Ed Hume, Bob Randolph, Bob Kitzinger, Harry Rangner and Marshall Moses.

MARY JAYNE, John Lobenhofer and Pat O'Dea have many exciting and sometimes hilariousl yembarrassing moments in "Howie," the first play of the Village Theatre-goers' season. The play will be performed Oct. 29, 30 and 31 at Prospect high school Little Theatre. Reserved seats may be obtained by calling the box office, CL 5-3494, between 1:30 and 3 p. m. daily, or from Mrs. Collins at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association, CL 5-9000. (Bill

'WAY BACK WHEN'

50 YEARS AGO
Arlington Heights:

St. Peter's congregation have finished building cement walks about the Lutheran church parochial school, parsonage and their other property which has cost them an aggregate of about $1000.

Palatine:

The village board is considering the idea of replacing our present street lights with gas. Why should we enter into a long-time contract until we are sure what we do want? Let's get along as best we can and spend some of that extra money on crossings and approaches, so there will not be danger of breaking our necks in broad daylight, to say nothing of the night time. Perhaps after that electric road comes they will give the village street lights for nothing.

There has been so much talk about the amount of cement laid during the last six years that the following figures compiled at the order of Mr. C. Hildebrandt of the sidewalk committee may be of interest and will settle all disputes about the matter.

Sq. Ft. walks laid 117,040.00 remaining to be laid (needed) 147,324.00
Cost at 12 cents 17,678.88
No. sq. ft. remaining

(not needed) 44,680.00

The item for approaches would be no small amount; whichever way the waks are laid the fact remains that the village treasury will be getting the worst of it. It's a wonder that this village has as many improvements as she has got, when you consider all the work the general treasury has paid for that should have been done by special assessment.

Veteran RR Man Quits — When Ezra M. Cannon, veteran railroad man, and for many years collector on local runs, stepped off the 5:14 at the Barrington station Tuesday evening he did so for the last time as an employe of the company. Mr. Cannon reached the age of retirement on the 17th of August, but requested that he be allowed to continue on his old job until the first of October, and his request was granted. He leaves the Northwestern with a record of nearly 55 years in the service of the company, 48 of which were spent on Barrington runs.

In 1871 Mr. Cannon was given a Barrington run, and since that time he has been in the suburban service, running between this village and Chicago. When C&NW added collectors for their suburban runs, Mr. Cannon was among the first to be promoted to that position. That was in 1895, and since that time he has been a collector on the noon train, and has made two round trips daily between Barrington and Chicago.

Mr. Cannon will draw a pension of over $70 monthly from the railroad company.

The Cook County Herald was one of six weeklies in Class "A" division to receive honorable mention at the journalism conference and annual meeting of the Illinois Press association, held last week at Urbana. There were over 125 newspapers entered in the contest. Class "A" weeklies included the larger weeklies in the state of which the Harvard Herald received first place; the LaGrange Citizen second and the Sparta News-Plaindealer third. The Cook County Herald which for years has laid claim to having one of the largest circulations of any weekly newspaper in Illinois can now modestly claim to be among the best. A number of the newspapers published in this section of the state were entered in the contest.

Western Union is the first concern to put its fixtures into the new Vail-Davis building in Arlington Heights, taking space on Davis street, second from Vail. Manager Wm. Lawson wears a smile these days over the prospect of moving out of the old freight office into the modern one with its new marble counter and plate glass windows.

Proud of their new building and equipment, the local telephone people are holding special visiting days the last three days of this week. Visitors are invited to go through the building at its new plant at 11 North State Road.

The Senior Walther League of the Lutheran church led by their president, Mr. Koebniche and Reverend Fricke, had a jolly time last Monday evening. A large group of young people arrived at the school about eight o'clock all ready for the big hay ride to be followed by a wienie roast at Kehe's farm, near the high school. The girls looked awfully cute with their long full skirts and poke bonnets and some of the fellows were hardly recognizable in their overalls and straw hats. A committee planned entertainment and refreshments.

Itasca

The dinky little fire engine that so valiantly wheezed its way to Itasca fires during its past history, was relegated to the antique section of history, Saturday, at the special election. 193 progressive votes for the good of the community against 16 who thought they couldn't part with it.

Palatine

The new Palatine administration building will be formally opened Saturday as announced in these columns last week. An open house will be held afternoon and evening and several of the village officials will be on hand to show visitors through the building. In the evening a short program will be held. There will be music by the Palatine school band starting at 7 o'clock. The fire department will give an exhibition with the new fire truck and booster pump at 7:30, and at 8:00 p.m. in the council chamber the formal ceremonies will take place. Mayor Wm. S. Dollinger will give the official welcome to the public. Hon. William Busse and Hon. Oscar Schmidt, county commissioners from this part of Cook County, will be present and will make short talks and the mayor may call upon some of the trustees for a few words.

Palatine's new municipal building is one of the finest of its kind around these parts and is a credit to the progressive spirit of the village. This building has been built right at the contract price and probably no other public building in the state was erected with less extras tacked on to it than the Palatine building. The building is a credit to Mayor Dollinger and his fellow officials and the Mayor and his co-workers have been constantly on the job to see that the public got the best possible results for the money which was going into the new building.

Arlington Heights

An ordinance authorizing the C & N W Ry. company to lay a third main track through the Village of Arlington Heights was passed by the Village board Monday evening. On motion, rules were suspended and the ordinance placed on passage at once. The council thus facilitates the company's announced plan to give Arlington Heights and other towns as far as Barrington the advantages of improved transportation, which must follow tracking.

Weird Movies Scare Patrons

by JIM PHILLIPS

Since I irritated everybody two weeks ago with the list of "weird" movies available, I might as well add some coal to the fire. Here are a few more ditties designed to scare the gray hair off your grandmother's head!

They Came to Cordura: And you wish they hadn't! This gem starring Gary Cooper, Tab Hunter, Rita Hayworth and Van Heflin is the story of an American expeditionary farce (er, I mean force!) trying to do something to irritate Pancho Villa. Cooper plays a coward who turns hero — a sort of "western-type Jekyll and Hyde" — and the rest of his boys play heroes who are really cowards. Rita Hayworth looks as out of place in this one as a split pea in a cup of cream of tomato soup. Van Heflin out-acts everybody again!

Sign of the Gladiator: This historical mish-mash features Anita Ekberg as the notorious Queen Xnobia. Unfortunately, George Marshal spoils the hero's role by romping around like Julius Caesar on a bender. Of course, being a Roman general, he's excused as well as abused by Anita. Best scenes are those featuring the scale-model war machines. If you like history with your Ekberg, you'll like this one.

Tamango: Remember Hedy Lamarr in 'White Cargo" and the "Me Tandaleyo" bit? Critics once said it could never be filmed. They also said "Tamango" could never be filmed. The fact is it shouldn't have. Curt Jurgens and Dorothy Dandridge are starred in this drama of "Aove and Ldventure." Dialogue is rough, Curt is tough, Dandridge is gruff, I've had enough!

For the First Time: Mario Lanza is dead, and I imagine the vultures will all turn out to reap the harvest of Mario's productions. This picture does him no justice. The musical selections are good, but the late tenor's voice shows signs of wear and tear. About all you'll get from this one is a "Burton Holmes travelogue" with operatic arias and a pretty stunning glimpse of Italy. Look for all of Lanza's pictures to be re-issued, watch for re-pressings of his albums. Summing it up: Music to eat pizza by!

The FBI Story: James Stewart and Vera Miles conduct themselves well in this lengthy history of the FBI from the viewpoint of the hard-working government breadwinner. Good action, sensible dialogue and notable absence of Edward G. Robinson, Sheldon Leonard and the Dead End Kids make it worth seeing — and there isn't one interruption by a hair-oil commercial!

Next week, if I can recuperate from the movie pattern now prevalent, I'll give you a run-down on a honey of a musical play that would make a nice birthday present for your wife (husband, sister, brother, mother, father, etc.) if you care to journey to the loop!

Here Are Those Films to Avoid

by JIM PHILLIPS

Sometimes it is better for a reviewer to keep the reader up-to-date on pictures to be avoided, and since we had a pretty good start last week, we might as well continue.

Sign of the Gladiator: Although this effort of American International Pictures' got a good start, it folded in the finish Featuring a cast of thousands —thousands of what, we never found out—and filmed in Italy and Yugoslavia, this movie deals with the downfall of the barbaric Empire of Queen Zenobia. Anita Ekberg does her best as Zenobia and ends up being Anita Ekberg. George Marshall as General Marcus Valerius, the Roman officer, struts around like Julius Caesar on a bender, but still manages to enjoy himself. Probably the most amazing things in this picture are the catapults used for the battle scenes. They are full scale models and are so well built they'll probably show up in half a dozen more "period" pictures. If you like history with your Ekberg, you'll enjoy this one.

They Came to Cordura: —and I'll bet they wish they hadn't! At any rate, Gary Cooper manages to become a hero before the end of the picture. Rita Hayworth, Van Heflin and Tab Hunter are also starred. This is the rip-roaring story of a group of men pursuing Pancho Villa and his boys. Cooper is seen as an army officer of the U. S expeditionary force — a sort of "western" cowardly lion who turns into a brave medal-wearer. Van Heflin manages to out-act everybody, Tab Hunter still manages to think he's in the local high school play, and Rita Hayworth appears as lost in this war story as a split pea in a cup of cream of tomato soup! It's in color and cinemascope, of course!

The FBI Story: Here's a good look into the life of an FBI man, played well by James Stewart. Believe it or not, they managed to keep hair-brained "shoot-out" action from getting in the way of this entertaining bit of scripting. You'll find Vera Miles quite natural in the role of the agent's wife. Good photography, good acting, good family entertainment. That's enough "goods" for awhile—let's get back to the others.

For the First Time: Here's Mario Lanza back again, and this time singing to a deaf girl. Although the selection of music in this ditty was well-planned, Mario sill manages to sound like an "all clear" on the air raid sirens. He plays the part of singer in an "easy-to-get-along-with" country. Unfortunately. the country, Italy, steals the show. Everytime I see one of these pictures, I somehow feel as though Burton Holmes is going to pop out and say, "Friends, it behooves all of you to visit this magnificent land of sunshine, pizza and wine," Italy is attractive, beautiful and well-suited to color as you'll find. It's a nice treat if you're up to Mario's voice going sharp every-so-often. Next week, I'll review a play that you'll no doubt want to take your husband (wife, sister, brother, sweetheart, etc.) to for a birthday present. Also, I'll have a word to say about local theater groups. (Bill

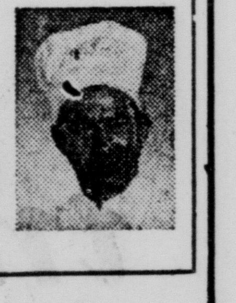
FOOD FOR THOUGHT



by Edward Rentz

The ability to carve is more then an art: it is a necessity for everyone who is a lover of good food . . . A beautifully carved roast looks better, but the gourmet claims that looks don't matter as long as the flavor is there, that the taste is the thing. Correctly carved meat tastes better.

A good carver must, above all things, attempt to keep the juices in the meat letting as little as possible run onto the platter. This is the reason why certain cuts of meat are carved one way while others are carved another. When in doubt, always carve with the least amount of loss of juice. You may look clumsy and the roast may look like a cyclone had struck when you are through but it will not be dry and tasteless. Remember, the taste is the thing.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

The ability to carve is more then an art: it is a necessity for everyone who is a lover of good food . . . A beautifully carved roast looks better, but the gourmet claims that looks don't matter as long as the flavor is there, that the taste is the thing. Correctly carved meat tastes better.

A good carver must, above all things, attempt to keep the juices in the meat letting as little as possible run onto the platter. This is the reason why certain cuts of meat are carved one way while others are carved another. When in doubt, always carve with the least amount of loss of juice. You may look clumsy and the roast may look like a cyclone had struck when you are through but it will not be dry and tasteless. Remember, the taste is the thing.

Villa Venice - Scene of Newcomers' Fall Fashion Forecast

WHITE BROCADE theatre ensemble is modeled by Virginia Kral in fashion show given last week by Arlington Heights Newcomers' club. Fashioned of luxury fabric, the ensemble featured a wide self belt and jeweled neckline on the dress and a mandarin coat. The show included casual, afternoon and evening clothes from the Doris Kirkeby shop in Mt. Prospect.

CO-ORDINATED BLOND mink skirt and sweater by Bernard Altman was one of the lovely ensembles modeled October 14 at the Villa Venice when Newcomers' Club of Arlington Heights presented its annual fashion show. Model of the outfit was Fran Koenen, a member of the club. Eleven models, all members of the club, displayed fashions from a Mt. Prospect shop.

Announce Marriage Licenses

County Clerk Edward J. Barrett issued marriage licenses last week to 883 couples, including the following:

Robert Sweet, 188 S. May st., Bensenville, and Bonnie Anne Wagner, 7339 N. Octavia, Chicago.

Donald Modesitt, 1661 Spruce, Des Plaines, and Linda Rogers, 314 N. Russell, Mt. Prospect.

John Scheuber, 623 Prairie, Wilmette, and Carole Mae Hebel, 4N225 Pine Grove, Bensenville.

David Joy, 2100 Beechnut, Northbrook, and Marceyne Shaw, 1773 S. Robin Crest lane, Glenview.

William Van Strien and Grace Logsdon, Box 55 Rt. 3, Palatine.

Stafford Light, 2944 N. Kilpatrick, and Emma Wilke 602 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

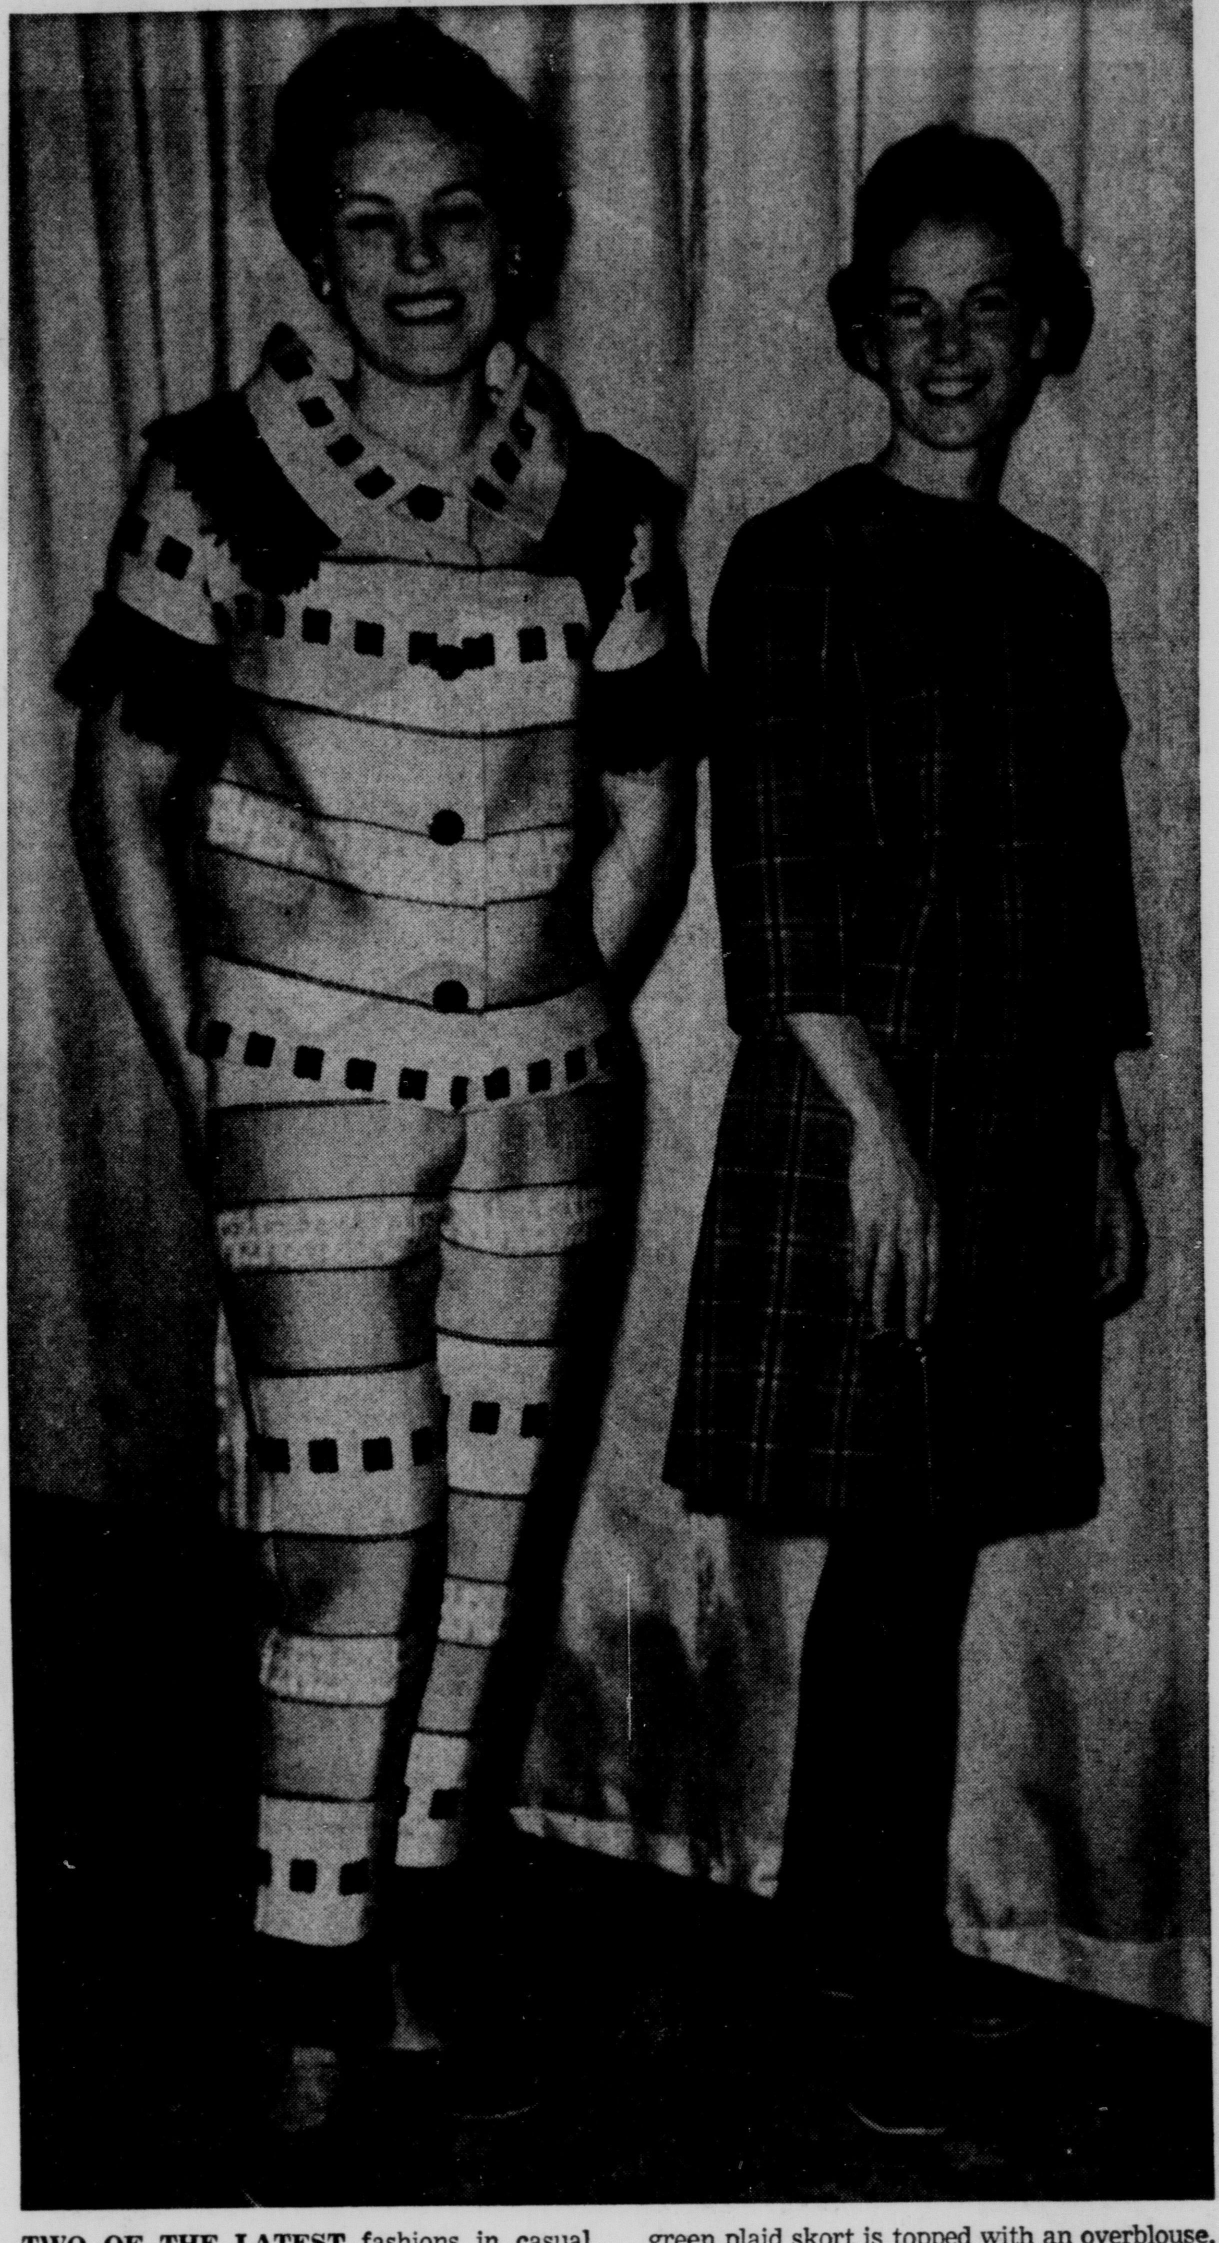
Raymond Vaughan Jr., 32 N. Mozart, Palatine, and Mavis Prehn 104 W. LaSalle rd., Arlington Heights.

John Schroeder, 629 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, and Karen Glade, 221 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

Wendell Scheonbeck, Box 64, Rand rd., Palatine, and Ruth Ruhnow, 310 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights.

Donald Abrath, 41 Virginia, Crystal Lake, and Ann Mae Demma, 318 N. Wille st., Mt. Prospect.

Walter Jezior, 6N282 Harvey rd., Medinah, and Mary Sviontek, 3550 N. Neenah, Chicago.



TWO OF THE LATEST fashions in casual wear were modeled by Yvonne Drew and Jan Mallow in Newcomers' fashion show last week. Yvonne's unusual lounging suit at left is by Sylvana of Roma and featured black fringe trim on a rather startling fabric. Jan's green plaid skort is topped with an overblouse. Green leotards are the "underpinnings." The show, which took place at the Villa Venice, was preceded by a luncheon for members of the club and their guests.

Treat Your Elbows Hindu Commandment

Since elbows catch the attention of others, it's wise to pay them sudsy attention yourself.

During your daily bath or shower, scrub lots of soapsuds over your elbows, using a bath brush or washcloth. Then rinse the soil away. Several such sudsy treatments may be needed to remove imbedded grime.

New Gadget Eases Cookout

Dear Peg:

If you don't know what a buddy-burner is, you have something new to learn about today. This amazing little gadget derives its name from the fact that two people should make it together (hence the "buddy") and it is to be used to cook on (hence the "burner"). They say that no hoursehold should be without one — for instance, say the power was cut off for some reason, or your stove just happened to break down, you could simply cook on your buddy-burner (it might take a while to cook much for a sizable family since the cooking area is the size of the bottom of a two-pound coffee can), or, if your furnace should break down you all could huddle around your buddy-burner and keep warm temporarily (again this would have to be a pretty tight huddle as the warming area is not very large.) Actually a buddy-burner is best used when two little Girl Scouts want to warm up a couple of hot dogs and perhaps a small container of beans, while on a cook-out in a place where there are inadequate cooking facilities or the weather is such that cooking over a large fire would be dangerous.

Now that Megan and the girls in her troop have "flown-up" from the Brownies to Intermediate Girl Scouts, they will have certain requirements to meet in the fields of homemaking, arts and crafts, outdoor living etc. The making of a buddy-burner fulfills a requirement in the outdoor living field, so the troop decided, a couple of weeks ago, to make the burners and have a cook-out while the weather was still nice.

At one meeting, they selected their buddies (always quite a production for ten-year-old girls) and decided on which one was to provide the 2-pound coffee can and which one the small tuna fish can and at the following meeting, they made the burners. My co-leader and I melted the old candles we had brought with us and with tin shears, cut a large opening at the top of the coffee cans and with a can opener, smaller openings at the bottom, so that when the cans were inverted over the tuna can burner a draft would be created to keep the burners burning. The tuna can burners were made by rolling strips of corrugated paper around a thick twine wick, and tightly filling the can. The melted wax was then poured over the paper-filled container. When the burner was lighted the flame from the wick spread over the area of the can producing a flame large enough to heat well the cooking part of the coffee can. (This isn't very clear is it? It was much easier to make the burners than it is to explain it to you — and really took less time! Well, dear, if you actually want to make a buddy-burner, write to me and I'll give you more detailed instructions or better yet, I'll simply make one and send it to you O.K?).

We had the cook-out in our backyard and I'm happy to say it was a success. All the burners heated as they were supposed to and after an hour or so, each girl and her buddy had warmed hot dogs and beans enough for both.

My love,
Patty

Sorority Activities in this Area

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Illinois alumnae chapters of Sigma Sigma Sigma held their first State day at the Conrad Hilton hotel October 3.

The program opened with a greeting from Mrs. Nora Wellnitz of Arlington Heights, president of the Chicago Suburban-West chapter. Speakers were Mrs. Lois C. Cesner, regional alumnae director, and Betty N. Rudin of Arlington Heights.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 followed by a talk by Mrs. Marilyn S. Kinsella of Des Plaines, national vice president, and group singing with Mrs. Caryl Baller of Itasca at the piano. Slides of social service work completed the afternoon.

Sigma Kappa

Members of the northwest suburban alumnae of Sigma Kappa will hear a report on current rushing by Mrs. Charles Wesselhoeft, state rushing chairman, at the group's October meeting. Members will meet at 1 p.m., October 26 for a salad luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ron Scheck, 512 Banbury rd., Arlington Heights.

All members of the chapter are asked to bring Christmas gifts for the Maine Seacoast mission, Sigma Kappa's national philanthropy project.

THE NORTHWEST group includes members from Prospect Heights, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows. Any Sigmas in the area who have not been contacted are invited to attend the luncheon.

Delta Zeta

Mrs. Vernon Peterson of Highland Park will be hostess to the north suburban chapter of Delta Zeta sorority alumnae at a tea Sunday, Oct. 25, said Mrs. Henry C. Korff, 1179 N. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, president of the group.

Featured on the program will be a special candlelighting ceremony in observance of Founder's day presented by the Alpha Alpha chapter of Delta Zeta at Northwestern university. The national secretary, Mrs. Robert H. Whitfield of Evanston will also pay tribute to the six women who founded this sorority 57 years ago.

Mrs. Arno Schneiderbauer, 728 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, was recently appointed newsletter editor for the group.

Kids Make Jewelry; Fun Without Expense

Here's an entertaining little project for youngsters who complain "there's nothing to do." Wash a couple of dozen grapefruit seeds in a bowl of soapy water, and dry them thoroughly. Thread a large needle with heavy thread, and let the children "string" the seeds.

Meanwhile, boil a few onion skins in a cup of water, and allow to cool. When the children dip the seed necklace into the cooled solution, it will turn a pretty orange color.

"SON OF THE MOON" will be reviewed by Mrs. Virginia Squier of Park Ridge, Wednesday, Nov. 4, at West Park field house, Park Ridge, for members of northwest suburban alumnae of Chi Omega when they hold their salad bar luncheon. Mrs. Frank L. Strong Jr. of Rolling Meadows, food chairman, announces that luncheon will be served at 12:45 p.m. Welfare committee members making final preparations for the luncheon-review, which will benefit the 1959 service project fund, include Mrs. Harold Wolff and Mrs. John W. Eder Jr. of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. Donald Dougan and Mrs. Laverne Whitnell of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Squier, shown amid some of her Indian objects d'art, will present India's attitudes, customs and traditions in her review of Joseph Hitrec's book.

Life's Little Annoyances

It's the little things that get you down.

Almost everyone takes the big things in stride and rallies beautifully. I mean really big things like being left a few thousand dollars, having the car repossessed for lack of payment, having the basement flood in a rainstorm and such earth-shattering events.

But, I repeat, it's those little nagging things that send one shrieking into the night. For instance, when the baby fell off the kitchen table four times in one day, I didn't come apart and punish him. I calmly and patiently kept picking him up and applying splints and bandages. Only once did I think seriously of getting rid of either the baby or the kitchen table but rejected both thoughts as impractical.

However, the fact that every day and every day and practically every hour on the hour he takes a deck of cards and snows them all over the house is beginning to make my little eyes gleam evilly. I'm not a great believer in walloping the young, but just how much is good old Ma supposed to put up with?

Father and I are both about to commit mayhem on our teen daughters. We have two telephones. A grave mistake in the first place. Whichever phone we decide to make a call from lacks a companion telephone book. Why should both phone books be under one telephone? What do they do, use one for each eye? Maybe they both look up a number at the same time. Sort of a double check.

Sometime I am going to meet a man who fills ice cube trays. It won't be any male relative of mine, I can assure you, but it will give me courage to carry on with my nagging. I will at least know that it can be done.

One of the things about me that seems to annoy Father is too ridiculous and honestly doesn't seem to be worth mentioning but I want to be fair about this thing. He thinks that when I shorten the front seat of the car in order to see over the steering wheel when I drive, I should lengthen it again when I am through. If he gets stuck trying to get in a too-short front seat often enough, maybe he'll learn to lengthen it first. I'm not so old a dog I can't learn a new trick.

Villa Venice - Scene of Newcomers' Fall Fashion Forecast

During your daily bath or shower, scrub lots of soapsuds over your elbows, using a bath brush or washcloth. Then rinse the soil away. Several such sudsy treatments may be needed to remove imbedded grime.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

If you don't know what a buddy-burner is, you have something new to learn about today. This amazing little gadget derives its name from the fact that two people should make it together (hence the "buddy") and it is to be used to cook on (hence the "burner"). They say that no hoursehold should be without one — for instance, say the power was cut off for some reason, or your stove just happened to break down, you could simply cook on your buddy-burner (it might take a while to cook much for a sizable family since the cooking area is the size of the bottom of a two-pound coffee can), or, if your furnace should break down you all could huddle around your buddy-burner and keep warm temporarily (again this would have to be a pretty tight huddle as the warming area is not very large.) Actually a buddy-burner is best used when two little Girl Scouts want to warm up a couple of hot dogs and perhaps a small container of beans, while on a cook-out in a place where there are inadequate cooking facilities or the weather is such that cooking over a large fire would be dangerous.

Now that Megan and the girls in her troop have "flown-up" from the Brownies to Intermediate Girl Scouts, they will have certain requirements to meet in the fields of homemaking, arts and crafts, outdoor living etc. The making of a buddy-burner fulfills a requirement in the outdoor living field, so the troop decided, a couple of weeks ago, to make the burners and have a cook-out while the weather was still nice.

At one meeting, they selected their buddies (always quite a production for ten-year-old girls) and decided on which one was to provide the 2-pound coffee can and which one the small tuna fish can and at the following meeting, they made the burners. My co-leader and I melted the old candles we had brought with us and with tin shears, cut a large opening at the top of the coffee cans and with a can opener, smaller openings at the bottom, so that when the cans were inverted over the tuna can burner a draft would be created to keep the burners burning. The tuna can burners were made by rolling strips of corrugated paper around a thick twine wick, and tightly filling the can. The melted wax was then poured over the paper-filled container. When the burner was lighted the flame from the wick spread over the area of the can producing a flame large enough to heat well the cooking part of the coffee can. (This isn't very clear is it? It was much easier to make the burners than it is to explain it to you — and really took less time! Well, dear, if you actually want to make a buddy-burner, write to me and I'll give you more detailed instructions or better yet, I'll simply make one and send it to you O.K?).

We had the cook-out in our backyard and I'm happy to say it was a success. All the burners heated as they were supposed to and after an hour or so, each girl and her buddy had warmed hot dogs and beans enough for both.

My love,
Patty

Kids Make Jewelry; Fun Without Expense

Here's an entertaining little project for youngsters who complain "there's nothing to do." Wash a couple of dozen grapefruit seeds in a bowl of soapy water, and dry them thoroughly. Thread a large needle with heavy thread, and let the children "string" the seeds.

Meanwhile, boil a few onion skins in a cup of water, and allow to cool. When the children dip the seed necklace into the cooled solution, it will turn a pretty orange color.

Daily Bath is Basic To Suds Treatment

The daily bath was a basic commandment of the Hindu faith as far back as 200 A.D.—when the laws of Manu, the great sanitarian, were codified. Even today, Manu's followers do not eat until they have bathed and cleaned their teeth.

The daily bath is an essential as far as Americans are concerned, too—although we are more inclined to bathe at the start or the end of the day, rather than before meals.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER Food Editor

Tempting dishes with an international appeal were prepared this week by home economics students at Prospect high school in observance of United Nations Day, October 24

The students in Miss Marilyn Gamlin's food classes were presented with a United Nations cook book by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights. From this book they planned a complete dinner featuring foods representative of several different countries in the UN.

The girls also made table decorations and planned an exhibit of wares from foreign countries to complete the theme.

Eating internationally, as an observance of UN Day, was initiated in 1958 by President and Mrs. Eisenhower at the White House with the menu prepared by Mrs. Eisenhower herself.

A PUMPKIN chiffon pie, which is one of the recipes featured today, is the dessert she chose to serve on that occasion representive, of course, of the United States.

As the entree for their international meal, the Prospect high students chose an Austrian dish, Kalb Guylasch or Veal Paprika.

In this flavorful dish, veal and onions are simmered together with tomatoes and sour cream. Paprika is the dominant seasoning.

To accompany this savory and tender veal, the students served Pilaf, or rice, prepared by a Turkish recipe in which the rice is boiled in salted water with a quarter pound of butter.

For the salad they chose a recipe from Indonesia called Gado-Gado. In this unusual and interesting recipe sliced radishes and cucumbers, par-boiled cabbage, string beans and bean sprouts are arranged in layers and garnished with slices of hard cooked eggs and potato chips.

THE MIXED vegetable salad is served with a tangy peanut butter sauce which consists of a unique combination of ingredients: peanut butter, onion, garlic, hot peppers, soy sauce, lemon juice, brown sugar, salt and vegetable water.

The ingredients are crushed and mixed together in a bowl, then spooned over the salad. It is an exciting and different gustatory experience!

Taking their cue from Mamie Eisenhower, the students chose the traditional American favorite, Pumpkin Pie, to complete their international meal.

They used her recipe for Pumpkin Chiffon Pie, which is an elegant as well as delicious dessert.

Spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg, this high and light chiffon pie has a delightful flavor and texture. It is served topped with whipped cream.

The girls were enthusiastic in their approval of this entire menu and heartily endorse international meals.

ALL OF THESE authentic recipes and many more can be found in the cookbook "Favorite Recipes from the United Nations," published by the United States committee for the U.N.

Fostering a better understanding of the use of foreign recipes, this book can be ordered directly from Marshall Field and Co. or other book stores for $1.50.

The Arlington Heights League of Women Voters encourages you to participate in the growing tradition of having a U.N. family meal, keeping the spirit and ideals of the United Sations prominent in your homes and hearts.

Party to Benefit Nursery at Holy Family Hospital

A stream of sparkling car lights that resembled a brilliant glowing necklace was evident last Friday evening when car after car came to halt at the entrance of the Activity hall of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth. Elegantly dressed ladies alighted and swept into the eye-catching decorated hall, to enjoy an evening of card playing, fun and entertainment, as guests of the Holy Family Hospital auxiliary.

Adding a somber touch and to remind guests of the purpose of the affair, the raising of funds to furnish one of the nurseries in the new hospital, were the "nursery theme" illustrations prominent throughout the hall. Cut-outs of pink pudgy animals were in plaques around the walls and climaxing the theme was a huge doll dressed to represent a "nun in white."

CHATTER AND laughter subsided as President Mrs. Jack Berdelle thanked her chairman of the affair, Mrs. Roger Spiegler of Mt. Prospect, and her committee. She also expressed her gratitude to everyone present for participating and responding with such overwhelming numbers. She realized that each guest considered working for the goal a privilege and they had played an important part in its success.

Daily Bath is Basic To Suds Treatment

The daily bath was a basic commandment of the Hindu faith as far back as 200 A.D.—when the laws of Manu, the great sanitarian, were codified. Even today, Manu's followers do not eat until they have bathed and cleaned their teeth.

The daily bath is an essential as far as Americans are concerned, too—although we are more inclined to bathe at the start or the end of the day, rather than before meals.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

by LOIS SEILER Food Editor

Tempting dishes with an international appeal were prepared this week by home economics students at Prospect high school in observance of United Nations Day, October 24

The students in Miss Marilyn Gamlin's food classes were presented with a United Nations cook book by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights. From this book they planned a complete dinner featuring foods representative of several different countries in the UN.

The girls also made table decorations and planned an exhibit of wares from foreign countries to complete the theme.

Eating internationally, as an observance of UN Day, was initiated in 1958 by President and Mrs. Eisenhower at the White House with the menu prepared by Mrs. Eisenhower herself.

A PUMPKIN chiffon pie, which is one of the recipes featured today, is the dessert she chose to serve on that occasion representive, of course, of the United States.

As the entree for their international meal, the Prospect high students chose an Austrian dish, Kalb Guylasch or Veal Paprika.

In this flavorful dish, veal and onions are simmered together with tomatoes and sour cream. Paprika is the dominant seasoning.

To accompany this savory and tender veal, the students served Pilaf, or rice, prepared by a Turkish recipe in which the rice is boiled in salted water with a quarter pound of butter.

For the salad they chose a recipe from Indonesia called Gado-Gado. In this unusual and interesting recipe sliced radishes and cucumbers, par-boiled cabbage, string beans and bean sprouts are arranged in layers and garnished with slices of hard cooked eggs and potato chips.

THE MIXED vegetable salad is served with a tangy peanut butter sauce which consists of a unique combination of ingredients: peanut butter, onion, garlic, hot peppers, soy sauce, lemon juice, brown sugar, salt and vegetable water.

The ingredients are crushed and mixed together in a bowl, then spooned over the salad. It is an exciting and different gustatory experience!

Taking their cue from Mamie Eisenhower, the students chose the traditional American favorite, Pumpkin Pie, to complete their international meal.

They used her recipe for Pumpkin Chiffon Pie, which is an elegant as well as delicious dessert.

Spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg, this high and light chiffon pie has a delightful flavor and texture. It is served topped with whipped cream.

The girls were enthusiastic in their approval of this entire menu and heartily endorse international meals.

ALL OF THESE authentic recipes and many more can be found in the cookbook "Favorite Recipes from the United Nations," published by the United States committee for the U.N.

Fostering a better understanding of the use of foreign recipes, this book can be ordered directly from Marshall Field and Co. or other book stores for $1.50.

The Arlington Heights League of Women Voters encourages you to participate in the growing tradition of having a U.N. family meal, keeping the spirit and ideals of the United Sations prominent in your homes and hearts.

Patricia Zelsdorf Is Bride of Chicagoan

A reception held in the garden of the bride's parents followed the September 12 wedding of the former Patricia Ann Zelsdorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Zelsdorf, 210 N. Immediately after the double ring rites a buffet luncheon was served the wedding attendants and families of the pair, with the garden reception following for 160 guests. The couple then left for a honeymoon in New England and Canada and is now at home at 1033 Loyola ave., Chicago. The bride, a graduate of Palatine high school, is employed by General American Transportation Corp. of Chicago, and the bridegroom is Assistant State's Attorney of Cook county. He attended DePaul university college of law and formerly served as a counter-intelligence agent for the U. S. Army.

Given in marriage by her father the bride entered the sanctuary wearing a waltz length gown of white satin brocade with a sabrina neckline and balloon sleeves. A rose petal cap of alencon lace re-embroidered in seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place, and she carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias and baby roses.

MRS. JOHN Mullen of Barrington played the organ and sang "On This Day" while the bride placed a bouquet at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

For the day's happy events the bride's mother wore a mauve lace over taffeta dress with matching accessories and had a cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Hubka chose a champagne lace over satin dress with matching accessories and also had a cymbidium corsage.

Nike Wives Organize New Club

Autumn leaves and gaily decorated boxes containing the picnic style lunches, set the informal decor as the newly organized Arlington Heights Nike Wives' club met for the first time, October 15.

Mrs. Peter Urban and Mrs. William Brown carried off the prizes for most cleverly and decorated box, but all agreed that club president, Mrs. Richardson's design, was the most original. She had brought her sandwiches in a huge Mexican Pinata shaped like a sailing ship.

Coffee and desserts were served by Mrs. Paul Whitman and Mrs. Robert Zendejas.

A rose petal cap of alencon lace re-embroidered in seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place, and she carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias and baby roses.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

A Corny Caper Party

Harvest time is the time of year when corn is shocked—and this party may do the same thing to your friends for it is a Corny Caper.

Invitations

Cut two ears of corn from yellow construction paper; make them the size of a standard envelope. Make green construction paper leaves on the bottom of each ear to make it look like the real thing. Inside, after making black lines on the yellow ear to resemble the kernels, write the following:

"EARS" something you'll be glad to note,
We "CORNY" Jones — host' name — took a vote,
And "EARS" what we plan to do —
Send these "COBS" of news to you.
We're going to have a "CORNY" time
Like CORNSTALKS we will wait in line,
Till in SHOCKS we'll stand and chatter,
Harvest is a fun filled matter.
Mark the date, steer your HULL this way
We state below the time and day.
HOW CORNY CAN YOU GET?
AIN'T THIS THE CORNIEST INVITE YET?

State time, date and any props you wish the guests to bring. If your group is a "dressin' up" type you may want to have a corny costume party, but it isn't necessary. Have them bring the largest ear of corn they can find, but make it mandatory to "Bring Something Corny." Some may just bring their wives.

Decorations

Corn and cornstalks everywhere, naturally. You probably will want to have this party in a garage, basement or rumpus room for easier clean ups. Large wall decorations of Indian Corn and autumn leaves add the fall harvest time flavor. The centerpiece on the table is Mr. and Mrs. Corn Cob. They are made from two ears of yellow, dried corn. Drive two nails through a board so they extend two inches high and force the corn on these nails, the board acting as the base. Cover the base with artificial or real leaves. Mr. Cob and Mrs. too will have construction paper eyes, nose, mouth and eyebrows glued on or fastened with pins.

For Mr. add a little corncob pipe, a red bandana around the base of the ear of corn and a small straw hat, the kind you can buy for Ginny dolls or party favors. Mrs. Cob's hat will be a sun bonnet made from a half circle of sitffened calico or felt with matching kerchief around the base of corn. The hair for both is the dried corn silk. If you have a Mr. Potato Head game around the house you can use the various features and glasses.

USE A paper tablecloth, napkins, cups and plates with either a leaf motif, or in a solid brown, green or yellow to carry out the invitation colors. The nut cups are corn shocks made by cutting 4" strips, ¼" wide, of brown, green, yellow and orange crepe paper and gathering four of each color by tying them in the center, shock-wise and placing them over orange nut cups. If the nut cups show they resemble pumpkins peeping out from under the shock.

Place cards, tallied, score-pads and prize wrappings should all be corn ears, similar to the invitations.

Menu

Everything corny will be served also. Corn liquor which can be the real thing or apple cider in disguise, each jug labeled and stopped with a corn cob. Popped corn for a nibble-munch. A buffet supper of corn bread-wrapped wieners, chips, corn relish, and a corn cake for dessert. The cake can be any yellow cake baked in a loaf pan, cut and frosted yellow. Mark off the kernels with chocolate frosting, green wax paper leaves finish it off. For effect, add eyes, nose and mouth of chocolate bits and top with gold crown similar to one mentioned later in this article. Fill nut cups with corn candy.

Entertainment

You may just want to play cards but if you choose games, and you really should have at least one to start the party atmosphere have each guest receive ten kernels of corn, fasten pictures of comic strip characters to the guest's back with a paper cup under it. Let them ask each other questions trying to determine their identity but the answers can only be "yes" and "no."

If they guess right, they place one kernel in the cup and receive another character. After about 15 minutes the one with the most kernels in the cup wins. If you play games, keep Kernel Corn in mind. Let each guest tell the corniest joke and by closed vote determine who will be King Corn. Have a gold paper, corn bedecked, crown ready for the winner.

If you have costumes follow the same procedure for awards. For prizes or favors corn cob pipes for the men and corn muffin mix for the ladies are inexpensive and practical, as well as corny. Other prize suggestions are popcorn or canned corn.

AS AN ALL evening project have a bottle of corn kernels and let the guests guess how many kernels are in the jar. Count them as you put them in the jar otherwise you may spend your evening counting over.

Wrap all prizes in yellow tissue paper with corn leaf bottoms just to add more corn flavor.

Of course, the nicest thing any of your guests can say when they leave at the end of the evening is "This certainly was the 'corniest party" we ever attended."

GREGORY WILCOX, Craig and Cindy Combs have a preview of Edens Plaza shopping center pumpkin faces. Left to right are Carmen, Pum'kin and Good Lookin', representing stores in the center. These and many others will be on display during the Fall Fiesta. There will be free pumpkins for the children and an artist otpaint faces for them Thurs., Fri. and Sat. Gregory lives at 210 S. Brighton, Arlington Heights and Cindy and Craig at 909 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. (S

A buffet supper of corn bread-wrapped wieners, chips, corn relish, and a corn cake for dessert. The cake can be any yellow cake baked in a loaf pan, cut and frosted yellow. Mark off the kernels with chocolate frosting, green wax paper leaves finish it off. For effect, add eyes, nose and mouth of chocolate bits and top with gold crown similar to one mentioned later in this article. Fill nut cups with corn candy.

Entertainment

You may just want to play cards but if you choose games, and you really should have at least one to start the party atmosphere have each guest receive ten kernels of corn, fasten pictures of comic strip characters to the guest's back with a paper cup under it. Let them ask each other questions trying to determine their identity but the answers can only be "yes" and "no."

If they guess right, they place one kernel in the cup and receive another character. After about 15 minutes the one with the most kernels in the cup wins. If you play games, keep Kernel Corn in mind. Let each guest tell the corniest joke and by closed vote determine who will be King Corn. Have a gold paper, corn bedecked, crown ready for the winner.

If you have costumes follow the same procedure for awards. For prizes or favors corn cob pipes for the men and corn muffin mix for the ladies are inexpensive and practical, as well as corny. Other prize suggestions are popcorn or canned corn.

AS AN ALL evening project have a bottle of corn kernels and let the guests guess how many kernels are in the jar. Count them as you put them in the jar otherwise you may spend your evening counting over.

Wrap all prizes in yellow tissue paper with corn leaf bottoms just to add more corn flavor.

Of course, the nicest thing any of your guests can say when they leave at the end of the evening is "This certainly was the 'corniest party" we ever attended."

Diane Anderson Becomes Bride of Alden S. Bean

Potted palms and baskets of gladioli and carnations decorated St. Paul Lutheran church in Chicago for a 2 o'clock, double ring service July 11 in which Miss Diane May Anderson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Julian G. Anderson, 10 S. Prospect rd., Mt. Prospect, became the bride of Alden S. Bean, 104 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Bean of Grand Rapids.

The bride, given in marriage by her older brother, Duane Anderson, wore a ballerina gown of embroidered silk organza over taffeta with princess line in front and flowing French illusion net from shoulder to hemline in back. Her veil of french illusion, was shoulder length. White glamellias made up her bridal bouquet.

MISS LESLIE Anderson was her sister's maid of honor and wore a street-length dress of pink embroidered silk organza over taffeta with pink net tulle overskirt. Bridesmaids were Miss Helga Teigen of Minneapolis and Miss Merry Ellen Bean of Grand Rapids. Their gowns were identical to the maid of honor's gown.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Anderson chose a deep gray silk shantung sheath with pink accessories and a corsage of pink phalaenopsis orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose a baby blue lace sheath with white accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis orchids.

Martin Mulroy of Des Plaines was best man and Dale Anderson of Mt. Prospect and John Bean of Grand Rapids were ushers.

Sixty guests attended the releption which was held after the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The couple then left on a 2-week wedding trip through the western states and since July 27 have been at home at 104 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

The bride was graduated from Bethany Lutheran college in Mankato, Minn. and is employed as secretary to the president of Hannifin Co., Des Plaines, where her bridegroom is employed as a sales engineer. Mr. Bean studied at the University of Iowa and Northwestern university. (S

Junior Club Women to Hear Ambassador's Lucia Perrigo

October 22 at 8:30 p.m., seventh district juniors of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will meet for their first meeting at the Pioneer Park Field house, Arlington Heights.

Highlight of the evening will be the appearance of Lucia Perrigo, Ambassadress of the Ambassador hotel chain, who serves as director of public relations for the noted Pump room. She will tell of some of the secrets of the Pump room, stamping ground of the stage and screen stars.

Lucia Perrigo meets everyone from the King of Belgium to beatnik poets, and gets paid for it. She interviews celebrities, plans luncheons (she helped with one for Queen Elizabeth II recently), takes feature pictures, dreams up promotions, runs press conferences, writes releases and has her finger on all important events in the hotels.

MISS PERRIGO'S present job came the hard way. A graduate of Northwestern's Medill school of journalism, she found work editing a North Shore throwaway magazine published by a milk company. Next she reported and wrote movie criticism for a metropolitan newspaper. After three years she heard of an opening at Warner Pictures. She was then the only girl in the country who was a field representative of a motion picture company, handling publicity and advertising.

A year later, she was appointed midwest director of publicity and advertising for Warner Bros., including Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit and Chicago. She met trains, came to know all the red caps, served as governess for child prodigees, coped with male and female movie stars, many of whom became her good friends. After six years, she went to the Ambassador hotels to the position she now holds.

SEVENTH district junior women's clubs include Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, Mt. Prospect, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling.

Why Ike, Nikita Had To Succeed

WASHINGTON—The first round being concluded, one can say, I think, that the President's initiative has prospered. His main purpose in proposing the exchange of visits was to reopen the clogged and frozen channels of diplomatic communication between the Western alliance and the Soviet Union. This he has done, and this is the meaning and the significance of the conversations at Camp David.

There are to be exchanges through normal diplomatic channels. When our allies have been consulted about the place, the time, and the agenda, there will be a foreign ministers' meeting and a summit meeting. There are to be continuing multilateral negotiations about nuclear testing and about disarmament. There are to be bilateral negotiations about cultural exchanges and also about a settlement of the lend-lease debts. And beyond all these, there is to be in the spring a visit by the President and his family to the Soviet Union.

MR. EISENHOWER

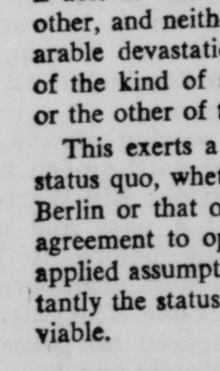
This much is on the record. How far there was a meeting of minds off the record on the specific issues, we do not now know. But Mr. K in his press conference on Sunday implied that there had been more understandings than the official communique reveals. This is in a way confirmed by the fact that the President has agreed to an elaborate and extended series of negotiations, something he would not have done had the talks at Camp David become irreconcilably deadlocked.

THE RESULT OF round one is a pleasant surprise. I can see now that I had failed to realize how mighty are the compulsions which are working on both the President and on Mr. K. They are compulsions to find ways by which, as the communique said, "all outstanding international questions" can "be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiations." For neither of the heads of governments is there "any alternative to peace."

The source of these compulsions is the armaments race. As between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. there exists a balance of power in the sense that any war, however "limited" it might be when it began, would threaten to become a total war. Each is able to inflict intolerable and unacceptable losses upon the other, and neither could "win" a war which caused such irreparable devastation. There is at present no prospect whatever of the kind of scientific breakthrough which would give one or the other of the governments a safe and reliable supremacy.

This exerts a mighty compulsion upon them to respect the status quo, whether it be that of the Western presence in West Berlin or that of the Soviet presence in Eastern Europe. The agreement to open up a series of negotiations rests upon the applied assumption that while diplomacy cannot change importantly the status quo, it can make it more acceptable and more viable.

IN BOTH GOVERNMENTS the compulsion to attempt to do this springs from two great considerations. The first consideration, which is widely recognized, is that the cost of armaments, $40 billion here and $25 billion in the Soviet Union, is a very heavy mortgage on social and economic development. One of the most interesting disclosures made by Mr. K was his personal impatience with the burdens of his own military establishment.



KHRUSHCHEV

Mr. Eisenhower is very conscious indeed of what it means to spend $40 billion a year. And undoubtedly he is aware of the fact that after tax reductions, the pressure on the budget from the Pentagon and from the needs of our people constitute a permanent threat of inflation. Moreover, the pressure on the dollar also comes from our enormous military expenditures abroad. One European authority estimates them at $10 billion annually, about half our gold reserve.

THE SECOND CONSIDERATION which exerts great compulsion is that if the situation does not get better, it will get much worse. If the race of armaments cannot be brought at least to a standstill, if not to some reduction of armaments, it will mean that the international climate is very dangerous. This will mean that both governments must spend increasingly larger amounts of money.

If we cannot reach a truce in the cold war, the race must become faster and the burden heavier. For the Russians this will mean a slowdown in their development. For us it will mean a new big tax bite. With these compulsions working upon them, the President and Mr. K have staked so much on these exchanges that they cannot afford to let them fail.

ART BUCHWALD

P.S. From Paris

———JUST AN ERRAND BOY

PARIS—The trouble with going to Europe is that everyone is always asking you to do something for them. They either want you to shop for them, look up somebody, pick up something or drop off something, or, at the least, keep busy while you're away.

"When you're going to Europe," Bill Dana, a writer friend, told us, "your friends experience a combination feeling of envy and happiness. They're envious that you're going, but happy that you can bring something back for them.

"For months previous to your departure, you are accepting lists of errands and chores that they ask you to do, and because you have a certain sense of guilt about going, you accept the lists without much of a protest.

Divorce Hazard

DANA TOOK A LIST out of his pocket. "This," he explained to us, "is just my pocket-book edition. The larger list is in my room on the trunk rack.

"Look at this."

He showed us a request. "Buy two copies 'Lady Chatterley's Lover,' three Henry Miller paperback editions, and see if you can find any French editions of 'Fanny Hill.' Don't declare at customs."

"'Lady Chatterley's Lover' is on sale in the States now," we told him.

"I know," said Dana, "but this guy wants the expurgated version."

He showed us another request. "Please look up Mlle. Francoise and tell her I'm sorry. She'll know what I mean."

"The result of delivering this message," Dana said, "is that I almost wound up being named a correspondent in a divorce trial in Oberammergau."

"Here's another one," he said, going through the book. "'Go to Pompeii. There is guide there who will look other way for 200 lire. Pick me up pink marble head to go in dining room.'

"This is from my sister-in-law. So I go to Pompeii and I give the guy 200 lire for looking the other way. Unfortunately, another guide who is looking the other way for some other tourist sees me trying to swipe the piece and arrests me. It cost me $50 to get out of that one."

'He'll Remember Me'

"THE WORST, of course," Dana said, "are the shopping requests. Here's one. 'Please go to shop off St. Marco Square in Venice. There is a souvenir shop specializing in Italian things. Ask the man—he speaks a little English—if he has any more compacts like the one he sold the woman in the white hat last summer in August. I'm sure he'll remember me because I had my camera with me. I forget the name of the shop but it was just off the square and it had Venetian glass in the window. If he has any more get me three, but don't pay more than $5 for them.' This is from my aunt."

"Here's a beauty," said Dana, tearing out a page. "From one of the guys in the office: 'Get me Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder for Contactaxta camera model OL 1356, Reflex 35-millimeter telephoto wide-angle tripod. Do not get Mark 62.8 ZM for Contactaxta model OL 1356 reflex millimeter as it doesn't fit. At the same time make sure the Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder is not for the OL 1355 model, which won't fit on the OL 1356. You can pick them up anywhere in Germany.'

"He was right. I could pick it up anywhere in Germany—but what he forgot to say was East Germany. I finally made a trip to East Berlin to get it. When I got back to West Berlin there was a telegram waiting for me. 'Forget request for Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder. Macy's just had a sale on them.'

'We'll Pay You Back'

"ALL RIGHT," Dana said, "here's one last one I want to show you.

"'Please pick up a painting for us in Paris to fit our living room. It should be 2 by 3 feet and anything you like we're sure we'll like. But for heaven's sakes no abstracts, because it doesn't go with the rest of the room. Also we're not too keen on still lifes, and Robert hates landscapes. I'm not fond of portraits and flowers are pretty dull.

"'To give you some idea of the kind of thing we want, the curtains are green and the sofa is a burgundy red. The rug is beige. Please don't spend more than $35. I'm sure you can find a young French boy who will be another Van Gogh. Don't ship it home as we'll have to pay duty on it. Use your own discretion, but for heaven's sakes, no fruit and no nudes. Outside of that we'll leave the subject matter up to you. Lay out the money and we'll pay you back—if we like it, hah hah hah.'

"Sometimes," said Dana, "you wonder if a trip to Europe is worth it."

This is in a way confirmed by the fact that the President has agreed to an elaborate and extended series of negotiations, something he would not have done had the talks at Camp David become irreconcilably deadlocked.

THE RESULT OF round one is a pleasant surprise. I can see now that I had failed to realize how mighty are the compulsions which are working on both the President and on Mr. K. They are compulsions to find ways by which, as the communique said, "all outstanding international questions" can "be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiations." For neither of the heads of governments is there "any alternative to peace."

The source of these compulsions is the armaments race. As between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. there exists a balance of power in the sense that any war, however "limited" it might be when it began, would threaten to become a total war. Each is able to inflict intolerable and unacceptable losses upon the other, and neither could "win" a war which caused such irreparable devastation. There is at present no prospect whatever of the kind of scientific breakthrough which would give one or the other of the governments a safe and reliable supremacy.

This exerts a mighty compulsion upon them to respect the status quo, whether it be that of the Western presence in West Berlin or that of the Soviet presence in Eastern Europe. The agreement to open up a series of negotiations rests upon the applied assumption that while diplomacy cannot change importantly the status quo, it can make it more acceptable and more viable.

IN BOTH GOVERNMENTS the compulsion to attempt to do this springs from two great considerations. The first consideration, which is widely recognized, is that the cost of armaments, $40 billion here and $25 billion in the Soviet Union, is a very heavy mortgage on social and economic development. One of the most interesting disclosures made by Mr. K was his personal impatience with the burdens of his own military establishment.

KHRUSHCHEV

Mr. Eisenhower is very conscious indeed of what it means to spend $40 billion a year. And undoubtedly he is aware of the fact that after tax reductions, the pressure on the budget from the Pentagon and from the needs of our people constitute a permanent threat of inflation. Moreover, the pressure on the dollar also comes from our enormous military expenditures abroad. One European authority estimates them at $10 billion annually, about half our gold reserve.

THE SECOND CONSIDERATION which exerts great compulsion is that if the situation does not get better, it will get much worse. If the race of armaments cannot be brought at least to a standstill, if not to some reduction of armaments, it will mean that the international climate is very dangerous. This will mean that both governments must spend increasingly larger amounts of money.

If we cannot reach a truce in the cold war, the race must become faster and the burden heavier. For the Russians this will mean a slowdown in their development. For us it will mean a new big tax bite. With these compulsions working upon them, the President and Mr. K have staked so much on these exchanges that they cannot afford to let them fail.

ART BUCHWALD

P.S. From Paris

—JUST AN ERRAND BOY

PARIS—The trouble with going to Europe is that everyone is always asking you to do something for them. They either want you to shop for them, look up somebody, pick up something or drop off something, or, at the least, keep busy while you're away.

"When you're going to Europe," Bill Dana, a writer friend, told us, "your friends experience a combination feeling of envy and happiness. They're envious that you're going, but happy that you can bring something back for them.

"For months previous to your departure, you are accepting lists of errands and chores that they ask you to do, and because you have a certain sense of guilt about going, you accept the lists without much of a protest.

Divorce Hazard

DANA TOOK A LIST out of his pocket. "This," he explained to us, "is just my pocket-book edition. The larger list is in my room on the trunk rack.

"Look at this."

He showed us a request. "Buy two copies 'Lady Chatterley's Lover,' three Henry Miller paperback editions, and see if you can find any French editions of 'Fanny Hill.' Don't declare at customs."

"'Lady Chatterley's Lover' is on sale in the States now," we told him.

"I know," said Dana, "but this guy wants the expurgated version."

He showed us another request. "Please look up Mlle. Francoise and tell her I'm sorry. She'll know what I mean."

"The result of delivering this message," Dana said, "is that I almost wound up being named a correspondent in a divorce trial in Oberammergau."

"Here's another one," he said, going through the book. "'Go to Pompeii. There is guide there who will look other way for 200 lire. Pick me up pink marble head to go in dining room.'

"This is from my sister-in-law. So I go to Pompeii and I give the guy 200 lire for looking the other way. Unfortunately, another guide who is looking the other way for some other tourist sees me trying to swipe the piece and arrests me. It cost me $50 to get out of that one."

'He'll Remember Me'

"THE WORST, of course," Dana said, "are the shopping requests. Here's one. 'Please go to shop off St. Marco Square in Venice. There is a souvenir shop specializing in Italian things. Ask the man—he speaks a little English—if he has any more compacts like the one he sold the woman in the white hat last summer in August. I'm sure he'll remember me because I had my camera with me. I forget the name of the shop but it was just off the square and it had Venetian glass in the window. If he has any more get me three, but don't pay more than $5 for them.' This is from my aunt."

"Here's a beauty," said Dana, tearing out a page. "From one of the guys in the office: 'Get me Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder for Contactaxta camera model OL 1356, Reflex 35-millimeter telephoto wide-angle tripod. Do not get Mark 62.8 ZM for Contactaxta model OL 1356 reflex millimeter as it doesn't fit. At the same time make sure the Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder is not for the OL 1355 model, which won't fit on the OL 1356. You can pick them up anywhere in Germany.'

"He was right. I could pick it up anywhere in Germany—but what he forgot to say was East Germany. I finally made a trip to East Berlin to get it. When I got back to West Berlin there was a telegram waiting for me. 'Forget request for Mark 62.9 ZL viewfinder. Macy's just had a sale on them.'

'We'll Pay You Back'

"ALL RIGHT," Dana said, "here's one last one I want to show you.

"'Please pick up a painting for us in Paris to fit our living room. It should be 2 by 3 feet and anything you like we're sure we'll like. But for heaven's sakes no abstracts, because it doesn't go with the rest of the room. Also we're not too keen on still lifes, and Robert hates landscapes. I'm not fond of portraits and flowers are pretty dull.

"'To give you some idea of the kind of thing we want, the curtains are green and the sofa is a burgundy red. The rug is beige. Please don't spend more than $35. I'm sure you can find a young French boy who will be another Van Gogh. Don't ship it home as we'll have to pay duty on it. Use your own discretion, but for heaven's sakes, no fruit and no nudes. Outside of that we'll leave the subject matter up to you. Lay out the money and we'll pay you back—if we like it, hah hah hah.'

"Sometimes," said Dana, "you wonder if a trip to Europe is worth it."

Knights Travel; Cards In Crucial Contest

Prospect To Battle E. Leyden

East Leyden's "new look" — unveiled against Glenbrook — takes on a challenge from Prospect's Knights Friday evening.

Juniors have taken over eight of the eleven starting slots for the Eagles, and this influx of young talent almost resulted in an upset victory over Glenbrook last week.

This junior-studded outfit will host Prospect on Homecoming Friday still seeking that first victory of the 1959 campaign. Following non-conference losses to Arlington and Elmwood Park, the Eagles dropped Interim engagements with Wheaton, Willowbrook, and Glenbrook.

"The boys were really up for Glenbrook," Leyden Coach George Bujan pointed out, "and it was a rough way to lose."

GLENBROOK led 20-19 with 12 seconds to go and East Leyden had the ball on the Spartans' one yard line only to fumble away the scoring opportunity. The Eagles had led 19-14 in that final period.

Sparking the resurgence at Leyden are a 125-pound halfback brought up from the junior-varsity team and a 152-pound fullback and linebacker.

"Don Coffman is our hardest runner," Bujan inserted, "despite his lack of size. And Ranallo is one of the best boys I've ever coached in regard to diagnosing plays. He's been averaging about 18 tackles a game."

COFFMAN was brought up for the Glenbrook game after some impressive performances with the JVs, and the junior speedster earned another starting slot with his showing against the league-leading Spartans.

Bujan has another 125-pounder, Don McDowell, manning the other half with Ranallo at full and senior Rog Lenberg, a threat at both running and passing, at quarterback.

Leyden's two tackles go 210 and 215 to head a line which averages 183 pounds per man. Center Larry Matson weighs in at 205.

Bujan is in his final season at Leyden after serving 13 years with the Franklin Park school.

PROSPECT'S Bill Beckman praised the Knights' defensive play against Willowbrook which limited the Warriors to only two first downs.

"But we know Leyden will be up for this game Friday," Beckman warned, "as it's Homecoming and the team still has yet to win this year."

Beckman credited Knight halfback Keith Voigt with an impressive performance both ways against Willowbrook. "Voigt is an outstanding all-around back," Beckman pointed out, "as he is a good runner, blocker, and tackler. He's been our steadiest performer."

IN ADDITION, the defensive play of Bill Zadel, Jeff Rogers, Bruce Andrise, and Mel Aukamp drew plaudits from the Knights' head coach.

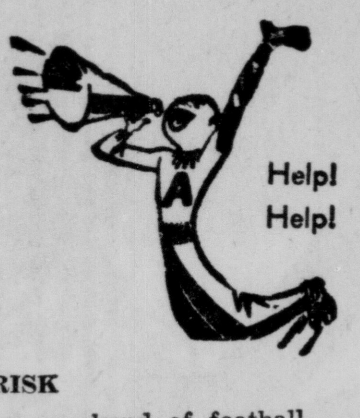
Harriers To Run In WSC, Interim Meets

KICKIN' IT AROUND



By BOB FRISK

TALK ABOUT AN interesting weekend of football . . . Ohio State shocks Purdue, 15-0, with two field goals by a 156-pounder aiding the victory . . . Three area teams covered by Paddock Publications record shutouts—Arlington, Prospect, and Palatine . . . Prospect holds Willowbrook to just two first downs . . . Glenbrook's Interim pace-setters have to fight all the way against a surprisingly-tough East Leyden eleven . . . Final: Glenbrook 20, East Leyden 19 . . . Northwestern uncovers two more heroes in its "Who will star this week?" puzzlers . . . Libertyville gains 39 yards on one play against Palatine and still fails to pick up a first down . . . Two of the state's top prep half milers score touchdowns in grid victories . . . Lake Forest's Bill Rawson, second in the state 880 as a junior, covers 53 yards with a punt return and Arlington's Mike Dundy scores from four yards against York . . . Illinois' Bill Burrell gains 18 unassisted tackles in a brilliant defensive show against Minnesota . . . Burrell's performance prompts one writer to record: "Those football analysts who pick All-American teams will have a relatively easy job this year. They only have to ponder 10 of the 11 positions. The eleventh should go, by acclamation, to Bill Burrell" . . . LaGrange loses again! . . . Who would have believed you at the outset of the season if you had said LaGrange would drop its first four WSC games?

BILL RAWSON

Still considering that weekend: York has four downs to push over a score from the Arlington two yard line and still fails to counter . . . Elmhurst College loses its 19th straight football game, 39-0 . . . Lake Forest College tops Augustana, 27-26, with a 77-yard scoring pass on the last play of the game . . . Michigan State fumbles nine times and still beats Notre Dame, 19-0 . . . The Chicago Blackhawks, Chicago Cardinals, and Chicago Bears continue stumbling around in professional circles.

Yes, it was quite a weekend.

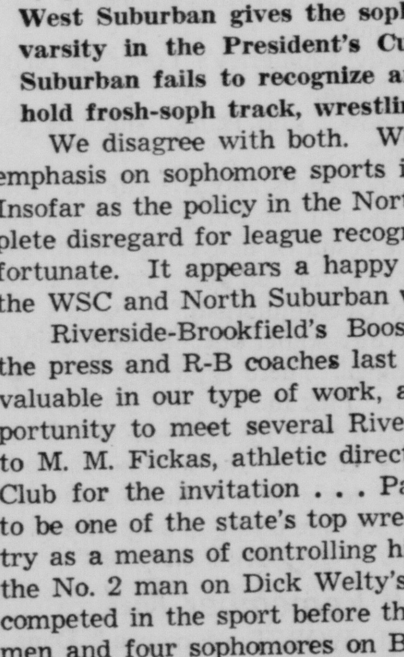
THIS 'N THAT:

Arlington's Jim Summers is apparently through with his collegiate football career at Bradley . . . Summers was injured in the third quarter against Washington at St. Louis and last week entered the St. Francis Hospital in Peoria to undergo an operation on his right knee for a displaced cartilage . . . Last year Summers suffered a broken leg in the Braves' second game of the season . . . Congratulations to Arlington's Dan Striegel on his selection as "Lineman of the week" by a metropolitan daily . . . But the selectors picked Dan's poorest game of the first four . . . He was outstanding against East Leyden, LaGrange, and Glenbard but tapered off a little in the game for which he was honored . . . Flynn Robinson, a guard on Elgin's strong cage team last year, is a frosh candidate at Southern Illinois . . . Robinson will be remembered for his outstanding performance against Arlington last December . . . We've heard of freshman "A" and "B" football teams but Waukegan's "C" unit recently won, 12-6 . . . Les Krause of Villa Park is out for fall baseball at Southern, and Paul Rucker of Bensenville is a tackle on Elmhurst College's football team.

It's interesting to observe the various policies set up by prep conferences in regard to sophomore sports. The West Suburban gives the sophs as much importance as the varsity in the President's Cup standings while the North Suburban fails to recognize any soph standings and fails to hold frosh-soph track, wrestling, or cross country meets.

We disagree with both. We feel the WSC places too much emphasis on sophomore sports in regard to the President's Cup. Insofar as the policy in the North Suburban, we feel that a complete disregard for league recognition at a sophomore level is unfortunate. It appears a happy medium between the policies of the WSC and North Suburban would be a logical solution.

Riverside-Brookfield's Boosters Club held an evening for the press and R-B coaches last week . . . Personal contact is invaluable in our type of work, and we were glad to get the opportunity to meet several Riverside coaches . . . Thanks again to M. M. Fickas, athletic director at R-B, and to the Boosters' Club for the invitation . . . Palatine's Chuck Conley, expected to be one of the state's top wrestlers at 103, is using cross country as a means of controlling his weight . . . Conley is currently the No. 2 man on Dick Welty's Harriers although he had never competed in the sport before this fall . . . There are three freshmen and four sophomores on Bradley's starting grid eleven.



MIKE FIELD was the key individual in Prospect's final score last Friday evening. Field recovered a fumble on the Willowbrook 14 and four plays later scored the game's final touchdown on a pass from Fred Lussow.

PHS Frosh Units Split with Warriors

A big Willowbrook freshman "A" team blanked Prospect high last Saturday, 20-0, although the Knights' "B" unit recorded a 7-0 victory over the Warriors.

Prospect's plebes will host East Leyden Saturday morning at 9:30.

Ivy to Speak At Prospect's Sports Banquet

Frank "Pop" Ivy, coach of the Chicago Cardinals football team, will be the guest speaker at the Fall Sports banquet at Prospect high school, on November 5, 1959. This dinner, sponsored by the Prospect Knights Boosters, will be the first of three such banquets held during the school year.

In addition to having been an All-American and a member of the College All-Stars during his playing days at the University of Oklahoma, Coach Ivy is recognized as an excellent speaker.

Since many persons other than parents of team members have indicated a desire to attend, the Boosters have extended an invitation to all persons in the area, and tickets may be purchased either at the School office or at Franeck Real Estate at 8 E. Northwest Highway in Mt. Prospect prior to October 30.

In addition to the awarding of honors to the Knight athletes, this banquet will also be the occasion on which the Prospect Knights mascot will be presented to the school by the Boosters and the winner of the knight naming contest will be announced and presented with the cash prize.

R-B Hosts Loop Meet Saturday

One hundred and twelve boys will run in the West Suburban conference cross country meet Saturday at Riverside with the proceedings slated to open at 10 a.m.

Glenbard West, Maine, and Arlington are expected to rule the varsity division with the frosh-soph a toss-up between Glenbard, Maine, LaGrange, and York.

The annual cross country meet determines half of a team's final standing in the loop. A first in the WSC meet and a first in the final dual meet standings would give a team two points in the final tabulations.

EACH SCHOOL will be allowed to run seven boys Saturday with the top five finishers counting in the team totals.

Arlington's varsity coach, Russ Attis, has listed Chuck Phelan, Rog Frederickson, Jim Hendricks, Ron Treabess Bud Terbell, Tim Smith, and Ken Dougan as his seven entrants. Frosh-soph coach Frank Bohac indicated that the top boys in yesterday's meet with Hinsdale would get the nod for the conference affair.

Arlington won the varsity division of the conference meet in 1958 with a four point margin over runnerup Glenbard. Bill Dodge and Bob Taggart, both June graduates, were the Cards' top finishers with a third and fourth.

GLENBARD and Maine went into the current week unbeaten in four loop battles in the varsity division with Arlington a close third at 3-1. Maine swept its first four frosh-soph meets with Glenbard, LaGrange, and York standing 3-1.

Dave Stineback, a junior at Glenbard West, is expected to be the top individual in Saturday's varsity test. Stineback finished second last year behind R-B's Rich Fisera and has already broken several course records this fall.

Junior Jack Kragie has been a standout for Maine this fall while Phelan and Frederickson, a soph, have paced Arlington's varsity.

Glenbard and Arlington tied for the WSC varsity cross country title last year on the basis of both the dual meets and loop test. Glenbard went on to gain an impressive second in the state meet.

Site of Meet

Fans may reach the site of the WSC cross country meet by driving south on 83 to 31st street. Go east on 31st past 1st avenue, traveling over a bridge. The field may be reached by going north on the first street beyond the bridge.

Browns, Packers Claim Unbeaten Football Slates

The Browns and Packers maintained their unbeaten slates in Arlington's Midget Football leagues with both clubs possessing 3-0 marks.

Picking up their third victory with an easy 32-0 decision, the Browns rocked the 49'ers in the seventh and eighth grade division.

The Packers were led by Steve Ewert in an impressive 26-12 victory over the Giants.

Rams 7—Lions 6

Coming from behind after spotting the Lions six points which resulted from a sparkling 35 yard pass play from Ewert to Teuteberg, Joe Huske's fighting Rams came storming back in the third quarter to take the lead. The deciding points were scored by Joe Mueller whose bulldozing drives shattered the Lions' defenses for repeated gains.

Mueller plunged three yards for the tying six points then plunged over with the winning extra point. The Rams then thwarted each Lion drive to go ahead—drives that featured brilliant running by John Garrity.

Browns 32—49er's 0

With a rocked-ribbed defense and a devastating offense, Jack Martin's Browns continued the onslaught toward the title. Featured by the ripping runs of Tom Osterman who led the Browns drive with touchdown runs of 46 and 65 yards and scored another on a 20 yard pass from Steve Martin, the Browns dominated all phases of the game.

The scoring parade started on a 20 yard smash by Mike Fitzpatrick; Bill Warren then blocked a pass and grabbed the ball before it hit the ground and scampered over the goal line. The extra points were scored on passes from Steve Martin and Tom Jasper.

Prospect High Site For Interim

Prospect high school will host the first Interim association cross country meet Friday afternoon with the frosh-soph run launching the activities at 4:30.

Fifty-six boys will run in the frosh-soph class with Glenbard East and West Leyden entering boys for ribbons but not for team standing. Forty-two runners will make up the varsity field.

Proviso West's two strong entries are rated the favorites for Friday's meet with Wheaton and Prospect other title contenders.

FINAL TEAM standings for the Interim are based on both the finish of the conference meet and the finish in the dual meet standings. A first in both sections would mean two points, the minimum total needed for a league championship.

Ten boys are listed for each team in the conference meet with seven running and three alternates. The top five finishers for each school count toward the team standings.

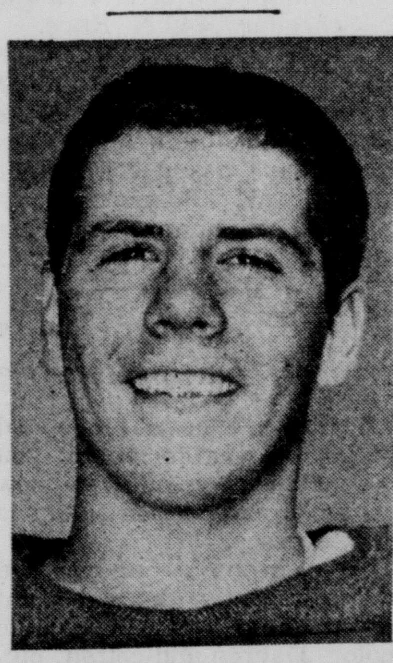
Proviso West's Barney Peterson and Wheaton's Dick Taylor are expected to be among the top individuals in the varsity battle.

Medals will be awarded the first ten finishers in the varsity meet with ribbons to the first 14 finishers in the frosh-soph meet.



SOPHOMORE BRUCE Andrise, starting fullback on Prospects varsity eleven, turned in some hard-running in the 28-0 victory over Willowbrook with 34 yards for 12 carries.

Arlington To Host Hinsdale

by BOB FRISK

There should be plenty of fireworks around Arlington high school Friday evening.

And it won't be the work of pranksters.

Arlington and Hinsdale are getting together for another of their gridiron clashes, and that means an explosive evening on the AHS field.

This crucial West Suburban encounter will match the loop's top point-producer with the division's stingiest defensive unit.

Hinsdale has piled up 104 markers in a quartet of games for a 26 per tilt average. Arlington, an unbeaten eleven after five games, has allowed only 20 points in four loop games and has blanked two opponents.

THE WEEK'S headliner in the WSC will be preceded by a frosh-soph battle pitting together one of the league's pace-setters with Roland Caranci's improving Cards. Game time is 6 p.m.

Hinsdale's Red Devils will come into the varsity test Friday fresh from a crushing 38-7 victory over LaGrange. Coach Harvey Dickinson's eleven has won three of five games with one loss, a 13-7 decision to Maine, in conference competition.

"We're definitely better than last year," Dickinson reported. "We have a better line with more experience and are slightly faster."

Hinsdale won five of eight in '58 and tied for third in the West Suburban.

ONLY ONE backfield letterman is included in the Red Devils' starting quartet of ball carriers, but Dickinson has two talented juniors and a converted end rounding out the starting alignment.

Junior Hal Brandt, a 6-1, 180 pounder, handles the quarterbacking with Junior Jim Carmignani manning the left half slot. Carmignani, the club's leading scorer, is a fleet 155-pounder.

Phil Krumb, who lettered at end last fall, was moved to full before the Maine game and has been impressive in the switch. Senior Vic Dutkovich, a letterman at half in '58, rounds out the starting backfield.

All of the Hinsdale backs can pass and they are better-than-average runners.

LINE STANDOUTS include letterman Dick Holmberg, Dick Zambo, and John Schlucter. Zambo heads the weight parade among the starters, tipping the scale at 220. Hinsdale's line averages 180 with Zambo the heaviest and Schlucter at 150 the lightest.

Hinsdale has been improving steadily since a 35-0 pasting from New Trier in the opener. However, three of the starters — Dutkovich, Schlucter, and Dave Brooks — missed that season lidlifter.

Over in the Arlington camp, three positions are still questionable with either Fred Shipman or Buzz Owen at left tackle, Kurt Zimmerman or Carl Graf at right guard, and

TIME
Frosh-soph game, 6 p.m., Friday.
PLACE
East Leyden high school.
COACHES
Prospect, Bill Beckman; East Leyden, George Bujan.
DIRECTIONS
South on route 45 to Irving Park; east on Irving Park to stop light on east edge of cemetary; south about ¾ of a mile.

Sparking the resurgence at Leyden are a 125-pound halfback brought up from the junior-varsity team and a 152-pound fullback and linebacker.

"Don Coffman is our hardest runner," Bujan inserted, "despite his lack of size. And Ranallo is one of the best boys I've ever coached in regard to diagnosing plays. He's been averaging about 18 tackles a game."

COFFMAN was brought up for the Glenbrook game after some impressive performances with the JVs, and the junior speedster earned another starting slot with his showing against the league-leading Spartans.

Bujan has another 125-pounder, Don McDowell, manning the other half with Ranallo at full and senior Rog Lenberg, a threat at both running and passing, at quarterback.

Leyden's two tackles go 210 and 215 to head a line which averages 183 pounds per man. Center Larry Matson weighs in at 205.

Bujan is in his final season at Leyden after serving 13 years with the Franklin Park school.

PROSPECT'S Bill Beckman praised the Knights' defensive play against Willowbrook which limited the Warriors to only two first downs.

"But we know Leyden will be up for this game Friday," Beckman warned, "as it's Homecoming and the team still has yet to win this year."

Beckman credited Knight halfback Keith Voigt with an impressive performance both ways against Willowbrook. "Voigt is an outstanding all-around back," Beckman pointed out, "as he is a good runner, blocker, and tackler. He's been our steadiest performer."

IN ADDITION, the defensive play of Bill Zadel, Jeff Rogers, Bruce Andrise, and Mel Aukamp drew plaudits from the Knights' head coach.

Harriers To Run In WSC, Interim Meets

KICKIN' IT AROUND

By BOB FRISK

TALK ABOUT AN interesting weekend of football . . . Ohio State shocks Purdue, 15-0, with two field goals by a 156-pounder aiding the victory . . . Three area teams covered by Paddock Publications record shutouts—Arlington, Prospect, and Palatine . . . Prospect holds Willowbrook to just two first downs . . . Glenbrook's Interim pace-setters have to fight all the way against a surprisingly-tough East Leyden eleven . . . Final: Glenbrook 20, East Leyden 19 . . . Northwestern uncovers two more heroes in its "Who will star this week?" puzzlers . . . Libertyville gains 39 yards on one play against Palatine and still fails to pick up a first down . . . Two of the state's top prep half milers score touchdowns in grid victories . . . Lake Forest's Bill Rawson, second in the state 880 as a junior, covers 53 yards with a punt return and Arlington's Mike Dundy scores from four yards against York . . . Illinois' Bill Burrell gains 18 unassisted tackles in a brilliant defensive show against Minnesota . . . Burrell's performance prompts one writer to record: "Those football analysts who pick All-American teams will have a relatively easy job this year. They only have to ponder 10 of the 11 positions. The eleventh should go, by acclamation, to Bill Burrell" . . . LaGrange loses again! . . . Who would have believed you at the outset of the season if you had said LaGrange would drop its first four WSC games?

BILL RAWSON

Still considering that weekend: York has four downs to push over a score from the Arlington two yard line and still fails to counter . . . Elmhurst College loses its 19th straight football game, 39-0 . . . Lake Forest College tops Augustana, 27-26, with a 77-yard scoring pass on the last play of the game . . . Michigan State fumbles nine times and still beats Notre Dame, 19-0 . . . The Chicago Blackhawks, Chicago Cardinals, and Chicago Bears continue stumbling around in professional circles.

Yes, it was quite a weekend.

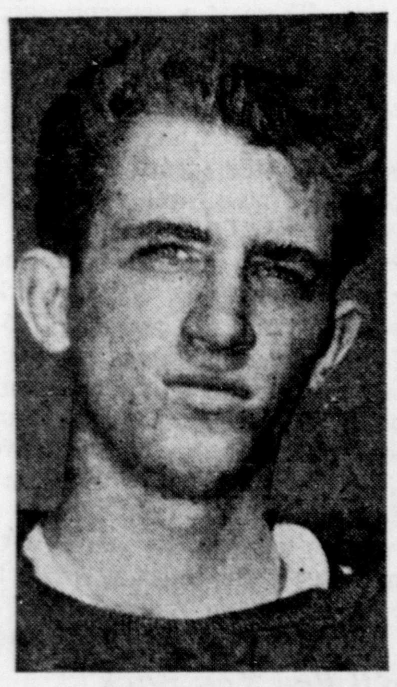
THIS 'N THAT:

Arlington's Jim Summers is apparently through with his collegiate football career at Bradley . . . Summers was injured in the third quarter against Washington at St. Louis and last week entered the St. Francis Hospital in Peoria to undergo an operation on his right knee for a displaced cartilage . . . Last year Summers suffered a broken leg in the Braves' second game of the season . . . Congratulations to Arlington's Dan Striegel on his selection as "Lineman of the week" by a metropolitan daily . . . But the selectors picked Dan's poorest game of the first four . . . He was outstanding against East Leyden, LaGrange, and Glenbard but tapered off a little in the game for which he was honored . . . Flynn Robinson, a guard on Elgin's strong cage team last year, is a frosh candidate at Southern Illinois . . . Robinson will be remembered for his outstanding performance against Arlington last December . . . We've heard of freshman "A" and "B" football teams but Waukegan's "C" unit recently won, 12-6 . . . Les Krause of Villa Park is out for fall baseball at Southern, and Paul Rucker of Bensenville is a tackle on Elmhurst College's football team.

It's interesting to observe the various policies set up by prep conferences in regard to sophomore sports. The West Suburban gives the sophs as much importance as the varsity in the President's Cup standings while the North Suburban fails to recognize any soph standings and fails to hold frosh-soph track, wrestling, or cross country meets.

We disagree with both. We feel the WSC places too much emphasis on sophomore sports in regard to the President's Cup. Insofar as the policy in the North Suburban, we feel that a complete disregard for league recognition at a sophomore level is unfortunate. It appears a happy medium between the policies of the WSC and North Suburban would be a logical solution.

Riverside-Brookfield's Boosters Club held an evening for the press and R-B coaches last week . . . Personal contact is invaluable in our type of work, and we were glad to get the opportunity to meet several Riverside coaches . . . Thanks again to M. M. Fickas, athletic director at R-B, and to the Boosters' Club for the invitation . . . Palatine's Chuck Conley, expected to be one of the state's top wrestlers at 103, is using cross country as a means of controlling his weight . . . Conley is currently the No. 2 man on Dick Welty's Harriers although he had never competed in the sport before this fall . . . There are three freshmen and four sophomores on Bradley's starting grid eleven.



MIKE FIELD was the key individual in Prospect's final score last Friday evening. Field recovered a fumble on the Willowbrook 14 and four plays later scored the game's final touchdown on a pass from Fred Lussow.

PHS Frosh Units Split with Warriors

A big Willowbrook freshman "A" team blanked Prospect high last Saturday, 20-0, although the Knights' "B" unit recorded a 7-0 victory over the Warriors.

Prospect's plebes will host East Leyden Saturday morning at 9:30.

Ivy to Speak At Prospect's Sports Banquet

Frank "Pop" Ivy, coach of the Chicago Cardinals football team, will be the guest speaker at the Fall Sports banquet at Prospect high school, on November 5, 1959. This dinner, sponsored by the Prospect Knights Boosters, will be the first of three such banquets held during the school year.

In addition to having been an All-American and a member of the College All-Stars during his playing days at the University of Oklahoma, Coach Ivy is recognized as an excellent speaker.

Since many persons other than parents of team members have indicated a desire to attend, the Boosters have extended an invitation to all persons in the area, and tickets may be purchased either at the School office or at Francek Real Estate at 8 E. Northwest Highway in Mt. Prospect prior to October 30.

In addition to the awarding of honors to the Knight athletes, this banquet will also be the occasion on which the Prospect Knights mascot will be presented to the school by the Boosters and the winner of the knight naming contest will be announced and presented with the cash prize.

R-B Hosts Loop Meet Saturday

One hundred and twelve boys will run in the West Suburban conference cross country meet Saturday at Riverside with the proceedings slated to open at 10 a.m.

Glenbard West, Maine, and Arlington are expected to rule the varsity division with the frosh-soph a toss-up between Glenbard, Maine, LaGrange, and York.

The annual cross country meet determines half of a team's final standing in the loop. A first in the WSC meet and a first in the final dual meet standings would give a team two points in the final tabulations.

EACH SCHOOL will be allowed to run seven boys Saturday with the top five finishers counting in the team totals.

Arlington's varsity coach, Russ Attis, has listed Chuck Phelan, Rog Frederickson, Jim Hendricks, Ron Treabess Bud Terbell, Tim Smith, and Ken Dougan as his seven entrants. Frosh-soph coach Frank Bohac indicated that the top boys in yesterday's meet with Hinsdale would get the nod for the conference affair.

Site of Meet

Fans may reach the site of the WSC cross country meet by driving south on 83 to 31st street. Go east on 31st past 1st avenue, traveling over a bridge. The field may be reached by going north on the first street beyond the bridge.

Arlington won the varsity division of the conference meet in 1958 with a four point margin over runnerup Glenbard. Bill Dodge and Bob Taggart, both June graduates, were the Cards' top finishers with a third and fourth.

GLENBARD and Maine went into the current week unbeaten in four loop battles in the varsity division with Arlington a close third at 3-1. Maine swept its first four frosh-soph meets with Glenbard, LaGrange, and York standing 3-1.

Dave Stineback, a junior at Glenbard West, is expected to be the top individual in Saturday's varsity test. Stineback finished second last year behind R-B's Rich Fisera and has already broken several course records this fall.

Junior Jack Kragie has been a standout for Maine this fall while Phelan and Frederickson, a soph, have paced Arlington's varsity.

Glenbard and Arlington tied for the WSC varsity cross country title last year on the basis of both the dual meets and loop test. Glenbard went on to gain an impressive second in the state meet.

Browns, Packers Claim Unbeaten Football Slates

The Browns and Packers maintained their unbeaten slates in Arlington's Midget Football leagues with both clubs possessing 3-0 marks.

Picking up their third victory with an easy 32-0 decision, the Browns rocked the 49'ers in the seventh and eighth grade division.

The Packers were led by Steve Ewert in an impressive 26-12 victory over the Giants.

Coming from behind after spotting the Lions six points which resulted from a sparkling 35 yard pass play from Ewert to Teuteberg, Joe Huske's fighting Rams came storming back in the third quarter to take the lead. The deciding points were scored by Joe Mueller whose bulldozing drives shattered the Lions' defenses for repeated gains.

Mueller plunged three yards for the tying six points then plunged over with the winning extra point. The Rams then thwarted each Lion drive to go ahead—drives that featured brilliant running by John Garrity.

Browns 32—49er's 0

With a rocked-ribbed defense and a devastating offense, Jack Martin's Browns continued the onslaught toward the title. Featured by the ripping runs of Tom Osterman who led the Browns drive with touchdown runs of 46 and 65 yards and scored another on a 20 yard pass from Steve Martin, the Browns dominated all phases of the game.

The scoring parade started on a 20 yard smash by Mike Fitzpatrick; Bill Warren then blocked a pass and grabbed the ball before it hit the ground and scampered over the goal line. The extra points were scored on passes from Steve Martin and Tom Jasper.

Prospect High Site For Interim

Prospect high school will host the first Interim association cross country meet Friday afternoon with the frosh-soph run launching the activities at 4:30.

Fifty-six boys will run in the frosh-soph class with Glenbard East and West Leyden entering boys for ribbons but not for team standing. Forty-two runners will make up the varsity field.

Proviso West's two strong entries are rated the favorites for Friday's meet with Wheaton and Prospect other title contenders.

FINAL TEAM standings for the Interim are based on both the finish of the conference meet and the finish in the dual meet standings. A first in both sections would mean two points, the minimum total needed for a league championship.

Ten boys are listed for each team in the conference meet with seven running and three alternates. The top five finishers for each school count toward the team standings.

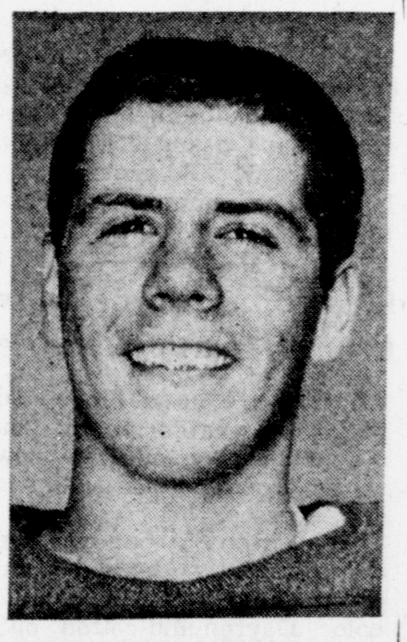
Proviso West's Barney Peterson and Wheaton's Dick Taylor are expected to be among the top individuals in the varsity battle.

Medals will be awarded the first ten finishers in the varsity meet with ribbons to the first 14 finishers in the frosh-soph meet.



SOPHOMORE BRUCE Andrise, starting fullback on Prospects varsity eleven, turned in some hard-running in the 28-0 victory over Willowbrook with 34 yards for 12 carries.

Arlington To Host Hinsdale

by BOB FRISK

There should be plenty of fireworks around Arlington high school Friday evening.

And it won't be the work of pranksters.

Arlington and Hinsdale are getting together for another of their gridiron clashes, and that means an explosive evening on the AHS field.

This crucial West Suburban encounter will match the loop's top point-producer with the division's stingiest defensive unit.

Hinsdale has piled up 104 markers in a quartet of games for a 26 per tilt average. Arlington, an unbeaten eleven after five games, has allowed only 20 points in four loop games and has blanked two opponents.

THE WEEK'S headliner in the WSC will be preceded by a frosh-soph battle pitting together one of the league's pace-setters with Roland Caranci's improving Cards. Game time is 6 p.m.

Hinsdale's Red Devils will come into the varsity test Friday fresh from a crushing 38-7 victory over LaGrange. Coach Harvey Dickinson's eleven has won three of five games with one loss, a 13-7 decision to Maine, in conference competition.

"We're definitely better than last year," Dickinson reported. "We have a better line with more experience and are slightly faster."

Hinsdale won five of eight in '58 and tied for third in the West Suburban.

ONLY ONE backfield letterman is included in the Red Devils' starting quartet of ball carriers, but Dickinson has two talented juniors and a converted end rounding out the starting alignment.

Junior Hal Brandt, a 6-1, 180 pounder, handles the quarterbacking with Junior Jim Carmignani manning the left half slot. Carmignani, the club's leading scorer, is a fleet 155-pounder.

Phil Krumb, who lettered at end last fall, was moved to full before the Maine game and has been impressive in the switch. Senior Vic Dutkovich, a letterman at half in '58, rounds out the starting backfield.

All of the Hinsdale backs can pass and they are better-than-average runners.

LINE STANDOUTS include letterman Dick Holmberg, Dick Zambo, and John Schlucter. Zambo heads the weight parade among the starters, tipping the scale at 220. Hinsdale's line averages 180 with Zambo the heaviest and Schlucter at 150 the lightest.

Hinsdale has been improving steadily since a 35-0 pasting from New Trier in the opener. However, three of the starters — Dutkovich, Schlucter, and Dave Brooks — missed that season lidlifter.

Over in the Arlington camp, three positions are still questionable with either Fred Shipman or Buzz Owen at left tackle, Kurt Zimmerman or Carl Graf at right guard, and

Defensive Play Sparks Two Grid Victories

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

Palatine Still in Contention

Our selections for last week in the North Suburban were all correct though Palatine and Woodstock won more easily than expected from Libertyville and Dundee. The results show four teams tied for first with 3-1 records in this evenly matched grid race and Palatine with 2-2 is certainly not out of contention. Barrington, Crystal Lake, Woodstock, and McHenry top the standings with one defeat. All of them could suffer another in this topsy-turvy season. Still to be played are Barrington vs. Crystal Lake, Barrington vs. Woodstock, and Crystal Lake vs. Woodstock. McHenry has Palatine, Dundee and Libertyville remaining for an easier schedule than the others. If the Palatine Piartes can win their remaining three games with McHenry, Zion, and Crystal Lake, we feel pretty certain that they could salvage a tie for first place. If McHenry beats Palatine Friday night, we would pick them to go on to a 6-1 record and the championship.

For this week we pick Palatine to beat McHenry by one TD if their passing attack clicks as it did last Saturday. We are picking Woodstock to top Crystal Lake and knock them out of immediate contention in another Friday night game. Libertyville will rebound with a Saturday win over Dundee as will Barrington over Zion-Benton.

Finest Homecoming in School's History

LAST SATURDAY'S HOMECOMING was the finest Palatine has ever held. The student council headed by Burt Showers, sponsor, and Brian Olsen, president, did a magnificent job of organizing parade, pep rally, queen election and crowning, and an outstanding evening of dancing. No Pirate football players ever came through in as grand a style as this year, with the undefeated Palatine sophs winning 6-0 over Libertyville's undefeated eleven and the varsity turning in a great display of second half offense to win 18-0. Wayland Campbell was the hero of the varsity game with his pass catching and pass interceptions. Palatine's depth really paid off with subs, Hicks and Phillips, leading the ground attack in the late stages of the game as Merutka and Seitz were sidelined with injuries. Palatine showed that they have the most reserve strength in the league. The gate of $943 is far and away the best in Palatine history for a day game and close to a record for either night or day events.

Little Change in Prep Standings

AROUND THE AREA there was little change in the gridiron standings. Arlington and Maine continue to top the West Suburban. Evanston remains on top in the Suburban league in spite of an upset at the hands of supposedly weak Morton as Proviso was tied by Niles. Maine beat Evanston in a non-conference season opener 6-0 which shows the class of the West Suburban. Argo's championship bubble burst as Thornton of Harvey took a 20-6 victory and probably will go on to the title. Freeport manhandled Elgin, like all other opponents, 25-6, and is rolling on toward an undefeated season in the Big Eight. Grayslake tied Warren while Round Lake beat Antioch 14-13 so Round Lake has the undisputed lead in the Northwest. Elmwood Park easily trounced Fenton and is ready to go all out to beat defending champ North Chicago in the four team Tri-County league. Glenbrook eked out a one point victory over East Leyden and is nearing an Interim League title. Three weeks of Chicago Suburban football remain and many of the leaders can be also rans at the finish.

Prospect Humbles Warriors

by TOM McSHANE

The Prospect high school defense did it again Friday night as the Knights downed Willowbrok 28-0 on the Arlington field.

Coach Bill Beckman's defensive unit held the Warriors to a total of 57 yards gained and two first downs while the offensive unit capitalized on several good breaks to put over its four touchdowns.

Willowbrook was plagued by defensive lapses of memory and some tough luck that late in the game cost the Warrios two touchdowns.

The Knight scored their first counter in the opening quarter when Halfback Tom Petrosino went over from the two on a plunge. The touchdown was set up by the patented down - and - out Fred Lussow to Fred Empkie pass that has clicked so frequently this year. This time End Empkie caught the ball on the Warrior 20 and made it to the two for a 33-yard gain before he was brought down.

THE SECOND Prospect score came in the second quarter when the Knights mounted a smooth 69-yard drive that ended with Halfback Keith Voight's eight-yard sweep around left end for the touchdown.

This drive marked the first time the Knight offense had clicked smoothly since the opening game against Proviso West.

Both teams had trouble moving the ball through the second half. The Kngihts went into another punting duel with Willowbrook's Halfback Fred Falkner.

Guard George McRae came out on top in the toe battle for the second straight week, averaging 31.5 yards on six boots compared to Falkner's 24.4 for nine.

McRAE SET UP the third Prospect touchdown late in the fourth quarter when he dropped one on the Willowbrook one-foot line from the 44.

Falkner tried to boot the Warriors out of the hole, but the Fates turned sour when the ball angled off his toe, dropped on the 15, and bounced back to the four.

Three plays later Petrosino rounded right end for the score.

Lady Luck still was sour on the boys from Villa Park when the teams lined up for the ensuing kickoff.

PROSPECT kicker Terry Miller's boot was taken by Quarterback Tom Jobin on the Warrior 23. Jobin headed for the east sideline looking for blockers. Just as he started his turn upfield Knight Halfback Keith Grams came flying out of nowhere and smashed him to the ground with a vicious tackle.

The ball squirted from Jobin's hands and rolled toward the Willowbrook goal. Prospect End Mike Field fell on the loose ball on the 14.

Field scored the fourth touchdown four plays later on a pass from Quarterback Lussow. Field took the ball bent double on the eight, shook off one defender, and stumbled into the end zone.

OF COURSE, the defensive unit drew the plaudits in the 13-0 victory over York as it stopped five of the host's drives deep in Arlington territory, including an effort which reached the one.

Dan Striegel played his fifth straight game without relief and turned in another addition, Ormsbee cited the impressive performance. In play of guard Roy Klehm and halfback Mike Dundy.

Dundy added 91 yards in only nine cracks and now has 395 yards rushing for a 6.8 average. Fullback Jim Ruffer has 310 yards in 62 cracks for a 5.0 mark.

Arlington Blanks York Dukes, 13-0

by BOB FRISK

Arlington can thank a stubborn defensive unit for its fifth straight victory of 1959.

Five times York high penetrated deep into the unbeaten Cards' territory, including a thrust to the one yard line in the third period.

Five times the York attacks were silenced short of paydirt.

Therein lies the story of the Cardinals' fourth straight West Suburban win and fifth straight victory of the current campaign.

Arlington's offense sputtered throughout most of the four quarters last Saturday but did manage to push over two scores in the 13-0 victory.

Jim Ruffer counted from ten yards with 10:40 remaining in the third quarter, and Mike Dundy scored with 3:15 remaining in the game. Dan Striegel kicked one extra point.

But it was that stubborn defensive unit which stole the show on the crisp, windy afternoon in Elmhurst.

IN THE FIRST period York moved to the Arlington 26 yard line before the threat died. At the outset of the second quarter the host Dukes penetrated to the Arlington 16 but a penalty and two incomplete passes ended that uprising.

York's serious threat came in the third segment when a series of three first downs moved the ball to the Arlington two. Jim Elliott tried the Cardinals' defense and bolted to the one, but he couldn't get moving on the second down play and was stopped three yards behind the line of scrimmage.

Jim Suckow tried his hand next but the Arlington defense was equal to the occasion, halting the York quarterback on the four. Ken Daugherty's fourth down carry was stopped where it originated at the four and Arlington took over.

THE HOST'S fourth scoring threat came to an abrupt halt at the Arlington 20 when two Suckow passes fell incomplete.

A key tackle by Rick Johnston was the major factor in checking a fifth York advance which reached the Arlington 21.

Arlington fumbled away scoring chances in the first half with five bobbles checking threats on the York 43, 23, 33, 11, and 24 yard lines.

Ironically, fumbles set up the Cards' two touchdowns. Bob Howard dropped the ball on the third play of the second half, and Arlington's Fred Shipman recovered on the York 10. Ruffer burst over on the first play from scrimmage, and Striegel converted.

ARLINGTON'S final scoring drive covered 29 yards after Bill McMillan had picked up a York fumble.

George Bork was nailed for an 11 yard loss on the first play from scrimmage and a pass fell incomplete on the second. But Bork lofted an aerial into the waiting arms of Dundy on a crucial third and 21 situation for a first down on the York four.

Dundy rocked over with 3:15 remaining to terminate the afternoon's scoring as Striegel's kick failed to split the uprights.

(Con't. from preceding page) Hotze's Cardinals knocked the Bears from the undefeated ranks. Featuring a devastating ground attack, the Cardinals ground out yardage as they pleased and their hard charging linemen completely contained the Bear attack.

The Bears scored first on a brilliant 40 yard run by Jim Brophy, but the Cards came right back and marched 60 yards in 12 plays with Andy Dale going over from the 4 yard line. The Cards made the extra point to lead 7-6 at the half time.

The Cards then forged ahead 13-6 on Billy Sayre's scamper around right end and for the balance of the game, kept constant pressure on the Bears as they kept advancing goalward each time they got the ball.

Packers 26—Giants 12

Putting on a brilliant one man display, little Steve Ewert led the Packers to a hard-earned 26-12 victroy. After scoring on runs of 10 and 15 yards, Ewert then counted by intercepting two passes, running one back 45 yards and the other 25 yards. However, it was the play of Buddy Bencic that kept the Giants in contention until the last quarter. Bencic's ripping drives and outstanding defensive work was an outstanding individual effort. It wasn't until Bencic was sidelined that the Packers' attack started to take its toll.

Colts 13—Eagles 0

Don Wigger's Colts finally broke into the victory column with a convincing 13-0 victory over Clyde Conley's Eagles. Containing the Eagle attack and stifling their fleet gacks the Colts put on a display of power.

Owens Routs Central

On Sunday afternoon, October 18, eight more games were played in the Mt. Prospect Midget Football League. After a hard-fought first half, Owens was able to capitalize on some fumbles and a pass interception in the second half and went on to beat Central 45-13 and remain the only undefeated team in the league. Lytle scored three touchdowns, White two and Lentz and Stocke one each for the winners. They were assisted by good line play by Johnson, Freeland and Nau.

Central scored their two touchdowns on a pass from Jack Bley to Jim LaRocco, good for 45 yards, and recovered fumble in the end zone by Steve Muller.

Sunset fought hard to hold back Fairview scoring threats and finally emerged the victors 13-7. Bob Gewecke scored for the winners on a brilliant catch of a 20 yard forward pass and Tim Walinski made the second score. For the losers, Alan Koehler scored on a 35 yard run while Mike Phillips played an outstanding game at quarterback and Don Jernberg, Harold Miller and Steve McNamara played well in the line.

THE LIONS maintained their tie for second place with Sunset by beating Prospect 26 - 6. The winners again showed a good, coordinated backfield and their defensive team, with Scott Armstrong and Ron Anderson in the line, was again outstanding. Although outscored, the Prospect team played exceptionally well, considering this is its first year of competition. Their score was made on a 50-yard pass to Kunz. Doug White and Kunz in the backfield and Dobly and Smith in the line were outstanding for the losers.

In the final senior game, Lincoln walloped Emerson, 45-7, with Wolf, Arnold and Barsey shining in the backfield for the winners, ably assisted by Wilkinson, Wesley, Swartz, Smith, Stevens and Miller in the line. Mike Buick was responsible for the loser's lone touchdown and the outstanding players in the backfield were Buick and Scott Paris, who was injured in the third quarter. Outstanding line players were Bill Murphy and Jeff Heiden.

IN THE Junior Division, Central kept up their winning ways by downing Owens, 32-6. For the winners, Jerry Packard got a key block from Bill Leonard and ran 76 yards for the first score. Tim Wille threw three perfect touchdown passes to Mike Mueller which covered 30, 40 and 50 yards each, while the final score for Central was another pass from Greg Christensen to Mueller, good for another 40 yards.

Fairview met a fighting Sunset team and barely eked out a 14-12 win to stay in a four-way tie for first place. Joel Martin did a fine job of backing up the line and scored both touchdowns for the winning Fairview team.

THE LIONS trounced Prospect 45-0 with Tom Owens doing an outstanding job in the backfield and scoring three touchdowns. The other scores were made by Bob Grady, Tom Kalawitz and Richard Burger. Bill Dox and Dave Longren shone in the line for the winners. For the Prospect team, Sering and Alan Glover played well in the backfield while Keith Lathrop did some excellent charging in the line together with Rick Tokich and R. Haddy.

Lincoln walloped Emerson in the final Junior game, 53-13, and showed a versatile running attack with three touchdowns scored by Henderson, two by Arnold and one each by Wilkinson, Guerin and Marshall. Other outstanding players for Lincoln were O'Keefe, Smith and Garlock in the backfield and Payne, Viger and Ward in the line.

For Emerson, Greg Clifford scored on a 30 yard touchdown pass from Ron McNulty and John Steinmiller ran back a kickoff 55 yards for a touchdown. Bob Stevens was outstanding on both offense and defense while Leroy Belardinelli was a good defense lineman.

Arlington's Frosh Unit Wins, 6-4

In what Coach Bill Daletski termed "their best game of the year," Arlington's freshman "A" football team topped York high Monday afternoon, 6-4.

In an effort to run out the clock and enable the young Cards to gain the advantage of a free kick, quarterback Chuck Close allowed himself to be caught in the end zone with less than two minutes to play, giving York its final two points.

The Dukes took Arlington's kick but in two plays Dan Meyer picked off a York pass and the Cards had the victory.

An 85-yard run from scrimmage by Joe Werthweimer accounted for Arlington's only score, but the young Cards stood out on defense, twice checking York threats near the goal-line.

Bill Snodgrass' key tackle on a York pass play, stopping the receiver on the Arlington three, was one of the highlights in the win.

Hermes Leads Arlington JVs Over York High

An aerial-minded Arlington JV team stopped York high Monday afternoon, 18-13.

Scoring one touchdown in each of the final three periods, Chuck Aldrich's Cards only trailed once in the contest, York taking a 6-0 lead in the first quarter.

Frank Hermes figured in all three Arlington scores. The junior quarterback flipped two scoring passes to Gary Gullett and Jim Blake and also tallied one himself on a 20-yard maneuver.

Hermes had passed to Tim O'Gorman on that 20-yarder with O'Gorman eventually lateralling the ball back to Frank for the score.

Palatine Still in Contention

Our selections for last week in the North Suburban were all correct though Palatine and Woodstock won more easily than expected from Libertyville and Dundee. The results show four teams tied for first with 3-1 records in this evenly matched grid race and Palatine with 2-2 is certainly not out of contention. Barrington, Crystal Lake, Woodstock, and McHenry top the standings with one defeat. All of them could suffer another in this topsy-turvy season. Still to be played are Barrington vs. Crystal Lake, Barrington vs. Woodstock, and Crystal Lake vs. Woodstock. McHenry has Palatine, Dundee and Libertyville remaining for an easier schedule than the others. If the Palatine Piartes can win their remaining three games with McHenry, Zion, and Crystal Lake, we feel pretty certain that they could salvage a tie for first place. If McHenry beats Palatine Friday night, we would pick them to go on to a 6-1 record and the championship.

For this week we pick Palatine to beat McHenry by one TD if their passing attack clicks as it did last Saturday. We are picking Woodstock to top Crystal Lake and knock them out of immediate contention in another Friday night game. Libertyville will rebound with a Saturday win over Dundee as will Barrington over Zion-Benton.

Finest Homecoming in School's History

LAST SATURDAY'S HOMECOMING was the finest Palatine has ever held. The student council headed by Burt Showers, sponsor, and Brian Olsen, president, did a magnificent job of organizing parade, pep rally, queen election and crowning, and an outstanding evening of dancing. No Pirate football players ever came through in as grand a style as this year, with the undefeated Palatine sophs winning 6-0 over Libertyville's undefeated eleven and the varsity turning in a great display of second half offense to win 18-0. Wayland Campbell was the hero of the varsity game with his pass catching and pass interceptions. Palatine's depth really paid off with subs, Hicks and Phillips, leading the ground attack in the late stages of the game as Merutka and Seitz were sidelined with injuries. Palatine showed that they have the most reserve strength in the league. The gate of $943 is far and away the best in Palatine history for a day game and close to a record for either night or day events.

Little Change in Prep Standings

AROUND THE AREA there was little change in the gridiron standings. Arlington and Maine continue to top the West Suburban. Evanston remains on top in the Suburban league in spite of an upset at the hands of supposedly weak Morton as Proviso was tied by Niles. Maine beat Evanston in a non-conference season opener 6-0 which shows the class of the West Suburban. Argo's championship bubble burst as Thornton of Harvey took a 20-6 victory and probably will go on to the title. Freeport manhandled Elgin, like all other opponents, 25-6, and is rolling on toward an undefeated season in the Big Eight. Grayslake tied Warren while Round Lake beat Antioch 14-13 so Round Lake has the undisputed lead in the Northwest. Elmwood Park easily trounced Fenton and is ready to go all out to beat defending champ North Chicago in the four team Tri-County league. Glenbrook eked out a one point victory over East Leyden and is nearing an Interim League title. Three weeks of Chicago Suburban football remain and many of the leaders can be also rans at the finish.

Defensive Play Sparks Two Grid Victories

by TOM McSHANE

The Prospect high school defense did it again Friday night as the Knights downed Willowbrok 28-0 on the Arlington field.

Coach Bill Beckman's defensive unit held the Warriors to a total of 57 yards gained and two first downs while the offensive unit capitalized on several good breaks to put over its four touchdowns.

Willowbrook was plagued by defensive lapses of memory and some tough luck that late in the game cost the Warrios two touchdowns.

The Knight scored their first counter in the opening quarter when Halfback Tom Petrosino went over from the two on a plunge. The touchdown was set up by the patented down - and - out Fred Lussow to Fred Empkie pass that has clicked so frequently this year. This time End Empkie caught the ball on the Warrior 20 and made it to the two for a 33-yard gain before he was brought down.

THE SECOND Prospect score came in the second quarter when the Knights mounted a smooth 69-yard drive that ended with Halfback Keith Voight's eight-yard sweep around left end for the touchdown.

This drive marked the first time the Knight offense had clicked smoothly since the opening game against Proviso West.

Both teams had trouble moving the ball through the second half. The Kngihts went into another punting duel with Willowbrook's Halfback Fred Falkner.

Guard George McRae came out on top in the toe battle for the second straight week, averaging 31.5 yards on six boots compared to Falkner's 24.4 for nine.

McRAE SET UP the third Prospect touchdown late in the fourth quarter when he dropped one on the Willowbrook one-foot line from the 44.

Falkner tried to boot the Warriors out of the hole, but the Fates turned sour when the ball angled off his toe, dropped on the 15, and bounced back to the four.

Three plays later Petrosino rounded right end for the score.

Lady Luck still was sour on the boys from Villa Park when the teams lined up for the ensuing kickoff.

PROSPECT kicker Terry Miller's boot was taken by Quarterback Tom Jobin on the Warrior 23. Jobin headed for the east sideline looking for blockers. Just as he started his turn upfield Knight Halfback Keith Grams came flying out of nowhere and smashed him to the ground with a vicious tackle.

The ball squirted from Jobin's hands and rolled toward the Willowbrook goal. Prospect End Mike Field fell on the loose ball on the 14.

Field scored the fourth touchdown four plays later on a pass from Quarterback Lussow. Field took the ball bent double on the eight, shook off one defender, and stumbled into the end zone.

Arlington Blanks York Dukes, 13-0

by BOB FRISK

Arlington can thank a stubborn defensive unit for its fifth straight victory of 1959.

Five times York high penetrated deep into the unbeaten Cards' territory, including a thrust to the one yard line in the third period.

Five times the York attacks were silenced short of paydirt.

Therein lies the story of the Cardinals' fourth straight West Suburban win and fifth straight victory of the current campaign.

Central scored their two touchdowns on a pass from Jack Bley to Jim LaRocco, good for 45 yards, and recovered fumble in the end zone by Steve Muller.

Sunset fought hard to hold back Fairview scoring threats and finally emerged the victors 13-7. Bob Gewecke scored for the winners on a brilliant catch of a 20 yard forward pass and Tim Walinski made the second score. For the losers, Alan Koehler scored on a 35 yard run while Mike Phillips played an outstanding game at quarterback and Don Jernberg, Harold Miller and Steve McNamara played well in the line.

THE LIONS maintained their tie for second place with Sunset by beating Prospect 26 - 6. The winners again showed a good, coordinated backfield and their defensive team, with Scott Armstrong and Ron Anderson in the line, was again outstanding. Although outscored, the Prospect team played exceptionally well, considering this is its first year of competition. Their score was made on a 50-yard pass to Kunz. Doug White and Kunz in the backfield and Dobly and Smith in the line were outstanding for the losers.

In the final senior game, Lincoln walloped Emerson, 45-7, with Wolf, Arnold and Barsey shining in the backfield for the winners, ably assisted by Wilkinson, Wesley, Swartz, Smith, Stevens and Miller in the line. Mike Buick was responsible for the loser's lone touchdown and the outstanding players in the backfield were Buick and Scott Paris, who was injured in the third quarter. Outstanding line players were Bill Murphy and Jeff Heiden.

IN THE Junior Division, Central kept up their winning ways by downing Owens, 32-6. For the winners, Jerry Packard got a key block from Bill Leonard and ran 76 yards for the first score. Tim Wille threw three perfect touchdown passes to Mike Mueller which covered 30, 40 and 50 yards each, while the final score for Central was another pass from Greg Christensen to Mueller, good for another 40 yards.

Fairview met a fighting Sunset team and barely eked out a 14-12 win to stay in a four-way tie for first place. Joel Martin did a fine job of backing up the line and scored both touchdowns for the winning Fairview team.

THE LIONS trounced Prospect 45-0 with Tom Owens doing an outstanding job in the backfield and scoring three touchdowns. The other scores were made by Bob Grady, Tom Kalawitz and Richard Burger. Bill Dox and Dave Longren shone in the line for the winners. For the Prospect team, Sering and Alan Glover played well in the backfield while Keith Lathrop did some excellent charging in the line together with Rick Tokich and R. Haddy.

Lincoln walloped Emerson in the final Junior game, 53-13, and showed a versatile running attack with three touchdowns scored by Henderson, two by Arnold and one each by Wilkinson, Guerin and Marshall. Other outstanding players for Lincoln were O'Keefe, Smith and Garlock in the backfield and Payne, Viger and Ward in the line.

For Emerson, Greg Clifford scored on a 30 yard touchdown pass from Ron McNulty and John Steinmiller ran back a kickoff 55 yards for a touchdown. Bob Stevens was outstanding on both offense and defense while Leroy Belardinelli was a good defense lineman.

Arlington's Frosh Unit Wins, 6-4

In what Coach Bill Daletski termed "their best game of the year," Arlington's freshman "A" football team topped York high Monday afternoon, 6-4.

In an effort to run out the clock and enable the young Cards to gain the advantage of a free kick, quarterback Chuck Close allowed himself to be caught in the end zone with less than two minutes to play, giving York its final two points.

The Dukes took Arlington's kick but in two plays Dan Meyer picked off a York pass and the Cards had the victory.

An 85-yard run from scrimmage by Joe Werthweimer accounted for Arlington's only score, but the young Cards stood out on defense, twice checking York threats near the goal-line.

Bill Snodgrass' key tackle on a York pass play, stopping the receiver on the Arlington three, was one of the highlights in the win.

Hermes Leads Arlington JVs Over York High

An aerial-minded Arlington JV team stopped York high Monday afternoon, 18-13.

Scoring one touchdown in each of the final three periods, Chuck Aldrich's Cards only trailed once in the contest, York taking a 6-0 lead in the first quarter.

Frank Hermes figured in all three Arlington scores. The junior quarterback flipped two scoring passes to Gary Gullett and Jim Blake and also tallied one himself on a 20-yard maneuver.

Hermes had passed to Tim O'Gorman on that 20-yarder with O'Gorman eventually lateralling the ball back to Frank for the score.

Casablanca Bowlers Eclipse Team Mark

Tommy Thomas Casablanca bowlers of Palatine burned up the alleys Saturday night at Hi-Way Recreation with a record-setting 1139, topping by four pins the previous Paddock Classic league record set last season by Flood Engineering. Four of the five Palatine men were in the 200 bracket with the five games of that 1139 sortie 254 by Ron Fogarett, 243 by Charles Johnson, 241 by Irv Hahnfeldt, 221 by John Baskes and 180 by Lee Adams. Casablanca had lost the opener to Martinetti 997-966, and won the second with 954. Then came the big one and the headlines.

Series totals for Casablanca were Ron Fogarett 634, Irv Hahnfeldt 629, Charles Johnson 615, John Baskes 600. That high series of Fogarett raised his average to 198.

DIEHL

STAVROS INCHED ahead of Pentane Gas in the battle for the league lead in spite of taking just one game from Connie's Snack Shop as Beverley Lanes took all three from the gas men. Beverly, though, is now tied with Stavros for the loop lead. Jeffery Lanes keglers won the first game with 983, then fell before the Des Plaines aggregation's 972 and 984. Jerry Diehl of Niles hit 613 for the winners.

Beverly Lanes came through with 938, 961 and 931 to take all three games from Pentane Gas with Dave Catherwood's 619 top scores.

This Saturday evening at 6:30 it will be James Stavros hosting Beverly Lanes at Jeffery Lanes with the league lead at stake, Connies — Des Plaines traveling to the Ten Pin at Barrington to meet Martinetti, and Pentane Gas trying to get back into the win column against Casablanca at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine.

Standings:

Casablanca Bowlers Eclipse Team Mark

Tommy Thomas Casablanca bowlers of Palatine burned up the alleys Saturday night at Hi-Way Recreation with a record-setting 1139, topping by four pins the previous Paddock Classic league record set last season by Flood Engineering. Four of the five Palatine men were in the 200 bracket with the five games of that 1139 sortie 254 by Ron Fogarett, 243 by Charles Johnson, 241 by Irv Hahnfeldt, 221 by John Baskes and 180 by Lee Adams. Casablanca had lost the opener to Martinetti 997-966, and won the second with 954. Then came the big one and the headlines.

Series totals for Casablanca were Ron Fogarett 634, Irv Hahnfeldt 629, Charles Johnson 615, John Baskes 600. That high series of Fogarett raised his average to 198.

DIEHL

STAVROS INCHED ahead of Pentane Gas in the battle for the league lead in spite of taking just one game from Connie's Snack Shop as Beverley Lanes took all three from the gas men. Beverly, though, is now tied with Stavros for the loop lead. Jeffery Lanes keglers won the first game with 983, then fell before the Des Plaines aggregation's 972 and 984. Jerry Diehl of Niles hit 613 for the winners.

Beverly Lanes came through with 938, 961 and 931 to take all three games from Pentane Gas with Dave Catherwood's 619 top scores.

This Saturday evening at 6:30 it will be James Stavros hosting Beverly Lanes at Jeffery Lanes with the league lead at stake, Connies — Des Plaines traveling to the Ten Pin at Barrington to meet Martinetti, and Pentane Gas trying to get back into the win column against Casablanca at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine.

Announce Schedule Change

The "Midnight Blues" have been taken out of the Paddock tournament.

That was the news this week as sports promoter Bob Paddock, working with Beverly Lanes manager Tom Kouros, announced cutting from a schedule of five 16-team squads on Sunday of the tournament to just four.

It will put an end to the 10 p.m. squad Sunday nights of the past, meaning earlier hours for both bowlers and tourney officials.

THE PADDOCK tournament, with leaders of local men's and women's leagues eligible, is expected to draw squads from 88 men's loops and 50 women's loops this time. That'll be new record in each case, and attests to increased league bowling in the area.

First place teams of all local men's leagues as of Dec. 19 will be eligible for the men's tournament at Beverly Lanes Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 9 and 10.

First place teams of all local women's leagues as of Dec. 26 will be eligible for the ladies' event at Gunnell's Lanes Sunday, Jan. 17.

COMPETITION Sunday, Jan. 10, for the men will include four squads at 1:00, 3:25, 5:50 and 8:15. Two squads will roll that Saturday at 1:30 and 3:55. Early slate on Saturday will eliminate conflict with plans of bowlers' wives, and the new schedule for Sunday play will mean everyone will be in better shape for work the following day.

The women's event will include squads at 12:30, 3:10, 5:50 and 8:30 that Sunday. Entry fee of $18.25 due with entries will cover bowling, score keeping, and $7.50 prize money.

Prospect Harriers Win Pair

Bob Meissner's two Prospect high cross country teams stopped Willowbrook last Friday afternoon with the varsity winning, 25-31, and the frosh-sophs, 15-60.

Although Willowbrook's Rich Janssen was the individual winner in 10:57, Prospect managed to gain the second, third, fourth, seventh, and ninth positions.

Rog Luedke, Doug Vaughn, and Jim Glidden finished behind Janssen with George Renner in seventh and Rick Von Kutzleben in ninth.

Meissner's sophs swept the first five spots in the shutout with Tom Bremner, Gary Marks, Dick Gay, Jim Freyer, and Mike Schwinn finishing in that order.

Cards' Varsity Harriers Win; Sophs Beaten

Arlington's harriers gained a split with York Saturday morning on the Elmhurst school's course.

Russ Attis' varsity topped the Dukes, 20-43, while Frank Bohac's frosh-sophs were turned back, 18-49.

Senior Chuck Phelan paced the victorious varsity, covering the course in 9:55, two seconds ahead of teammate Rog Frederickson.

York took third and fifth, but Arlington gained fourth, sixth, and seventh with Jim Hendricks, Ron Treabess, and Tim Smith.

Joel Martin was the top Arlington finisher in the younger division, placing fourth. Rounding out the Cardinal scorers were Gary Brodnan, sixth; Dan Bedford, twelfth; Larry Weidner, thirteenth; and Terry Witt, fourteenth.

PHS Sophs Roll Past Willowbrook

The rejuvenated frosh-soph footballers from Prospect high school did it again Friday night.

The little Knights waltzed to an easy 32-7 victory over Willowbrook.

The Prospect eleven was led once again by the passing arm of Quarterback Tommy Thomas and the end play of Jim Anderson.

A 45-yard Thomas to Anderson pass opened the Knight scoring in the first period.

THE LITTLE Knights put over two more scores before the half ended.

Thomas ran five yards to make it 19-0. Fullback Allan Reese added the point on a run.

Fullback Steve Fossler got the fourth score on a 12-yard jaunt around right end. The half ended with the score 26-0.

In the third quarter reserve Quarterback Mike Franceck scored on a 15-yard sweep around right end to wind up the Prospect scoring.

Decision in Soph Game Raises Several Queries

York's unbeaten frosh-soph eleven almost suffered its first league loss last Saturday afternoon.

Some say it would have except for a questionable decision. No one will ever know.

In any respect, the young Dukes walked off with a tight, 7-6 victory over Roland Caranci's Arlington Cards.

The questionable decision occurred near the end of the game. Arlington had apparently pushed the ball over for the leading touchdown though fumbling after the score. That's when the puzzle began.

AN ILLEGAL procedure penalty was called against the young Cards. It was agreed that this was a valid call. But the head linesman also indicated that the fumble which occurred on the play happened before the Arlington back went into the end zone.

Consequently, York had the option of either taking the penalty and putting the Cards back on the six yard line or taking the ball itself on the 20. The Dukes decision was obvious.

Now the question arises as to whether the ball was fumbled before or after the boy went into the end zone. It appeared to most people that the ball was fumbled after a touchdown had been made.

WITH THAT IN mind, the touchdown would not have counted and the illegal procedure penalty would have stood up, moving the Cards back to the six but still enabling them to get another crack at the score.

It's just speculation now as to what was the proper call under the circumstances. Anyway it makes for an interesting debate.

Arlington 'B' Squad Triumphs

Arlington's freshman "B" eleven roced York Tuesday afternoon, 32-6.

The young Cards, coached by Chuck Harrington, had piled up a 19-0 halftime lead on the way to their third victory of the season.

fresh new beauty
from the only car with Wide-Track wheels!

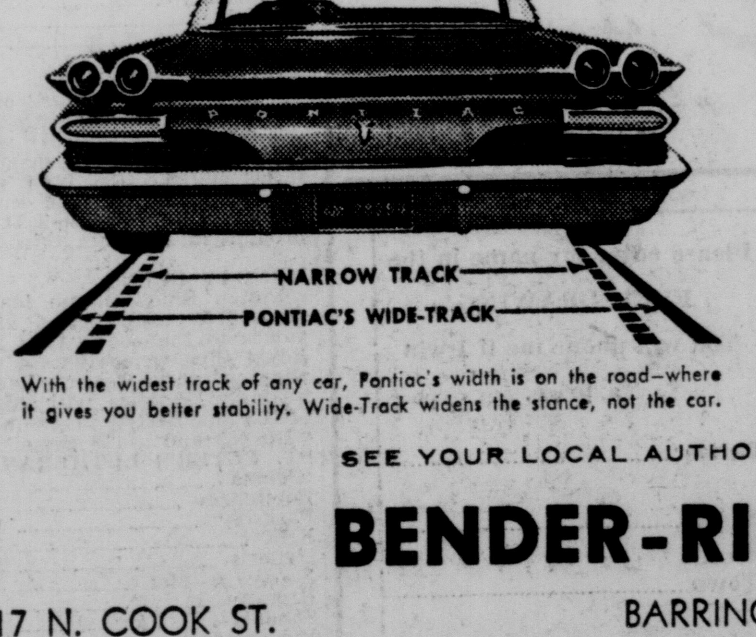
A car is a living thing.
And all living things must change.
This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.
The prow is styled for excitement.
The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical.
The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.
The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.



With the widest track of any car, Pontiac's width is on the road—where it gives you better stability. Wide-Track widens the stance, not the car.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.
For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.
You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

Announce Schedule Change

The "Midnight Blues" have been taken out of the Paddock tournament.

That was the news this week as sports promoter Bob Paddock, working with Beverly Lanes manager Tom Kouros, announced cutting from a schedule of five 16-team squads on Sunday of the tournament to just four.

It will put an end to the 10 p.m. squad Sunday nights of the past, meaning earlier hours for both bowlers and tourney officials.

THE PADDOCK tournament, with leaders of local men's and women's leagues eligible, is expected to draw squads from 88 men's loops and 50 women's loops this time. That'll be new record in each case, and attests to increased league bowling in the area.

First place teams of all local men's leagues as of Dec. 19 will be eligible for the men's tournament at Beverly Lanes Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 9 and 10.

First place teams of all local women's leagues as of Dec. 26 will be eligible for the ladies' event at Gunnell's Lanes Sunday, Jan. 17.

COMPETITION Sunday, Jan. 10, for the men will include four squads at 1:00, 3:25, 5:50 and 8:15. Two squads will roll that Saturday at 1:30 and 3:55. Early slate on Saturday will eliminate conflict with plans of bowlers' wives, and the new schedule for Sunday play will mean everyone will be in better shape for work the following day.

The women's event will include squads at 12:30, 3:10, 5:50 and 8:30 that Sunday. Entry fee of $18.25 due with entries will cover bowling, score keeping, and $7.50 prize money.

PHS Sophs Roll Past Willowbrook

The rejuvenated frosh-soph footballers from Prospect high school did it again Friday night.

The little Knights waltzed to an easy 32-7 victory over Willowbrook.

The Prospect eleven was led once again by the passing arm of Quarterback Tommy Thomas and the end play of Jim Anderson.

A 45-yard Thomas to Anderson pass opened the Knight scoring in the first period.

Another Thomas-Anderson flip, this one for 25 yards, tallied the second counter in the opening minutes of the second quarter. Thomas ran for the point.

THE LITTLE Knights put over two more scores before the half ended.

Thomas ran five yards to make it 19-0. Fullback Allan Reese added the point on a run.

Fullback Steve Fossler got the fourth score on a 12-yard jaunt around right end. The half ended with the score 26-0.

In the third quarter reserve Quarterback Mike Francek scored on a 15-yard sweep around right end to wind up the Prospect scoring.

Decision in Soph Game Raises Several Queries

York's unbeaten frosh-soph eleven almost suffered its first league loss last Saturday afternoon.

Some say it would have except for a questionable decision. No one will ever know.

In any respect, the young Dukes walked off with a tight, 7-6 victory over Roland Caranci's Arlington Cards.

The questionable decision occurred near the end of the game. Arlington had apparently pushed the ball over for the leading touchdown though fumbling after the score. That's when the puzzle began.

AN ILLEGAL procedure penalty was called against the young Cards. It was agreed that this was a valid call. But the head linesman also indicated that the fumble which occurred on the play happened before the Arlington back went into the end zone.

Consequently, York had the option of either taking the penalty and putting the Cards back on the six yard line or taking the ball itself on the 20. The Dukes decision was obvious.

Now the question arises as to whether the ball was fumbled before or after the boy went into the end zone. It appeared to most people that the ball was fumbled after a touchdown had been made.

WITH THAT IN mind, the touchdown would not have counted and the illegal procedure penalty would have stood up, moving the Cards back to the six but still enabling them to get another crack at the score.

It's just speculation now as to what was the proper call under the circumstances. Anyway it makes for an interesting debate.

Arlington 'B' Squad Triumphs

Arlington's freshman "B" eleven roced York Tuesday afternoon, 32-6.

The young Cards, coached by Chuck Harrington, had piled up a 19-0 halftime lead on the way to their third victory of the season.

fresh new beauty
from the only car with Wide-Track wheels!

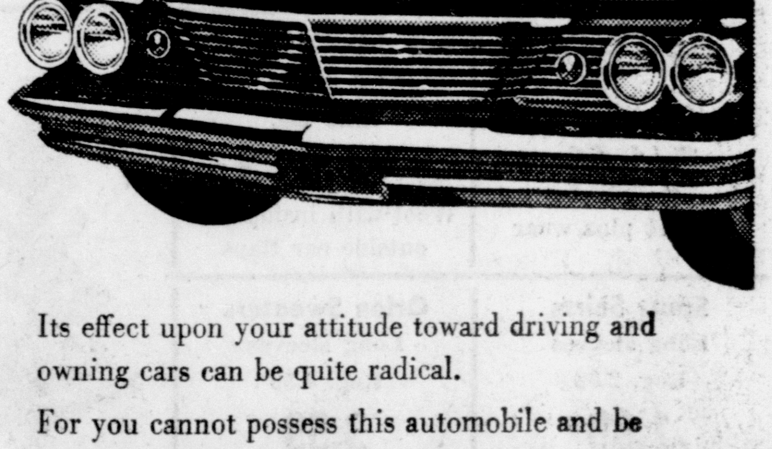
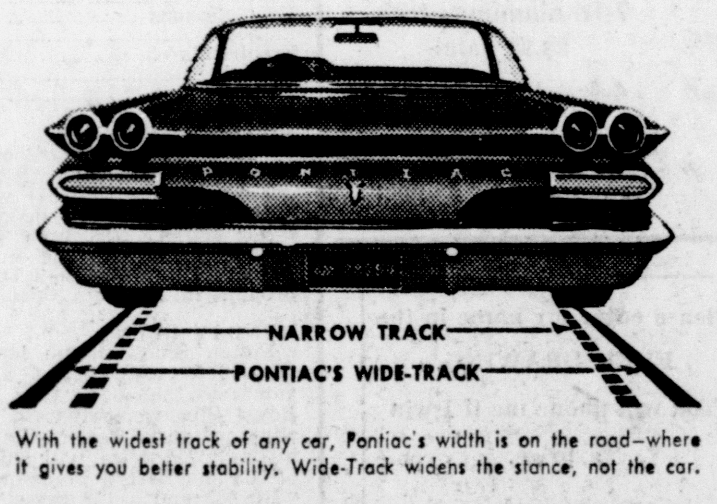
A car is a living thing.
And all living things must change.
This is why the creative car builders of Pontiac took the proved principle of Wide-Track Wheel Design and surrounded it with fresh, exhilarating, totally new beauty for 1960.
The prow is styled for excitement.
The horizontal bars bear the artistry of the classical.
The perfect profile comes from just-right proportion, unity, rhythm.
The clean, graceful back contributes character where other cars seem only to reflect confusion.





With the widest track of any car, Pontiac's width is on the road—where it gives you better stability. Wide-Track widens the stance, not the car.

Its effect upon your attitude toward driving and owning cars can be quite radical.
For you cannot possess this automobile and be anything less than lighthearted. You cannot control it and be anything less than sportive about driving.
You cannot be seen in it and be anything less than buoyantly proud.

The Way We See It

Language Barriers Must Be Shattered

Last week officials of Chicago's elementary public school system announced that they expected to have Chinese language classes introduced in two of their schools by February.

Schools in Washington, D. C. this year are teaching French and Spanish to third graders. Elementary schools in Hawaii are teaching Chinese, Korean, Japanese, Hindi, and Tagalog.

The two Chicago schools began experimental Russian classes two weeks ago.

There is a definite trend, spurred by many of our leading educators, toward a broadening of school curriculums to include language at lower grade levels.

And there has been a definite interest, spurred by Russian advances, shown by our children and teachers in the languages and cultures of the Asiatic nations.

The awareness of the need for international communications in our quickly-narrowing world is becoming acute.

The fact that Chicago's grade schools have recognized this need is commendable.

It would be well for our northwest suburban schools to follow this example.

In Arlington Heights a committee is studying the possibility of teaching foreign languages in the elementary schools.

Palatine presently has one French teacher instructing 21 classes starting with third graders. The children get the language twice a week for periods ranging from a quarter to three-quarters of an hour depending on their ages.

Mt. Prospect has no formal program of language education for its youngsters. The schools, however, do have French, Spanish, and German clubs with teacher volunteers in charge. But none of the teachers is qualified to instruct in the language.

The only truly bright light in our area is the Roselle school system where every child enrolled gets five years of either conversational French or Spanish in the third through eighth grades. The Parkside school, rigged for closed television, may prove to be one of the most progressive schools in the country.

School boards in the Itasca and Medinah area are learning from the Roselle setup. Their northern neighbors should take advantage of the experiment also.

The expenditures involved in setting up a language schedule in our grade schools would be worthwhile. Educators, diplomats, and visitors from abroad have repeatedly pointed to the language barrier as the greatest deterrent to amicable relations between the nations of the world.

Only through a thorough understanding of the language and culture of the nations with whom we must live on this small globe can we hope to maintain a balance that will permit peace. The grade school is the best place in which to begin this training.

Our economic and social cultures have belittled education to the point that it took a shock from the hammer and sickle countries to wake us.

Now that the horse has escaped the barn, they are trying desperately to close the door.

Perhaps the sharpest criticism can be leveled at our leaders for their lack of foresight.

In the past it was traditional for the child, who had the ability, to take two years of French, Spanish, or German in high school, and possibly more of the same in college if he so desired.

Recently the tide has begun to turn toward Asia. Over 400 high schools across the country are offering Russian. Colleges and universities have felt a heavy demand for Asiatic language courses.

Here again the Chicago schools are to be commended.

Today every indication points to more and more dealings with the nations of Asia. The power structure of the world has shifted from a tired, beaten Europe to a young, aggressive Asia.

In the future we also undoubtedly will see the debut of the black continent in the drama of our existence.

In the past we have lacked foresight. We have read the book of life from the end to the beginning, hoping to learn the rules from what has gone before.

Now we must realize that this is the beginning of a new life for man. We have new rules. We no longer can afford to look behind. We must look ahead and be ready.

There is no room for conservatism or complacency in our schools today.

Chicago has taken the lead in introducing Russian and Chinese language courses in its classrooms.

We hope our suburban schools will follow this example.

Chicago Censor Board's Ladies Get 'Censored'

Last Thursday two women were dropped from the Chicago police censor board by Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Conner after a well-publicized spat during the showing of a movie on which they were asked to pass judgment.

The women, Mrs. Honey Fischman and Mrs. Josephine O'Hallaren, both widows of former Chicago aldermen, quarreled violently (a shoe flew across the room at one time) October 7 while viewing the movie "Three Strange Loves."

In dismissing the ladies the commissioner's office said that the two simply could not get along.

In our minds the dismissals serve only to add to the nonsensical farce that has been made of the attempts to censor movies, books, and magazines in recent years.

Chicago has a censor board made up of six women and headed by a lone police sergeant. The women all are political appointees, picked by the mayor and police commissioner. The job pays $4,380 a year.

These women are responsible for every movie that hits the screens of the city. They completely control the viewing of almost four million people.

They are defended in their decisions by the mayor and city council.

Yet we find in the reason for their dismissal the very argument behind the strong opposition to any form of censorship.

They could not get along. They could not agree with one another.

This on a board of six women and one policeman. How much greater must the disagreement be among those four million people.

The Chicago example lends further support to the stand we have taken on censorship in our suburban area.

We never have and never will feel that anyone, especially a political appointee, has the right or the intelligence to select entertainment or discriminate sources of knowledge for anyone else.

We maintain that it is up to each adult to select what he thinks suitable for himself and his children.

It is indeed a shame that the ladies had to lose their soft jobs, but perhaps their case will open the eyes of the city fathers on this all-important question.

Tonight I have decided that I had better not agree to canvass for funds for any organization until my faith in the people of Mt. Prospect has been restored somehow.

Since my moving to Mt. Prospect in 1953 my wife and I have helped on at least one drive every year. I believe it was 1956 when I was chairman for the northside of Mt. Prospect for the Girl Scout fund raising. That same year I was institutional representative for a Boy Scout troop. I attended nearly all committee meetings until some members of the committee sided with a resident who got very angry and abusive toward one of the canvassing mothers for trying to raise funds for the Girl Scouts.

IN TRYING TO raise funds for the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Heart Fund, Red Cross, etc., I have heard every excuse possible. I find that the women tend to use the excuse that their husbands support the drives at work and the men lend their support to every other drive and they can't afford to support them all. It seems strange that I am always seeking funds for the one they can't afford.

I was under the impression that general fund drives could not be made without approval of the village board in Mt. Prospect. This was so that the drives would not overlap. We had approval for the Girl Scout drive in 1956. Evidently, this past week, other drives have been in progress beside the Girl Scout drive.

It appears that the only solution is to start a once a year fund drive for all of the organizations. At least in that way they'll all sink together unless the people wake up to realize that they benefit from all these worthwhile organizations no matter how remotely. I am sure that all of the people who have been canvassers would heartily agree that the time has come for a Community Chest drive in Mt. Prospect.

IN THIS particular Girl Scout drive I was flatly refused with the excuse that they support the Boy Scouts or the Campfire Girls. I use the word excuse because an excuse is "that which extenuates or justifies a fault," whereas a reason is "a statement offered as a justification of an act." In my estimation this is a fault. I am not trying to set myself or family up as paragons but we have always tried to have the proper community spirit. While we do not have a Campfire Girl in the family and my wife is in her second year as a Girl Scout leader, this does not stop us from contributing to the Campfire Girl fund drive or making an additional monetary contribution to the Girl Scouts. We have yet to refuse a check to any general organized fund drive. We have set a minimum amount for which we write checks and we always contribute by check. For the drives with which we are more concerned, like the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts we contribute more.

I'm really curious to know if many people are getting gouged as much as I am by local businesses. By gouged, I mean those big-hearted appliance dealers who sell you defective merchandise and then stiff arm your pleas for service. The water softener shops that won't even look at your unit, one they sold you, for less than $7.50.

Then there's the radio and hi-fi shops with the semi-skilled labor who charge you $10 for not fixing things. A newly-arrived resident in Arlington told me about a crew that charged $18 to do $30 worth of damage which another shop is still trying to repair. I have a radio in a shop that still isn't repaired after 11 months. (I bought another one after 6 months, from a Chicago firm).

THE FURNACE repair services think little or nothing of hooking you $20 for a half hour's bumbling, and then refusing to come back and make good on the work they should've done. The list is almost endless. The groaning is familiar. And the bills are bigger than ever.

So what can we do about it? A lot of these pirates have no principles. You can't reason with them. Before you'd do that you'd have to convert them to Christianity. Business is so good they don't care about good will.

Of course, if you act like a potential customer, you'll see a kindly grin and hear soft, seductive tones, designed to make love to your wallet.

Maybe, if there's enough of us who feel as I do, we can do something.

WHY DON'T we get together. Take a vote, by mail, and agree upon a list of honest, reliable shops. There are such shops, although a lot of Arlington residents haven't found them, and have gone to other towns.

All we have to do is pool the results of our own experiences.

We're bound to save time and money and aggravation. Maybe, every 6 months we could up-date the list, add to it, and weed out the unreliables. It would be a kind of neighborhood consumers' guide.

I'd be willing to devote some time to it. Anyone else? Someone had better make these boys shape up.

Civilization Arrives

Press Plays Vital Role

by MARTIN E. MARTY

At 9 p.m. Saturday I bought the Sunday papers in my own town for the first time.

We live in one of the new towns which have sprung up on the prairies too fast for stores or newspapers to anticipate them. Not until last week did we represent a sufficiently large market to warrant a shopping center, with its own drug store, with its own newspapers, for my own money. The purchase of the next day's newspapers the night before, I suppose, seems to have little importance. To me it has great symbolic value. It means that I live in a civilized town.

Oh, not that it was not really civilized before; I wouldn't choose any other place I'd rather live. The people are fine, and they didn't change just because the newspapers came. Still, things are different. Without newspapers and markets, community does not really exist. There must be place for accidental gathering in a spirit of business and hurry. There must be place for criss-crossing of ideas and temperaments. In it all, we have the birth of city-ness. The wives are happy that they don't have to go five miles for a loaf of bread; I'm happy that civilization has really arrived.

ALBERT Schweitzer defines civilization as a state of affairs in which intelligent conversation holds sway; T. S. Eliot demands a settled state of cultural affairs; nothing changes matters so fast as the ability to walk down the street for a newspaper. To me this represents one of the more tantalizing aspects in the quest for community. I have lived on the farm, and in towns of 700, 3000, 80,000, 150,000, 800,000, 900,000, 1,000,000 and 4,000,000 people; in each of them community existed. Seldom does one have the opportunity to see it form. To place rows of houses next to rows of houses does not quarantee community. There must be reasons for encounter and exchange.

Community begins to grow when the generations provide for education of the ideas, and people are young. Ideas cross - fertilize and produce other drawn together. The clubs and service agencies have their part. The churches (naturally, I would say that!) provide the most profound form of community, for only those who share an ultimate commitment are able to communicate thoroughly.

But none of them are complete until a light in the newsstand burns. Then we have "city."

NOT LONG ago we drove down our old street in Hyde Park. The same people were there, joshing and haggling, parading in finery or tatter demalion apparel. Suddenly I was envious. For where there is city we see the opportunity to chase barbarianism; we see human artifact and creativity; we see a place for the family of man. We may vacate to the hills and flee to the suburbs but we live off the city and its products.

But the same city that can dispel the barbarian can also produce the lonely and the displaced and the exploited. For them the newspaper can exist as a champion and as a tormentor of the exploiter. It can and it sometimes does. We may not always be well off with all newspapers, but we are better off than we would be without them. Having lived in towns with newspapers edited by Pulitzers and Meyers, I can't quite get myself to say that Chicago's achieve the civilizing function as well — but they are good enough for me.

In a society in which the demagogue stands as a constant threat; in a democracy where a Huey Long or a Joseph McCarthy or a Governor Faubus can upset delicate balances, the newspaper can be the civilizer. That's why I don't always like to wait until the morning after to read all about it. That's why I say, civilization arrived with the late - night availability of the new day's seven - cent press. And community is enriched by a marketplace.

Girl Scouts Say 'Thanks'

The practical difficulties involved in thanking everyone who helped make the Girl Scout Fund Drive a success are obvious, and I would thus appreciate it if I could avail myself of the Elk Grove Herald in extending my gratitude.

The sparkle in the eye is seldom brighter, and the grin rarely broader, than when man is giving of his own time and money to help his fellow man.

THIS I learned in the recently concluded fund drive, and the experience of seeing man at his very best was a rewarding one indeed. My respect for, and admiration of, the people of our village has increased many fold in the past few weeks.

Many thanks to my many friends ... both new and old ... who gave so generously of themselves to help in this worthy cause, and many thanks, too, to those hundreds of other contributors without whom the fund drive could not possibly have succeeded.

The quota was satisfied. The Girl Scouts are satisfied. And now each of us can be thoroughly satisfied, not only with ourselves, but with each other.

Extends Best Wishes on Week

Once again, it is a pleasure to extend congratulations and best wishes to you on the occasion of National Newspaper Week.

I become more and more aware each year of how greatly we in the Secretary of State's office depend on the newspapers of our state to keep the public informed about the various deadlines affecting their relationship with this office. Illinois citizens have probably more contact with our office than with any other unit of government, and were it not for your cooperation in alerting them to those deadlines, a great deal of inconvenience would result. And I am fully aware that this is only a very small part of the many services newspapers perform for their readers.

It has been particularly gratifying to me to have received the generous support Paddock Publications has accorded us in our traffic safety program these last few years. This was especially true during the early part of this year when there was virtually unanimous editorial defense of our opposition to several proposed amendments to the drivers license law which would have substantially weakened the state's control over dangerous drivers. I am deeply grateful.

I'm really curious to know if many people are getting gouged as much as I am by local businesses. By gouged, I mean those big-hearted appliance dealers who sell you defective merchandise and then stiff arm your pleas for service. The water softener shops that won't even look at your unit, one they sold you, for less than $7.50.

Then there's the radio and hi-fi shops with the semi-skilled labor who charge you $10 for not fixing things. A newly-arrived resident in Arlington told me about a crew that charged $18 to do $30 worth of damage which another shop is still trying to repair. I have a radio in a shop that still isn't repaired after 11 months. (I bought another one after 6 months, from a Chicago firm).

THE FURNACE repair services think little or nothing of hooking you $20 for a half hour's bumbling, and then refusing to come back and make good on the work they should've done. The list is almost endless. The groaning is familiar. And the bills are bigger than ever.

So what can we do about it? A lot of these pirates have no principles. You can't reason with them. Before you'd do that you'd have to convert them to Christianity. Business is so good they don't care about good will.

Of course, if you act like a potential customer, you'll see a kindly grin and hear soft, seductive tones, designed to make love to your wallet.

Maybe, if there's enough of us who feel as I do, we can do something.

WHY DON'T we get together. Take a vote, by mail, and agree upon a list of honest, reliable shops. There are such shops, although a lot of Arlington residents haven't found them, and have gone to other towns.

All we have to do is pool the results of our own experiences.

We're bound to save time and money and aggravation. Maybe, every 6 months we could up-date the list, add to it, and weed out the unreliables. It would be a kind of neighborhood consumers' guide.

I'd be willing to devote some time to it. Anyone else? Someone had better make these boys shape up.

Civilization Arrives

Press Plays Vital Role

by MARTIN E. MARTY

At 9 p.m. Saturday I bought the Sunday papers in my own town for the first time.

We live in one of the new towns which have sprung up on the prairies too fast for stores or newspapers to anticipate them. Not until last week did we represent a sufficiently large market to warrant a shopping center, with its own drug store, with its own newspapers, for my own money. The purchase of the next day's newspapers the night before, I suppose, seems to have little importance. To me it has great symbolic value. It means that I live in a civilized town.

Oh, not that it was not really civilized before; I wouldn't choose any other place I'd rather live. The people are fine, and they didn't change just because the newspapers came. Still, things are different. Without newspapers and markets, community does not really exist. There must be place for accidental gathering in a spirit of business and hurry. There must be place for criss-crossing of ideas and temperaments. In it all, we have the birth of city-ness. The wives are happy that they don't have to go five miles for a loaf of bread; I'm happy that civilization has really arrived.

ALBERT Schweitzer defines civilization as a state of affairs in which intelligent conversation holds sway; T. S. Eliot demands a settled state of cultural affairs; nothing changes matters so fast as the ability to walk down the street for a newspaper. To me this represents one of the more tantalizing aspects in the quest for community. I have lived on the farm, and in towns of 700, 3000, 80,000, 150,000, 800,000, 900,000, 1,000,000 and 4,000,000 people; in each of them community existed. Seldom does one have the opportunity to see it form. To place rows of houses next to rows of houses does not quarantee community. There must be reasons for encounter and exchange.

Community begins to grow when the generations provide for education of the ideas, and people are young. Ideas cross-fertilize and produce other drawn together. The clubs and service agencies have their part. The churches (naturally, I would say that!) provide the most profound form of community, for only those who share an ultimate commitment are able to communicate thoroughly.

But none of them are complete until a light in the newsstand burns. Then we have "city."

NOT LONG ago we drove down our old street in Hyde Park. The same people were there, joshing and haggling, parading in finery or tatter demalion apparel. Suddenly I was envious. For where there is city we see the opportunity to chase barbarianism; we see human artifact and creativity; we see a place for the family of man. We may vacate to the hills and flee to the suburbs but we live off the city and its products.

But the same city that can dispel the barbarian can also produce the lonely and the displaced and the exploited. For them the newspaper can exist as a champion and as a tormentor of the exploiter. It can and it sometimes does. We may not always be well off with all newspapers, but we are better off than we would be without them. Having lived in towns with newspapers edited by Pulitzers and Meyers, I can't quite get myself to say that Chicago's achieve the civilizing function as well — but they are good enough for me.

In a society in which the demagogue stands as a constant threat; in a democracy where a Huey Long or a Joseph McCarthy or a Governor Faubus can upset delicate balances, the newspaper can be the civilizer. That's why I don't always like to wait until the morning after to read all about it. That's why I say, civilization arrived with the late-night availability of the new day's seven-cent press. And community is enriched by a marketplace.

Want Ads Win Praise

Just a note to thank you for the way in which my ad was handled by your publication.

I received at least 10 calls in answer to the ad and sold the Gulbransen organ on Saturday morning following the Thursday ad in your publication.

Your coverage must be tremendous, and I will certainly recomend your paper to any friends possessing anything for sale.

Sincerely yours,

Girl Scouts Say 'Thanks'

The practical difficulties involved in thanking everyone who helped make the Girl Scout Fund Drive a success are obvious, and I would thus appreciate it if I could avail myself of the Elk Grove Herald in extending my gratitude.

The sparkle in the eye is seldom brighter, and the grin rarely broader, than when man is giving of his own time and money to help his fellow man.

THIS I learned in the recently concluded fund drive, and the experience of seeing man at his very best was a rewarding one indeed. My respect for, and admiration of, the people of our village has increased many fold in the past few weeks.

Many thanks to my many friends . . . both new and old . . . who gave so generously of themselves to help in this worthy cause, and many thanks, too, to those hundreds of other contributors without whom the fund drive could not possibly have succeeded,

The quota was satisfied. The Girl Scouts are satisfied. And now each of us can be thoroughly satisfied, not only with ourselves, but with each other.

Frank M. Hines

Extends Best Wishes on Week

Once again, it is a pleasure to extend congratulations and best wishes to you on the occasion of National Newspaper Week.

I become more and more aware each year of how greatly we in the Secretary of State's office depend on the newspapers of our state to keep the public informed about the various deadlines affecting their relationship with this office. Illinois citizens have probably more contact with our office than with any other unit of government, and were it not for your cooperation in alerting them to those deadlines, a great deal of inconvenience would result. And I am fully aware that this is only a very small part of the many services newspapers perform for their readers.

It has been particularly gratifying to me to have received the generous support Paddock Publications has accorded us in our traffic safety program these last few years. This was especially true during the early part of this year when there was virtually unanimous editorial defense of our opposition to several proposed amendments to the drivers license law which would have substantially weakened the state's control over dangerous drivers. I am deeply grateful.

Charles F. Carpentier
Secretary of State

Selling Corn From Picker Yields More

Some farmers may be money ahead by selling corn from the picker this fall price is several cents below even though the market the loan price, according to R. J. Mutti and Max R. Langham, University of Illinois agricultural economists.

Profits from storing corn for government loan depend on the difference between the loan price of $1.12, plus local adjustments, and the open market price at picking time. But costs may cut the loan price as much as 15 or 20 cents a bushel.

Studies show that moisture shrinkage losses in ear corn usually run from about 4 per cent in southern Illinois to 10 per cent in northern Illinois. An average 6 per cent shrinkage loss means that there will be only 94 bushels of corn left next August for every 100 bushels stored this fall. This shrinkage costs about 7 cents for each bushel of corn sealed.

If corn is stored, interest costs until the loan money becomes available will be about 2 cents a bushel. Extra labor, transportation and handling add another 3 cents a bushel.

Economists estimate that taxes, insurance and insect and rodent losses, plus allowance for risk, cost another 5½ cents a bushel. Allowing a 1½ cent premium for corn delivered below 15.5 per cent moisture next August, these costs will take 16 cents a bushel from the $1.12 loan price. This leaves an effective price of 96 cents a bushel for corn sealed.

Individual farmers may want to allow more or less than 16 cents for these variable costs. If storage space is not available, additional costs of providing new space must be added.

Spring Hog Outlook Is Cloudy

The outlook for hog production next spring can be seen only as a cloudy image. The picture is one of conflicting forces with no one force predominating. Thus, the outcome is obscure.

An abundance of feed would normally mean an increase in hog production this coming spring. Yet the Government price support program provides an alternative "market" for corn. The question which cannot be brought into focus at present is: How much corn will go into government hands and how much will be fed?

The pig crop report shows that farmers intend to farrow 4 per cent fewer sows in December through February, the first half of the spring period. However, seasonal shifts have been taking place in spring farrowings. Ten years ago, only 24 per cent of the spring farrowings were in the December-February period. By the spring of 1959, the proportion had increased to 37 per cent. The picture for next spring is fogged by the possibility that hog raisers may be returning to an earlier seasonal pattern in farrowings. This could mean that the trend in hog production hinges on farrowings in the last half of the spring period.

One other shadowy shape can be detected—the hog-corn price ratio. An above average ratio in the fall has usually been followed by an increase in the number of sows farrowing the following spring, while a below average ratio has been followed by a decrease. The ratio this fall will likely be in the range of 12.5 to 13.0. This would be slightly above average, which would indicate a small increase or no change in farrowings.

However even this ratio hides significant differences in the current situation. First, hog prices will likely fall, without the sharp seasonal price drop of previous years. Thus, at the lowest point, the ratio will be well above that of comparable previous years. This should provide some incentive for increasing hog production in the hog production in the spring. On the other hand, hog prices showed an unusual seasonal decline during July this year. The result was the lowest hog-corn months in many years, July being 11.8 and August, 12.4. This, no doubt, played an important role in plans made by hog producers in recent months. Furthermore, the prospect of a fairly long period with relatively low hog-corn ratios may tend to discourage increases in hog production.

This is the confusing picture in the crystal ball on the hog situation at the present time. It will be clarified only as farmers' plans are firmed up and as these become known as a result of further surveys and developments in the livestock markets.

When painting, scrape all loose paint first. Sandpaper the rough surfaces and then apply a good primer before putting on the finish coats. Don't forget to paint underneath window sills and any other places where water might soak into the wood and loosen the paint from behind.

If your windows in the house let in too much glare, here are several suggestions for reducing the glare without using heavy draperies or venetian blinds. Tree shade is excellent, but it takes years to grow a tree. In the meantime you might use louvered screen wire instead of ordinary screen. Or you might extend the roof overhand three or four feet beyond the wall. Or you could build an open trellis or a flat projection above the window. These give shade and may improve the lines of the house as well.

A few thoughts about safety. Carelessness rears its ugly head in just about every accident. But there's one sure-fire cure for this villainous hazard — Thinking!

"That is the first time I have ever filled that 700 bushel corn crib from seven acres," Harold Bergman, of Palatine township said to me a few days ago. I will agree with Harold that 100 bushels per acre average for corn is excellent. It may be that there will be others who have a higher yield, at any rate our county average last year was 62 bushels per acre, so this is a yardstick to use for comparison to see how you are doing.

The pumpkin season is at hand, so plan to use plenty of them for decorations during halloween. There has been a good supply of pumpkins up to now, but when I complimented Wesley Landmeier, Elk Grove, on how nice his looked all stacked up neatly, he said they did not keeping too well this year. You had better get a good supply of nice firm pumpkins early so you will not be disappointed on October 31.

Corn Farmers Have 'Whopper' Harvest

Illinois farmers are beginning to harvest the state's huge 1959 corn crop with more optimism than other states' corn growers.

The state's crop is a whopper —an all-time high of 696,000,000 bushels, 97,000,000 bushels more than last year.

But even more important to Illinois farmers and to the state's economy, is the prospect they will fare better incomewise than farmers in the majority of other corn states.

THE REASON? Strategic location. Although the big corn crop is expected to depress per bushel prices, the location of Illinois farmers near major grain processors and low-cost transportation gives them a real marketing advantage, according to a Chicago authority.

"Illinois offers the best opportunities for commercial grain farming of any state in the U.S.," said C. M. Roberts, Jr., regional manager of Cargill, Inc., nationwide grain handling and processing company.

"Illinois farmers hold a distinct advantage because distances from farms to the big grain processing plants are short and there is fine low-cost transportation readily available to all parts of the world," he pointed out.

ROBERTS SAID Illinois moves a greater proportion of its grain into free market channels, and a smaller proportion of government stockpiles, than any other farm state.

The state's farmers have a "wide open" marketing situation, he pointed out. They can move grain into four different free market channels:

—To processors in metropolitan areas of Illinois. Some of the nation's largest grain processing plants, particularly for corn and soybeans, are located in the state.

—To processors in the eastern U.S. through Chicago via rail or lake boat.

—To European markets via the St. Lawrence Seaway.

—To export locations on the Gulf of Mexico down the Mississippi river via inland barge routes.

"This marketing advantage, coupled with improved efficiency of Illinois farmers and rising production capacity, makes the state's output of corn, soybeans, wheat and feed grains among the most competitive and relatively profitable in the world," said Roberts, whose company operates the largest elevator on the Great Lakes in Chicago.

Suggest Regular Milking Hours For Best Yield

Milking at regular 12-hour intervals is best for high-producing cows on a twice-a-day milking schedule. However, dairymen can usually milk average and low producing herds on a 10- to 14-hour schedule with little effect on total milk production, according to Carl F. Mees, County Farm adviser.

The time interval between milkings has no effect on total daily butterfat percentage of milk from either high or low producing cows. But milking at unequal intervals will usually lower total daily milk production, especially in herds with high producing cows.

However, Mees explained, milking average and low proschedule usually will not ducers on a 10 to 14 hour lower production enough to offset the convenience of a 10-hour working day during the busy farming season.

Reducing the interval between milkings by milking three or four times daily usually increases total production. If additional feed is given, cows milked three times a day will produce about 14 per cent more milk than cows milked twice a day. The average percentage of butterfat in the milk is not affected by frequent milkings.

Mees explained that cows are creatures of habit. No matter what time-interval dairymen choose between milkings, they should stick to a regular milking schedule. Irregular milking from day to day, accompanied by irregular feeding, can reduce milk production by as much as 5 per cent in the average-producing cow.

Palatine Cow Sets Record

Ideals Shields Fanny Lee, a registered Guernsey cow owned by Charles J. Beranek, Palatine, has completed an official production record.

The record was for 12,243 pounds of milk and 529 pounds of fat.

Lee, a senior 4-year-old, was milked twice a day for 305 days while she was tested by the American Guernsey Cattle club.

The official production record was supervised by the University of Illinois. (Fm

But even more important to Illinois farmers and to the state's economy, is the prospect they will fare better incomewise than farmers in the majority of other corn states.

Suggest Regular Milking Hours For Best Yield

Milking at regular 12-hour intervals is best for high-producing cows on a twice-a-day milking schedule. However, dairymen can usually milk average and low producing herds on a 10- to 14-hour schedule with little effect on total milk production, according to Carl F. Mees, County Farm adviser.

The time interval between milkings has no effect on total daily butterfat percentage of milk from either high or low producing cows. But milking at unequal intervals will usually lower total daily milk production, especially in herds with high producing cows.

However, Mees explained, milking average and low pro- schedule usually will not ducers on a 10 to 14 hour lower production enough to offset the convenience of a 10-hour working day during the busy farming season.

Reducing the interval between milkings by milking three or four times daily usually increases total production. If additional feed is given, cows milked three times a day will produce about 14 per cent more milk than cows milked twice a day. The average percentage of butterfat in the milk is not affected by frequent milkings.

Mees explained that cows are creatures of habit. No matter what time-interval dairymen choose between milkings, they should stick to a regular milking schedule. Irregular milking from day to day, accompanied by irregular feeding, can reduce milk production by as much as 5 per cent in the average-producing cow.

Palatine Cow Sets Record

Ideals Shields Fanny Lee, a registered Guernsey cow owned by Charles J. Beranek, Palatine, has completed an official production record.

The record was for 12,243 pounds of milk and 529 pounds of fat.

Lee, a senior 4-year-old, was milked twice a day for 305 days while she was tested by the American Guernsey Cattle club.

Stephen Mitchell Enters Race for Dem Nomination

Former Democratic chairman, Stephen A. Mitchell, said Sunday he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

"As of this moment," he said, "I place my name before the citizens of Illinois as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"I will fight to see that every Democrat in Illinois has the opportunity to choose his party's candidate.

"I will fight to make this a wide open primary.

"I will fight to the finish, let the chips fall where they may."

MITCHELL predicted success. But he conceded that some might ask what will happen if he loses.

"To this there can be only one reply," he said. "If we lose, we will have lost with honor. For Democrats will have been given a choice when that choice has been made by a majority vote, all Democrats should support the winner — and you and I will do so. But if we win — and we shall win — we will erpect the same full support from primary opponents."

Outlining the functions of the primary as a period when "candidates are selected and issues are debated," Mitchell promises that all Democrats will have a "say - so in their party platform," to be adopted in an open state convention.

Referring to the need for money and for fair taxes as the state's "number one" problem, Mitchell criticized Stratton for refusing to encourage an independent tax study proposed by Rep. John Morris of Chadwick.

"We should begin now," said Mitchell, "and the sooner the better. If we act quickly, results of such a study may be available to the 1960 legislature for study and action."

Mitchell continued:

"If the governor is afraid of this study, let him get it started now with the understanding that the results will not be released until after the 1960 election."

MITCHELL said that such a comprehensive study by independent experts would be the first step to an "overhauling of our revenue system."

"Too long," he said, "have we tried to stretch an outmoded tax system into the shape of a modern state. We have refused to face up to the vast changes in our economy and have muddled along in the hope that an inequitable tax system would heap its burdens on the other fellow."
would heap its burdens on the other fellow."

He added that "we should try again to amend the revenue article in the Constitution."

Mitchell called the administration a "furtive government." "It is silent, secret and sluggish," he said.

"It refuses to deal with the people, to take them into its confidence. It hides and lurks in the shadows. It discourages any who may wish to delve into its workings."

Mitchell expressed concern with the number of communities throughout the state which are seeking industry to create jobs for their people.

"Among the solutions worthy of consideration," he said, was the establishment of a "separate authority" with the goal of creating 20,000 jobs a year within Illinois.

"For this I suggest the name of Industrial Development and Expansion Authority."

"You'll notice the initials spell "idea," and that's just what our present development commission has been lacking. Vigorous and imaginative promotion of our state's advantages must be our first step."

DISCUSSING municipal and state relations, Mitchell said that the two "don't hit it off very well."

He continued: "The antagonism of many cities to the state has been caused by an administration that is efficient and arrogant when it handles tax money and other state-local relationships."

"We see this attitude in the highway and airport programs, which have lagged because money has not been turned over to the cities."

Among other sources of irritation, said Mitchell, is the state's refusal to consider local needs — such as local advice on establishing speed limits on streets within municipalities. He cited the Chicago suburb of Glenview as a recent example.

He expressed interest in the possibility of naming a "Director of Municipal Affairs" to the governor's cabinet.

"Such a person, work ing lem, would stimulate cooperation between the Municipalities and the state," he said.

Mitchell also proposed the adoption of the Secret Primary Ballot.

In addition, Mitchell compiled a "partial list of the state's most pressing problems." He said that during coming months he would discuss each in detail and offer recommendations.

Among those in this "partial list:"

1. public welfare, 2. mental health, 3. civil rights, 4. equal job opportunities, 5. prison and parole policy, 6. education, 7. labor and management relations, 8. agriculture, 9. safety, and 10. roads. (A13
